DEMOCRATS REJECT WET PLANK 2 TO 1

TRAIN MEN FACE RUIN.

Shortage of Cars is the Cause.

Roads With Hundred Million Outstanding Are in Peculiar Fix.

Shippers Filled and no Early Relief is Seen; Prices Are Soaring.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MINNEAPOLIS, June 29.—The financial situation created by shortage of cars with which to move grain reached a climax here today as many large grain dealers on the verge of business failure and the Federal reserve bank at the loan peak of $107,000,000 outstanding.

Grain dealers are suffering tremendous losses from premiums demanded on failure to deliver as contracted, elevator storage rates and 7 per cent interest on loans over a period of several months.

Information from a reliable source indicates certain failure of any if immediate relief is not received. Large companies are making only small shipments via the Great Lakes, through Duluth, and have 1,000,000 bushels here for allotment.

Leading bank officials, bankers, grain men, millers and civic organizations are making strenuous efforts to obtain aid from the Interstate Commerce Commission. E. W. Decker, president of the Northwestern National Bank, has wired E. E. Clark, chairman of commission, saying the situation is the most critical in the history of the Northwest and asking an order requiring eastbound lines to return to roads of the Northwest their full car equipment.

A. J. Tennant, governor of the Federal reserve bank, following a conference with traffic experts, communicated with the Reserve Board at Washington, asking action by that body to speed car movement.

OUTCOME IN DOUBT.

"I don't know what the outcome of the situation will be," he said. "We have a hundred million dollars in advances to banks in our own district alone."

EAST TURNS TO HARDING

Republican Choice Winning Favor.

Belief Growing Stronger That the Ohio Senator Will be Heavy Vote-Getter.

Anti-Wilson Feeling Seems to be Increasing, Says Well-Known Writer.

BY HARRY CARR.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—The East is beginning to warm toward Harding. Private letters that I get from men of affairs in the Middle West indicate that the country's second thought was a Harding thought.

I have discussed politics with all manner of men since I came back to New York after the Chicago convention.

There is no doubt about it: the first impulsive feeling of the country was one of disappointment at Harding's nomination. They wanted a big star cast for the part. There was, however, a disposition to be open-minded about his selection. I have been asked a million questions about him, and how he happened to be nominated.

It was interesting to me to observe that those most markedly willing to listen and find out the real facts were the workingmen. They seemed to find a good deal of satisfaction in the fact that Senator Harding is a plain country editor from a small town in Ohio. Another fact which they seemed to put down in a place where they would remember it is Harding's willingness to listen.

"Is he the kind of a guy you can get to and explain your side of the case?" they said.

Being informed that Senator Harding's long suit is withholding his decision until he finds out, and that he sits out in the open, with the

McADOO'S WAY OILED

Pay-roll Brigade Controls a Majority of Convention Delegates.

Opposition, However, Becoming Solidified; May Mean Defeat.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29. The hour of balloting on the nomination for President draws near, with the administration office-holders' combine controlling the convention and noiselessly operating in the interest of William G. McAdoo.

The Wilson appointees and their pay-roll brigade demonstrate repeatedly that they control a majority of the convention which is sufficient for their purpose in respect to organization of the conclave. Whether, however, they can muster the two-thirds majority requisite for nomination of a candidate is the uncertain quantity of the situation.

The fight between McAdoo and the field is waxing fiercer hour by hour with the leaders on both sides on a tense lookout for some word from the White House or other development which will operate to make or break McAdoo as the choice of the convention.

With a stubborn platform fight in prospect there is no expectation of the balloting on the nominee beginning before Thursday night or Friday morning, and in the meantime the fortunes of the candidates will be greatly affected by the deals and counter-deals in progress.

P.M.-Gen. Burleson, Secretary of Agriculture Meredith and other leaders of the McAdoo campaign asserted at midnight that, with arrangements completed for further accessions of delegate strength the movement for the selection of the President's son-in-law is moving irresistibly to success.

UNIT RULE BROKEN.

They view with satisfaction the operation of administration control in the convention which has produced a rule under which the unit rule in the New York and some other delegations will be broken. Under the terms of this decision the unit rule is not to apply to delegates selected by district voters.

This rule will operate to release some score of New York delegates from obligation to abide by the will of the majority of the delegation.

This was what the office holders combine set out to accomplish, predicting the while the rupture of the unit rule in New York would enable about thirty delegates to line up for McAdoo on an early roll call.

Despite the attitude of Tammany and other anti-administration influences in the Empire State, Charles F. Murphy stoutly maintained until Sunday night that the New York unit rule would stand unimpaired, but he soon found the odds against him.

Despite the increased optimism in the administration camp, indications were not lacking that the opposition to McAdoo is becoming solidified and that a determined effort is being made to hold more than one-third of the delegates against the President's son-in-law indefinitely and thereby prevent his nomination.

CHECK UP FORCES.

Tom Taggart of Indiana, Murphy of New York, Jim Nugent of New Jersey, George Brennan of Illinois, and other leaders who set out to block McAdoo, were in conference tonight checking up their forces and professing satisfaction with the outlook. One of the McAdoo leaders informed Brennan that the votes were in sight to nominate their candidate and that the Illinois crowd had better clamber aboard the bandwagon.

"Where are you going to get the votes? You can't get them in this convention," Brennan challenged.

The McAdoo man responded only with a look of compassion for Brennan and passed on. The Illinois leader asserted that he did not regard McAdoo as formidable, despite all the shouting of the McAdoo boomers and the newspaper headlines blaring forth the prediction that the crown prince would be the nominee.

Brennan insists that Atty.-Gen. Palmer, for whom the Illinois delegation will vote at first, will have 200 or more votes on the first ballot, more than any other candidate, and will be nominated as soon as the McAdoo folks realized they cannot win.

There is less talk in the Illinois delegation of putting Cox over since the managers of the candidacy of the Ohio Governor offended the wets by their flirtations with the drys.

In the onslaught on McAdoo in the last forty-eight hours the candidacies of Palmer and Cox have almost been lost sight of, to the great encouragement of the latter two aspirants. The position of leading candidate at this stage of the proceedings is far from advantageous in convention strategy, for it promotes the natural tendency of all opposition forces to solidify against the looming menace.

L. A. Chemical Plant is Burned; $125,000 Loss; Incendiarism Suspected

Fire which broke out at 2:15 this morning in the big plant of the National Chemical Company at 528 South Alameda street resulted in the total destruction of the works and loss estimated at $125,000 by Henry J. Donau, president of the company, before it was under control.

At a late hour this morning it was still burning, but heroic efforts on the part of the Los Angeles Fire Department, under the personal direction of Fire Chief Scott, prevented further damage, the flames being confined to the one building.

The fire was discovered by A. Cahaw, a watchman, who saw the blaze issuing from the second floor of the building, which is of brick and four stories in height. By the time he had turned in the alarm the flames had spread rapidly and hundreds of people in the neighborhood, alarmed at the pyrotechnics, rushed from their homes to witness the spectacle. Fire Chief Scott, who early arrived on the scene, perceived the danger to the surrounding property and at once turned in a general alarm, summoning all the downtown fire apparatus.

Lines of hose were stretched to the roof of the building and precautions were taken to prevent spread to the surrounding property. The roof quickly fell in, rendering the task of the firemen somewhat easier. The building, being filled with chemicals of a highly inflammable nature which burned fiercely, was soon entirely enveloped in flames. A series of at least 100 small explosions caused by the chemicals punctuated the progress of the blaze.

An hour's work on the part of the department, however, confined the blaze to the one building and by 3:15 the danger of a spread to adjoining structures was past. One fireman, Pipeman Richards of Engine Company No. 17, was injured by falling down an elevator shaft and was taken to the Receiving Hospital. Henry J. Donau, president of the concern, estimated that $125,000 would cover the damage to the building and contents. He stated it was partially covered by insurance. The building is owned by Charles Lantz, with offices in the Bullard Block.

The cause of the fire is unknown, although Mr. Donau stated that two employees, a man and a woman, discharged a week ago, may have had something to do with it, as an act of revenge. Patrolman L. P. Taylor said that a coupe was seen running from the rear of the structure shortly after the alarm was turned in. Search for them will be made by the police today.

BOOMS RISE AND FALL LIKE TIDES O' THE SEA

BY IRVIN S. COBB.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—As exclusively suspected by me yesterday, but with admirable self-restraint not published in these advices, McAdoo boom today took on fuller proportions.

Propaganda, based upon the theory that if the creator felt it necessary to save the world again he'd send a son-in-law this time, gave added strength to the movement; also some of the prominent Federal office-holders who are here were applauding heartily every mention of Mr. McAdoo's name.

One reason why their outbursts of applause seemed muffled was because it is so very hard to clap the hands while holding the fingers crossed. Likewise it is difficult to cheer and hiss at the same time. If McAdoo should win the nomination there won't be a dry eye in the present Cabinet. Then if he should win the election the enthusiasm in this quarter will be obsolutely homicidal in its intensity.

Other booms continue to rise and fall with the uneasiness characteristic of the tides of the sea or an eastern stomach full of native California oysters. At the moment of filing this dispatch, Mr. Davis, the mysterious stranger, is commanding some consideration. Up until now he has been kept privately by the West Virginia delegation. There is a feeling that it would be well to nominate him first and then appoint a committee to find out who he is. This appears to be a great year for clandestine, not to say surreptitious candidates. Should Mr. Elmer A. Davis be nominated—or is the first name Jasper—I foresee stirring scenes in the convention hall with the delegates joyously uprooting the State standards and parading about the floor crying in mighty chorus: "Who? Who? Who?" It may turn out to be the most unbridled demonstration—or should I say interrogation?—in the annals of the party.

SOME EXCITEMENT.

Some excitement was occasioned this morning before the convention convened by a report that Barney Baruch was due in on his private car, Lohengrin, pronounced Long Green. This is a great convention for those short cuts in pronunciations. For example, after hearing Mr. Homer S. Cummings's keynote speech on Monday the temptation to call him "Humorous" Cummings became well-nigh overpowering.

But Mr. Baruch did not materialize. In a Republican convention a plutocrat is just as welcome as the flowers in May, or even more so, provided he'll stand for being plucked freely; but among the Democrats he must do his pluting in a very soft and low manner or else the masses begin to talk about financial pollution of the stream of patriotism it is very difficult for leader Charles F. Murphy to convince a fellow Democrat from Weeping Willow, Neb., that some of the clever set fellows on earth have their offices down on Wall street. The only difference the latter can see between the late Jesse James and one of the Wall-street guys is that Jesse rode a horse.

Possibly this explains why we have not been favored with the presence of Mr. Baruch. Another theory is that he stayed at home to take on another press agent. At last accounts his most prominent competitor in this field is Mr. Frank Vanderlip, also of New York, who had him three down and was prepared to give him a press agent, a hole, with every confidence in his ability to beat him out.

Moreover, Mr. Vanderlip was a welcome guest at the Republican convention in Chicago. Indeed, dame rumor has it that he was one of the favored group who sat up until 3 o'clock in the morning on the day of the nomination of the ticket, unselfishly sacrificing his rest and beauty sleep in order to help make up the delegates' mind for them. But in San Francisco Mr. Baruch, by reason of his financial connections, would publicly be shunned almost as though he had a yellow flag draped on him and a board of health warning pinned to his chest.

DOOR ALWAYS OPEN.

And yet he is commonly regarded as one standing so close to the administration that at times he practically stands on it. Even on a dark night, Hoke Smith and Jim Reed couldn't get into the White House without burglar's tools, but for him the latch strings hang over on the outside. And yet with all that he would be about as popular out here as a pesthouse. Such, also, is the estimation in which a rich easterner is held among those of the proletariat who believe that Mr. Bryan wears an alpaca coat so that when his wings sprout out they can burst right through the fabric without damaging a feather. Such is the curse of wealth. He who runs first with Bradstreet and Dun back East runs last with the great common people out here.

Some persons of morbid tendencies went to the convention hall today to hear oratory and to gaze again upon the picture in oils of President Wilson, which hangs behind the Speaker's platform. This likeness, which was done by the leading house, sign and portrait painter of Placerville, this State, deserves more mention than the correspondents have seen fit to give it.

Monday, when it was unveiled, the delegates cheered it for sixteen minutes, but an artist from Boston, sitting just in front of me, fell down and had an epileptic fit lasting even longer.

LIKE WAR PICTURE.

IRISH PLANK IS A POSER.

One Proposed So Radical It Creates Dismay in Hearts of Bourbons.

BY S. FRED HOGUE.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Badly shaken by explosions in the Committee on Resolutions today, the administration forces are beginning to rally. Tonight the Cabinet triumvirate is talking compromise.

I am told the President has been informed that it will be impossible to induce the platform to a single plank; that there must be some recognition given to the dry sentiment or Bryan will capture the convention.

The triumvirate also admits that the proposed Irish plank will probably be modified. As the President framed the plank it contained a pledge that the general assembly of the League of Nations would be asked to consider at an early session the aspirations of the Irish people for self-government.

This plank roused the fury of the Irish Fathers. They are against the League of Nations. The riot in committee this afternoon was the forerunner of open rebellion in the convention.

It is announced tonight that the Irish plank will contain no reference to the League; but that it will not go as far as Sinn Feiners demand.

After two days of fighting, the administration forces are on the defensive all along the line. The leaders of the triumvirate is often under fire are regarded by the opposition as so many victories. The hostility of the Irish radicals is being whetted by success.

It looks tonight as though the Irish issue and the Irish issue will touch upon the League of Nations. Whether the President will veto is problematical. If he insists on fighting for a single plank, there will be a coalition against the administration that will control the convention.

Here is the plank which the Irish radicals have drafted:

Mindful of the circumstances of the birth of our own nation, we reassert the principle that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

We will support the continuance of our long-established and lawful practice of according recognition without intervention in all cases where the principles of a nation, as in Ireland, have, by a free vote of the people, set up a republic and chosen a government to which they yield willing obedience.

Therefore, we pledge our party to the policy of according to the elected government of the republic of Ireland full, formal and official recognition of the government of the United States, thus vindicating the principle for which our soldiers offered up their lives.

Unless the administration forces accept that plank there will be a bolt of the Democratic ticket by the radical Irish, possibly a walkout in the convention. If it is accepted the Democratic platform will be so radical that Republican success will be assured.

PRAGUE, June 28.—Poland is preparing to withdraw its forces from Eastern Galicia because of the threat of a Russian Bolshevik invasion, according to the newspaper Venkal Listy.

SHANGHAI, June 29.—Labor disorders and strikes are spreading with imminent rioting and looting of food shops in the industrial districts. Due to the price of rice having risen to $15.29 a picul (a picul approximates 133 1-3 pounds) it is estimated that there is only a 30-day supply of rice available.

It was authoritatively stated today that O'Ceallaigh was received by the Pontiff only in his private capacity.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, June 28.—German Majority Socialists are in general agreement with the program of the new government, said Philipp Scheidemann, a leader of that organization, speaking in the Reichstag today.

George Ledebour, Independent Socialist leader, said the best means to bring about an amelioration of the peace conditions would be the abolition of existing armies.

PLATFORM COMMITTEE YIELDS TO DEMANDS OF BRYANITES; DISAGREES ON LEAGUE STAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The subcommittee of nine, making a preliminary draft of the Democratic platform, rejected tonight a proposal to include a wet plank. The deliberations and vote were in secret, but it was understood that the vote against a wet plank was at a ratio of 2 to 1.

After the Platform Committee had been in session for more than two hours it was still working on the language of a League of Nations plank.

It was understood that the committee was in disagreement as to procedure. Some members, led by Senator Walsh, felt that the views of each member of the full committee should be ascertained on important issues before the work of drafting the planks was taken up.

The opinion was expressed among some subcommittee members that the draft could not be completed before tomorrow night at the earliest and possibly not before Thursday morning.

Senator Walsh of Montana left the committee room just before midnight, bound for bed. Other members of the subcommittee were understood to have decided to remain in session throughout the night.

SAY BOOTLEGGER MAY HAVE SLAIN ELWELL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—Federal agents today inquired at the district attorney's office concerning the theory issuing from there that Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy turfman and whist expert, murdered in his home here June 11, may have been killed by a "bootlegger" with whom he had fallen out over unpaid liquor bills.

The report was that Elwell had entered into a deal to take over a whisky consignment for $12,700.

SEVEN MINERS ARE GIVEN HERO MEDALS.

Three of those receiving medals gave their lives in attempting a rescue of companions and the medals will go to their nearest kin.

Fatal Auto Collision

FRESNO, June 30. — One man was killed and a young boy fatally injured last night west of Riverdale when an automobile and a motorcycle crashed in a head-on collision. The dead man has not been identified, although he is believed to be a resident of this city. He was riding the motorcycle. The youth, who is lying at a local sanatorium at the point of death, is Howard Milnes, 10-year-old son of Alan Milnes, Riverdale rancher. The boy was riding with his older brother in a truck at the time of the collision, and was thrown from the auto, striking the ground on his head.

He is conferring with leaders who are opposing the Greek movement toward Pandermas. Ismet Bey, the Nationalist chief of staff and a bosom friend of Enver Pasha, is commanding the entire Smyrna front. The Nationalists apparently have been much confused by the rapidity of the Greek attack. There are many indications that the Nationalists are concentrating preparatory to a big stand after getting the Greeks scattered over long lines of communication.

CANDIDATES SLIGHTED.

Platform Issues are Taken First.

Correspondent Says League of Nations is to be the Main Plank.

Becomes More Apparent That Wilson Plans Will be Carried Out.

BY BURTON L. SMITH.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The Democratic party today pinned its faith to a vehicle whose motive power is the waiting cry of the war-worn nations of the world. In the next breath they called for the women of the land to rally to their standard and become trained nurses to win back to health the sick nations of Europe.

If anybody has hoped that the Wilson party was to go on record as favoring legislation to apply to the labor problem, the Irish question, the wet and dry issue, the high cost of living, or any other thing, the speech of the permanent chairman at today's session certainly banished hope.

The League of Nations, and what is more the Wilson League of Nations, is very apt to be the one plank with a meaning in the platform which will be finally presented to the delegates. Every other issue possible to conceive will be treated only as it may apply to this particular hobby of the President.

By resolution of the convention, presented at the opportune time by the Steering Committee, which is representing the Washington administration, a telegram was sent to the Governor of Tennessee conveying the thanks of the delegates for his action in calling a special session of the Legislature to consider the woman suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution.

WOMAN RESOLUTES.

And then arose the plaintive voice of the first woman delegate to talk from the floor of the convention. She presented a resolution calling for the next organization of the National Committee on a fifty-fifty basis, that is, one woman and one man from every State. This was going a little too fast and much too fast, to find favor among some of the delegates who were not quite prepared for such a display of gallantry. A gentleman from Georgia, not knowing that this particular resolution was a pet measure of Chairman Cummings of the National Committee, attempted to start opposition.

"Mr. Chairman," declared the southern gentleman, "I move you that this and all other resolutions go to the Resolutions Committee; the first thing you know there will be something sprung here that will tear a hole in the convention." The sentiment found favor among the delegates and for a minute his contention won by a vote of the convention. The adroit hand of Chairman Cummings was soon displayed, a reconsideration ordered, and the resolution went over. The next National Committee will be organized as per order and the next crop of Federal job hunters will be forced to find favor with the ladies.

LIKE A CARBON COPY.

Day by day, hour by hour, it becomes more apparent that the Wilson program will be carried out in detail. Sunday, when it became known that Senator Robinson of Arkansas was to be permanent chairman of the convention, it was noised about that he would get so far away from the adopted schedule as to recommend a series of planks for the platform which

Members of Committee Flee.

Riot Call Turned in When Bourbon Resolutions Committee is Attacked.

Bryan Loses First Bout in Liquor Argument; Odd Bedfellows.

BY S. FRED HOGUE.
"Times" Staff Special Editorial Writer.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Harmony as assertive as a sore thumb marked the second session of the Democratic National Convention today. But a riot call was turned in by the police lieutenant whose squad stood guard over the room where the Committee on Resolutions was in session.

For three hours a mob surged about the committee room on the fourth floor of the Coliseum Building. Shortly after noon the police were compelled to interfere. The members of the committee fled for safety to the convention hall on the first floor.

"Friends of Irish Freedom" pursued them with the agility of hounds chasing coyotes.

Today they found sanctuary in the big convention hall. But whither shall they flee when the Irish brigade projects its plank for Irish freedom into the big tent Thursday? Don't be surprised if Gov. Stephens is called upon to mobilize the State militia.

IRISH FIGHTING MAD.

Today the torpedoes exploded in the rooms of the committee on platform and resolution. Thursday they will be pumped right into the convention. Procrastinating will not help the administration forces. For the repressed opposition is boiling and seething. I look for it to explode with a shock that will blow the whole Democratic party out of the water.

There was nothing but routine in the convention. It isn't worth wasting space upon, for the delegates were only marking time. But the committee sessions were as noisy as the violent ward of an insane asylum.

San Francisco is an Irish town. They control the city government and compose the whole of the police force, and San Francisco has gone Sinn Fein mad since De Valera arrived here two days ago.

INDIGNATION SHOWN.

There were at least 2000 vacant seats in the convention when Homer Cummings delivered the keynote speech yesterday. But the hall where De Valera spoke last night was filled to the ceiling and a mob of at least 5000 Irish sympathizers milled about the doors.

The Irish are fighting mad because neither Cummings nor Robinson referred to the Irish Republic in their keynote speeches. Words are inadequate to express their indignation. Their women have grown violent.

De Marest Lloyd, president of the Loyal Coalition, was assaulted by the Sinn Feiners when he left the committee room. He was beaten about the head and shoulders by a group of Sinn Feiners, who carried the Irish flag. The police saved him from serious injury.

LIQUOR BATTLE ON.

Carter Glass, chairman of the committee, has been compelled to go temporarily into seclusion to escape the importunities of the radical Irish element. Looks at this juncture as though there is going to be a regular Donnybrook fair staged in the convention hall when the platform comes up for discussion.

McADOO STILL BETTING FAVORITE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—William G. McAdoo continued today to be the favorite in the betting in the financial district. Shortly after the market opened odds of 3 to 1 against his chances were offered, but this shortened to even money along toward this afternoon.

Cox lost in popularity today, with odds placed at 3 to 1, against 2½ to 1 Monday and 2 to 1 Saturday. Gov. Smith gained, with odds of 2 to 1, against 2½ to 1 Monday and 3 to 1 during the week. Vice-President Marshall was held in 3½ to 1 today.

volt was the fight in the committee over the Eighteenth Amendment. Bryan received an invitation to repeat outside certain remarks he made about Theodore Bell, who represented the California Grape Growers' Association, but Bryan was careful not to accept. Bryan can sling mud when the occasion requires, but fists and brick-bats are not in his line.

He is as sore as an ulcerated tooth because he was not named on the subcommittee to draft platform planks. The administration controls the Platform Committee, and its first act was to steam-roll Bryan. The humiliation has cut deep. He is now ready to use any weapon to bust up the whole convention. I predict that he will go over to the Prohibition party after the convention is over, unless he succeeds in breaking the administration slate.

BRYAN VS. BELL.

Tensely dramatic was the encounter between Bryan and Bell. In 1908 Bell was the keynote speaker at the Denver convention that nominated Bryan. But when Bell appeared before the Platform Committee this morning, Bryan gave him a vindictive glare and asked in his fiercest tones:

"Whom does the gentleman represent?"

"I represent the California Grape Growers' Association," replied Bell in equally hostile tones.

"I am fighting the damnable traffic you represent," declared Bryan in pompous tones. "How much do you receive for appearing for it here?"

Bell took the blow without wincing and responded in icy tones: "I ask the gentleman whether he is now, or has been in the pay of the Anti-Saloon League."

"I am not, nor have I ever been," snapped back Bryan.

Bell continued: "Not a nickel?"

This time Bryan faltered. "I did receive compensation for some speeches I delivered for the Anti-Saloon League last year," he said. "But that was all."

Bryan started to tell how long he has worked for the cause of prohibition without pay, but he was cut short, as Bell had the floor.

This encounter sent Bryan into the wet-and-dry fight with a bad start. Carter Glass took the side of Bell and it soon became apparent that Bryan and the bone drys are up against a combination of administration and wet forces.

The President doesn't want any reference to the Eighteenth Amendment in the platform. Finding they could not insert a wet plank, the liberals are supporting the administration.

BOOM DOHENY FOR VICE-PRESIDENCY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—A new contender for Democratic Vice-Presidential honors entered the field today in the person of E. L. Doheny of California, oil operator. Friends of Franklin K. Lane, former Secretary of the Interior, now associated with Mr. Doheny's oil interests, began a campaign for Doheny's selection, and Isadore Dockweiler, Democratic national committeeman from California, was connected with the movement.

PALMER LEADS AS COX FAILS

McAdoo Support Held Under Cover, Says Hogue.

Union Labor Leaders File Their Demands.

BY S. FRED HOGUE,
"Times" Staff Special Editorial Writer.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Palmer is leading in the number of pledged or promised delegates; Cox is falling back. The Cabinet triumvirate is fighting to keep the McAdoo support under cover until the fourth ballot.

Tomorrow the nominating speeches will be made. Thursday the platform will be presented for adoption. Friday the balloting for President will begin. This program is crude. It is too obvious that the administration doesn't want the oratory to have any effect on the delegates.

McAdoo doesn't want to have any nominating speeches in his behalf. In order that the other candidates shall obtain no advantage, the platform fights have been interjected between the speeches and the balloting.

So far it has been a bush-league convention, with more errors than hits. I have told in another article how the members of the Committee on Resolutions were chased from their committee rooms. The Wilson forces are about as efficient in running a convention as they have been in running the government.

I saw Boss Murphy of Tammany for a few minutes this afternoon. There is a glitter of triumph in the Tiger's eye that sends chills down the backs of the Senate triumvirate. It may yet be good hunting of the Tiger before Saturday.

Some one has said: "When you miss the horse's mane do not try to grab him by the tail." My impression of the second day of the convention brings to my mind a picture of three Cabinet officers clinging to the tail of a mule.

PALMER FORCES WIN.

They missed his mane when they permitted the Committee on Resolutions to be mobbed today. If they escape his hoofs they will be the most fortunate of all men and women born. I'm betting my pile on the Mule.

There is nothing to report as far as the second keynote speech is concerned. It was only a rather tame repetition of the first.

The Palmer forces scored a distinct victory when Senator Robinson of Arkansas was made permanent chairman. He was one of the original Palmer men. A showdown came Saturday night when the Palmer men delivered the ultimatum, "Robinson or fight." Robinson won, and he is still for Palmer.

Looks as though the railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor had spilled some of the beans for McAdoo. Monday every delegate in the convention received an ultimatum from the brotherhoods and the Gompers crowd that they would bolt the ticket if Palmer was nominated.

CANDIDACY ELEVATED.

Replying to this ultimatum the Palmer boosters are featuring a recent declaration made by Senator Underwood on the floor of the Senate when the Attorney-General was attacked:

"His enemies are his country's enemies." That slogan has made the hit of the session with the delegates. It typifies all that the Attorney-General has done to protect American institutions from the assaults of radicalism.

BRYAN, MARSHALING A RETINUE OF BISHOPS AND STATISTICIANS, HURLS DEFI TO WETS.

BY EYEWITNESS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—"I would like to ask you whom you came here to represent?" said former Congressman Theodore A. Bell of San Francisco, turning to Mr. Bryan at this morning's session of the Committee on Resolutions.

With a resounding bark that made Bell vibrate, Bryan replied:

"I came here as a Democrat. I came as a defender of the homes of this land and the children of this land whom your traffic would slay. I want you to be just as open as we are. If you are here for pay you ought to tell them you are here as an attorney."

Bryan settled himself together physically in the manner of a lion that has made the spring and is satisfied with the distance covered. He also allowed silence, copious and tense, to settle upon the big committee-room, which was crowded to the window ledges.

Mr. Bell broke it by not unmanfully acknowledging that he had come to represent the California Grape Growers' Association, of which his father was a member, and he did not propose to have Bryan and his associates put his father in the criminal classes.

JOY IN GOOD FIGHT.

Bourke Cockran, who had been resting his chin upon his cane, looked up relishingly, his old eyes brightening with an Irishman's joy in a good fight.

Bell continued: "I would also like to ask, do you get a salary from the Anti-Saloon League?"

Not moving a muscle save those required for the delivery of the words, Bryan replied:

"None whatever, not a nickel."

"Not a nickel?" interjected Mr. Bell in a tone meant to admonish.

"For a period of four months," continued Mr. Bryan, so rapidly that Mr. Bell's interruption was lost save to the near-by listeners, "I received compensation for specific speeches. But for nine years I fought at my own cost the damnable traffic you represent."

Senator Carter Glass, wishful that all, including himself, should be handled with care, rapped for order, and in a soft and southerly drawl from the side of his mouth, deprecated intemperate speech.

Bell, who went to the Fifty-eighth Congress from the Second California District was the Democratic nominee for Governor of California in 1906 and 1910 and was temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention at Denver in 1908, subsided into his chair, rather pink about the ears, and Bryan resumed whispered, but emphatic conference with his retinue of bishops, statisticians and petition bearers.

All the morning Mr. Bryan was in fine fighting form, taking capacious bites out of everybody from the faltering Congressman Adolph Sabath of Chicago, to Senator Glass, chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

"Do you," asked the Congressman who is not expedious in parliamentary rough and tumble, "Do you—er—do you want to enforce—er—this impossible—of—enforcement Volstead law?"

BRYAN SHOOTS BACK.

Bryan, dispensing with "er's" shot back: "We will favor enforcement instead of demoralization."

Congressman Sabath resumed a sitting posture.

Another speaker got his head up long enough to ask whether Mr. Bryan proposed to indorse the Volstead Act in the Democratic platform.

Accurately measuring the distance, Bryan shied at the head this sentence: "We propose to indorse this law and not to run from it."

The head disappeared. He employed short sentences heavily ballasted. While he was announcing one of his dignitaries as representing such and such interests the question reached his ears: "Who do you represent?"

His Famous Dry Smile.

"I shall not speak now," he said. "I will speak later when the time is not so short, but I will say now that I represent 20,000,000 church members in the United States."

There was no more heckling along those lines.

The swift exchange of warm words between Mr. Bryan and Senator Glass grew out of the Senator's not very well-concealed disposition to take the proceedings over which he presided as merely an opportunity for zealots to blow off steam.

Concerning the allotment of time to their speakers, Bryan addressing the chair and speaking with a manly solicitude for fair play that in anybody else would have seem sanctimonious, said: "The arrangement now proposed does not seem fair to the other side."

He paused, a look of honest solicitude in his big face—any way it seemed honest and the face was shining with the joy of conflict.

NEAR EDGE OF CRATER.

Bryan bore that—for the moment—but the Senator was skipping nearer to the edge of the crater than he thought.

"But they're not satisfied," said Chief Shining Face.

The Senator, almost giggling—if Senators ever giggle—then stepped over the edge by remarking with a condescension lightly touched with merriment: "It appears to the chair that as neither side proposes to reopen this liquor question as settled by Federal amendment, then nobody wants to talk on the question."

The crater opened and the roar was released.

In a voice that does not require to be raised to a shout in order to become terrific, Bryan said:

"This is no time for joking. We are here on a great question, and we propose to be heard. We will not be ruled out on a quibble."

The smile of facetiousness faded from the russet-apple features of Carter Glass and the apple turned very red.

The Senator not smiling, said:

"The chair was not quibbling. The chair resents the suggestion."

Though the chair was angry, the chair had manifestly felt the crash of some heavier force and did not like it.

The heavier force, meanwhile himself all in hand again—was rising to make a place for Mrs. Ellis A. Yost of the W.C.T.U. headquarters in Washington. He was smiling and nodding. He seemed oblivious of the chair.

Such is Bryan when he just begins to fight.

His next battle will be fought on a bigger stage—the floor of the convention. He promises it.

might detract from the League of Nations, and give a chance of nomination to some candidate that was not selected at the White House. But this has not proven true. Since his selection the Arkansas Senator has seen the light and his speech this afternoon was as near a recital from a carbon copy of the address which Chairman Cummings handed to the delegates yesterday as would be possible to construct.

FORGETS IRELAND.

Senator Robinson indulged in the popular pastime of criticising the platform adopted by the Republicans at Chicago. He made a strong plea for Armenia, but did not mention Ireland. He urged strong support for woman suffrage, but failed to say a word about the labor question, and finally he launched a personal attack on Warren G. Harding, quoting some things uttered by the Republican nominee which were not overly complimentary to Theodore Roosevelt. He digressed a little here, but was soon back on the same old track and confined his remarks entirely to the League and the "heart of the covenant." "Social justice" is the big thing here, and the fine part of it is none of the delegates know what it means, but they are for it because it sounds good and fits in with the movement to capture the ballots of the women voters.

DEBATE FORESTALLED.

The promised sensation of a debate on the floor when the Committee on Credentials reported was also stopped before it started. It was a well-known fact that the Georgia delegation in favor of Palmer was to be seated and no voice on the floor objected. It was also predicted that Senator "Jim" Reed of Missouri would be kicked out, thrown overboard, and otherwise abused, but it was said that no less a person than the great Commoner, William Jennings Bryan, would make an appeal in his behalf. But here again the roller worked and the Missouri Senator was sent to his political grave without a decent burial. No voice was raised in his behalf except a mild protest from Joseph B. Shannon, who was chosen to take his place. The defense made for the Senator was that he came from the strongest Democratic district in his State, but the funeral chimes started to ring when Hugo Asher, secretary of the Credentials Committee, retorted that he had been refused a seat on the floor of the convention because he was a "renegade Democrat."

The banishment of Reed, and the label pasted on his coffin, is now a matter of record to serve as a danger signal to other statesmen who may attempt to oppose the will of Wilson, and express in the Senate or elsewhere opinions which do not agree with the Chief Executive.

CANDIDATES SLIGHTED.

So much attention has been paid to just what might happen at the session of the Resolution Committee, and just what might, by mistake perhaps, get into the platform that not much attention has been paid today to the candidates. One or two little things have happened and the position of the three leaders may be changed a little, but in the main the situation remains the same.

The public indorsement of McAdoo by the railroad men given out last night has lost him some votes and in most instances this loss has added to the strength of Palmer. Cox still is a strong third with more votes in sight for Palmer tonight than for any other candidate.

Palmer's rapid gain over the week-end may also have something to do with the undoing of McAdoo. Friends of the President's son-in-law became frightened at the growing popularity of the Attorney-General and began to fire some of their biggest guns, which prudence prescribed should have been held behind and below the breastworks to be called into action at a more critical time. Efforts of these overzealous ones made it appear that the "Heir Apparent" might be nominated before the convention got into action and they begin producing badges, hat bands and other boosting material for their favorite.

TARGET OF ALL.

As the McAdoo boom grew the candidate was pushed more and more out into the open until he gained a lead position which had made him the target of all who are training in the race. Ed Gears, the greatest race horse driver who ever lived, said: "I never get away in the lead. It gets you nothing. You get the money for getting home, not getting away." And so it is here McAdoo may have made too good a get-away, and it is certain that what he has lost Palmer has gained. Palmer has the sympathy of the dry forces and the dry forces are in a majority.

The talk that the Cox crowd is in a position to deadlock the convention will not down, and while McAdoo and Palmer are fighting for the big vote on the first ballot, friends of the Ohio Governor gloat over the thought that neither can be nominated without their consent.

ORATORS TO BE SUPREME.

Interest will center tonight and tomorrow morning on the actions of the Resolutions Committee, which has hardly commenced its labors. When the convention opens tomorrow, the orators will have their day, and the various candidates will be presented to the convention. Nominating speeches will be limited to twenty and seconding addresses to five minutes. The time is short enough but the field is big and before the adjournment tomorrow night the delegates that stay until the end will hear the virtues sung of half the Democrats in public life.

It is probable that the Resolutions Committee will report Thursday and that the first ballot of the convention will be taken late Thursday afternoon or at the opening session Friday.

SAYS WOMEN CAN PLAY POLITICS

Dorothy Dix Declares Sex is Putting Over McAdoo Boom. Quotes Mrs. Funk, Who is Engineering His Candidacy.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Do women know how to play politics? I'll say they do. In witness whereof observe the McAdoo boom as it grows hour by hour like Jack's beanstalk until already it almost reaches the heaven of the Presidential nomination and which said boom is being gorgeously nurtured and fostered by women.

Mrs. Antoinette Funk, young, pretty, brilliant, a successful lawyer and no mean politician is mothering it and acts as hostess in a sort of "unofficial" McAdoo headquarters where tea and sandwiches and McAdoo propaganda are served out to a never ending throng of women who struggle with as much real heart interest for McAdoo badges as they ever put into a fight over a marked-down sale of silk stockings.

And women can do something more than merely sympathize with a candidate in this convention and the subsequent election; keep that little fact kindly in mind the men politicians are not forgetting it.

Mrs. Funk talks with scorn about the alleged mystery that is supposed to surround the McAdoo boom.

"That's got to be a slogan of those against us," she says. "Mystery! stuff and nonsense, there's no mystery about it unless there is something mysterious and inconceivable in a man really and actually letting the office seek him instead of his seeking the office and that's McAdoo's position. He's human, he's ambitious, he would like to be President just as any other man in the world would like that exalted office, but he is a poor man and he has heavy family responsibilities and he doesn't feel that he should jeopardize the fate of those dependent upon him by becoming a candidate for the office. If the nomination is handed him on a silver salver, that's another story, and, of course, he wouldn't refuse it.

"But the mystery theory still persists. When I was called before the Senate committee which was investigating the various campaign funds, Senator Kenyon said to me, 'There seems to be a great mystery about the McAdoo boom. I can't lay my finger on it nor its funds.'

"'It's because your hand isn't large enough,' I replied, 'the McAdoo boom is as big as the hearts of the common people from which it springs and only the hand of God is large enough to cover it. As for the campaign fund it is only $150 so perhaps that's too little for you to find.'

"Mystery also has been made of Mrs. McAdoo's attitude towards her husband's candidacy, but that is simply that of any loving wife whose whole desire is for her husband to realize his ambitions and get what he wants of life. Mrs. McAdoo is a highly sensitive and very retiring woman and she has felt every barb aimed at her father more keenly if possible than he has. OMEN CAN PLAY POLITICS.

SCO, June 29.—Do women know how to play politics? In witness whereof observe the McAdoo boom which ur like Jack's beanstalk until already it almost vies Presidential nomination and which said boom is being fostered by women.

ITCHCOCK SEES RNING IN TIDE

Sentiment Now With President and League.

Ratification of Treaty Done Now, He Believes.

Campaign to be One of Offensive.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SHINGTON, June 29.—The trend of public sentiment has turned and will now begin to run strong for President Wilson and the League of Nations, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska declared in a statement today commenting upon the administration's demonstration of strength in the San Francisco convention.

As the leader of the fight for the treaty in the Senate, Senator Hitchcock sees the prospect of a change of public feeling powerful enough to engulf those reactionaries who are responsible for the defeat of the treaty of peace.

The speech of Chairman Cummings was a masterly effort," said Senator Hitchcock. "It settles exactly what is to be the paramount issue of this campaign even before the platform is written. It is important that so far as the issues are concerned the campaign is to be an offensive and not a defensive one.

CHALLENGE TO BATTLE.

"It is a challenge to battle and arouse enthusiasm and confidence in Democratic ranks. It makes a strong appeal to the independent voter of the country who is disgusted with compromise and delay that mark that start of the Republican campaign at Chicago.

"There is another feature, however, which makes Mr. Cummings's speech an event in political history. It marks the turn of the tide in sentiment. For many months race prejudice and organized greed have sought to destroy President Wilson as a political power. The tide of public sentiment during the months of his affliction has been running against us, but it has reached its maximum and the turn has come."

MANY YARD WORKERS LAID OFF.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—About 25 per cent of the civilian employees at the Philadelphia navy yard, League Island, will be laid off Wednesday owing to the failure of Congress to provide sufficient money for the continuance of their services.

A number of employees who will be discharged are women clerks who during the war were taken into the service as yeomanettes. Quite a number of these women were desirous of quitting their position after the war for the work they had been accustomed to previous to government employment, but were told they were needed and that they could remain in the service through the civil service. Many of those who accepted that proposition will be laid off Wednesday with little or no advance notice.

All told, there will be nearly 200 girl clerks laid off, with about one-third as many men clerks. Most of the men in the mechanical line are expected to find ready employment in the various other shipyards. At the present time there are about 9000 persons employed in the navy yard. The lay-off is expected to affect about 2500.

PENROSE GIVES CAMPAIGN VIEW

Senator Against Proposed "Front Porch" Methods.

Harding Cabinet Must be of Higher Grade, He Says.

Middle West Wants Only Facts to Decide Them.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—A higher grade of quality, a greater degree of activity than has prevailed in the Wilson regime, and less departmental politics, will be needed for a Harding Cabinet, according to Senator Penrose.

The Senator discussed in detail today the plans for the Republican campaign and for a national administration at Washington. The conditions to be changed in the Harding Cabinet are indicated in this description by the Senator of the results of the Wilson Cabinet:

"Incredible extravagance has been indulged in. The wastefulness has been appalling."

Discussing the Harding Cabinet, Senator Penrose said: "Our needs in the next Cabinet will be very simple. They will be easily met. We want prompt and efficient action.

"Incredible extravagance has been indulged in. Let us clean up and start afresh. Of course, we will require a higher grade of ability, a greater degree of activity and less politics, in the departments, to mitigate the colossal and complicated machinery which has sprung up.

"WASTE APPALLING."

"The administration of the War Department will have to be put upon an absolutely new basis. Presided over by a man who is at heart a pacifist, it has been grossly mismanaged. The wastefulness has been appalling."

The interview was obtained as the result of questions submitted through the Senator's secretary, Leighton C. Taylor. Mr. Penrose, speaking as a member of the Executive Committee of Twenty-one, which body will manage the Harding campaign, declared himself as opposed to the proposed plan of having the Presidential nominee conduct his campaign from the "front porch" of his home in Ohio, the plan followed by the late President McKinley. Senator Penrose's interview was regarded as politically important, as the Senator is believed to be voicing the views of the Senatorial group who were the principal backers of the Harding candidacy. These views, it is thought, will be influential in shaping the Harding campaign.

"What do you think of the front-porch campaign?" the Senator was asked. "Is not Senator Harding the kind of man who would win more votes by meeting people face to face over the country?"

THING OF THE PAST.

"The so-called front-porch campaign systematically carried out largely is a thing of the past," was the answer. "With modern methods of transportation and travel and progressive political ideals among the people have changed their attitude in this respect.

"I have no doubt Senator Harding, so far as it is fair to appeal to him, will be glad to travel throughout the country, meeting the people face to face. In the past he has demonstrated his ability as an able campaigner on the stump."

"Do you think the statement that the Western States are apathetic of the results of the Republican convention is a true reflection of the situation?"

"I believe the middle western country is sound at the core. When the issues shall be properly presented and the facts duly submitted I have not the slightest doubt that this section will be carried along with the general Republican tidal wave which I am certain will sweep the country in November."

"What is your thought as to the kind of campaign needed to stir up the West?"

"I am convinced as the years go by," the Senator replied, "that the only kind of campaign will be that which will be an appeal to their reason and conscience. In the old days a torchlight parade might have been effective. Now, however, the people demand cold facts and strong reasoning."

HARDING STRONG THROUGH EAST

folks, they have almost invariably expressed their satisfaction.

I have found this to be the state of mind of even the most extravagantly radical union men. They have had enough of cloistered executives. Mr. Gompers will fail in his threat to turn the votes of organized labor against the Republican party this fall. My investigations convince me that the Democrats are going to be murdered by the votes of men who work with their hands.

NO BETTER OFF.

In spite of the enormous increase in wages, most of the workmen are no better off than they were before the war with smaller wages.

They realize that a terrible winter—no doubt one of the most terrible in the history of the United States—is only a few months away. There is a disposition to lay it to the door of the Wilson administration on account of the bungling mishandling of the railroad situation.

They remember the days of one Democratic administration after another as days of disturbance. They remember the days of McKinley as fat, peaceful days. And there is no doubt that Mr. Harding's resemblance to Mr. McKinley has had a far-reaching effect.

Mr. Wilson seems to be personally, almost ferociously, unpopular here in the East. There is strange to say, a great deal of resentment against Mrs. Wilson. The royal tour of this couple through Europe at the time of the Peace Conference seemed to have a bad political effect.

CLOISTERED SICK MAN.

Ever since his illness, and for a long time before that, there has been at the White House an organized barrier to keep from the President all papers which mentioned him unfavorably.

Lately the feeling against him has risen so high that the administration has now begun to shovel out propaganda at a furious rate to show that the President is not a tyrant; but a respectable married man who likes to watch Bill Hart in the movies, and has other human instincts.

The general opinion here is that the President never had a very determined intention of running for a third term; but that he was stung into a fighting mood by the attitude of his party to ignore him as a doddering old invalid who no longer counted except as a means of keeping Admiral Grayson busy. Hence his whipping mile-long interview to Louis Seibold of the World.

Whatever McAdoo says about it, his New York friends all think that his refusal to become a candidate was a cold bluff. On the very day that he sent forth his declination he also dispatched a confidential agent to San Francisco to see if things could be lined up for him.

REPUBLICANS STRONG.

The attempt of the opponents of Harding to prejudice people against the Republican platform has resulted in nothing. I find that the platform is generally regarded as being a simple pledge on the part of the G.O.P. to deal with problems as they come up in the old Republican way.

In other words that the bridges will be properly and skillfully crossed when we get there. It is a plain bid for confidence on the past record of the party.

I had a letter the other day from the editor of a well-known Iowa paper.

"At first we felt a little disappointed," he said, "because we were red hot for Lowden. We realize now that it would have been difficult to elect him on account of the campaign funds scandal. Every day we feel better about Harding. We have had enough of brilliant men and profound theorists in the White House. What we want is a sane, practical man who will think it over and go slowly."

And, he added, Iowa will roll up a tremendous majority for Harding.

WILL ASK FINANCIAL AID FOR MEXICANS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 29.—Financial aid for Mexico and the establishment of trade connections with Chicago and the Middle West will be sought in a visit soon to be made by Salvador Alvarado, Secretary of the Mexican Treasury, it was announced today by Manuel Carpio, representative of a Mexico City newspaper.

Mr. Carpio held informal conferences with several leading Chicago bankers and business men today and he said that they expressed a willingness to discuss proposals with Secretary Alvarado, who is expected here within the next three weeks.

Who says the Duo-Art Reproducing Piano is the Best?

Steinway & Sons do.

They have chosen the Duo-Art as the one and only reproducing action which they were willing to combine with their great piano and offer to the public bearing the Steinway name.

The World's Greatest Artists do.

The following great pianists make records of their playing exclusively for the Duo-Art. Many rolls bearing their names and used by other makers are mere makeshifts and have not been played by these artists for those particular instruments. They play only for the Duo-Art:

Shortage of Cars is the Cause.

Roads With Hundred Million Outstanding Are in Peculiar Fix.

Elevators Filled and no Early Relief is Seen; Prices Are Soaring.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MINNEAPOLIS, June 29.—The financial situation created by shortage of cars with which to move crops reached a climax here today with many large grain dealers on the verge of business failure and the Federal reserve bank at the loan peak of $197,000,000 outstanding.

Grain dealers are suffering tremendous losses from premiums demanded on failure to deliver as contracted, elevator storage rates and 7 per cent interest on loans over a period of several months.

Information from a reliable source indicates certain failure of roads if immediate relief is not received. Large companies are making only small shipments via the Great Lakes, through Duluth, and have 1,000,000 bushels here for shipment.

Bankers' bank officials, bankers, millers and civic organizations are making strenuous efforts to obtain aid from the Interstate Commerce Commission. E. W. Decker, president of the Northwestern National Bank, has wired E. E. Clark, chairman of commission, saying the situation is the most critical in the history of the Northwest and asking an appeal to the roads to return to roads of the Northwest their full car equipment.

EAST TURNS TO HARDING

Republican Choice Winning Favor.

Belief Growing Stronger That the Ohio Senator Will be Heavy Vote-Getter.

Anti-Wilson Feeling Seems to be Increasing, Says Well-Known Writer.

BY HARRY CARR.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—The East is beginning to warm toward Harding. Private letters that I get from men of affairs in the Middle West indicate that the country's second thought was a Harding thought.

I have discussed politics with all manner of men since I came back to New York after the Chicago convention.

There is no doubt about it; the first impulsive feeling of the country was one of disappointment at Harding's nomination. They wanted a big star cast for the part. There was, however, a disposition to be open-minded about his selection. I have been asked a million questions about him, and how he happened to be nominated.

It was interesting to me to observe that those most markedly willing to listen and find out the real facts were the workingmen. They seemed to find a good deal of satisfaction in the fact that Senator Harding is a plain country editor from a small town in Ohio. Another fact which they seemed to put down in a place where they would remember it is Harding's willingness to listen.

"Is he the kind of a guy you can get to and explain your side of the case?" they said.

Being informed that Senator Harding's long suit is withholding his decision until he finds out, and that he sits out in the open, with the

McADOO'S WAY OILED

Pay-roll Brigade Controls a Majority of Convention Delegates.

Opposition, However, Becoming Solidified; May Mean Defeat.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29. The hour of balloting on the nomination for President draws near, with the administration office-holders' combine controlling the convention and noiselessly operating in the interest of William G. McAdoo.

The Wilson appointees and their pay-roll brigade demonstrate repeatedly that they control a majority of the convention which is sufficient for their purpose in respect to organization of the conclave. Whether, however, they can muster the two-thirds majority requisite for nomination of a candidate is the uncertain quantity of the situation.

The fight between McAdoo and the field is waxing fiercer hour by hour with the leaders on both sides on a tense lookout for some word from the White House or other development which will operate to make or break McAdoo as the choice of the convention.

With a stubborn platform fight in prospect there is no expectation of the balloting on the nominee beginning before Thursday night or Friday morning, and in the meantime the situation is expected to [illegible] will be greatly affected by the deals and counter-deals in progress.

P.M.-Gen. Burleson, Secretary of Agriculture Meredith and other leaders of the McAdoo campaign asserted at midnight that, with arrangements completed for further accessions of delegate strength the movement for the selection of the President's son-in-law is moving irresistibly to success.

UNIT RULE BROKEN.

They view with satisfaction the operation of administration control in the convention which has produced a rule under which the unit rule in the New York and some other delegations will be broken. Under the terms of this section the unit rule is not to apply to delegates selected by district voters.

This rule will operate to release some score of New York delegates from obligation to abide by the will of the majority of the delegation.

This was what the office holders combine set out to accomplish, predicting the while the rupture of the unit rule in New York would enable about thirty delegates to line up for McAdoo on an early roll call.

Despite the attitude of Tammany and other anti-administration influences in the Empire State, Charles F. Murphy stoutly maintained until Sunday night that the New York unit rule would stand unimpaired, but he soon found the odds against him.

Despite the increased optimism in the administration camp, indications were not lacking that the opposition to McAdoo is becoming solidified and that a determined effort is being made to hold more than one-third of the delegates against the President's son-in-law indefinitely and thereby prevent his nomination.

CHECK UP FORCES.

Tom Taggart of Indiana, Murphy of New York, Jim Nugent of New Jersey, George Brennan of Illinois, and other leaders who set out to block McAdoo, were in conference tonight checking up their forces and professing satisfaction with the outlook. One of the McAdoo leaders informed Brennan that the votes were in sight to nominate their candidate and that the Illinois crowd had better clamber aboard the bandwagon.

"Where are you going to get the votes? You can't get them in this convention," Brennan challenged.

The McAdoo man responded only with a look of compassion for Brennan and passed on. The Illinois leader asserted that he did not regard McAdoo as formidable, despite all the shouting of the McAdoo boomers and the newspaper headlines blaring forth the prediction that the crown prince would be the nominee.

Brennan insists that Atty.-Gen. Palmer, for whom the Illinois delegation will vote at first, will have 300 or more votes on the first ballot, more than any other candidate, and will be nominated as soon as the McAdoo folks realized they cannot win.

There is less talk in the Illinois delegation of putting Cox over since the managers of the candidacy of the Ohio Governor offended the wets by their flirtations with the drys.

In the onslaught on McAdoo in the last forty-eight hours the candidacies of Palmer and Cox have almost been lost sight of, to the great encouragement of the latter two aspirants. The position of leading candidate at this stage of the proceedings is far from advantageous in convention strategy, for it promotes the natural tendency of all opposition forces to solidify against the looming menace.

L. A. Chemical Plant is Burned; $125,000 Loss; Incendiarism Suspected

Fire which broke out at 2:15 this morning in the big plant of the National Chemical Company at 528 South Alameda street resulted in the total destruction of the works and loss estimated at $125,000 by Henry J. Donau, president of the company, before it was under control.

At a late hour this morning it was still burning, but heroic efforts on the part of the Los Angeles Fire Department, under the personal direction of Fire Chief Scott, prevented further damage, the flames being confined to the one building.

The fire was discovered by A. Cahaw, a watchman, who saw the blaze issuing from the second floor of the building, which is of brick and four stories in height. By the time he had turned in the alarm the flames had spread rapidly and hundreds of people in the neighborhood, alarmed at the pyrotechnics, rushed from their homes to witness the spectacle. Fire Chief Scott, who early arrived on the scene, perceived the danger to the surrounding property and at once turned in a general alarm, summoning all the downtown fire apparatus.

Lines of hose were stretched to the roof of the building and precautions were taken to prevent spread to the surrounding property. The roof quickly fell in, rendering the task of the firemen somewhat easier. The building, being filled with chemicals of a highly inflammable nature which burned fiercely, was soon entirely enveloped in flames. A series of at least 100 small explosions caused by the chemicals punctuated the progress of the blaze.

An hour's work on the part of the department, however, confined the blaze to the one building and by 3:15 the danger of a spread to adjoining structures was past. One fireman, Pipeman Richards of Engine Company No. 17, was injured by falling down an elevator shaft and was taken to the Receiving Hospital. Henry J. Donau, president of the concern, estimated that $125,000 would cover the damage to the building and contents. He stated it was partially covered by insurance. The building is owned by Charles Lantz, with offices in the Bullard Block.

The cause of the fire is unknown, although Mr. Donau stated that two employees, a man and a woman, discharged a week ago, may have had something to do with it, as an act of revenge. Patrolman L. P. Taylor said that a couple was seen running from the rear of the structure shortly after the alarm was turned in. Search for them will be made by the police today.

BOOMS RISE AND FALL LIKE TIDES O' THE SEA

BY IRVIN S. COBB.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—As exclusively suspected by me yesterday, but with admirable self-restraint not published in these advices, McAdoo boom today took on fuller proportions.

Propaganda, based upon the theory that if the creator felt it necessary to save the world again he'd send a son-in-law this time, gave added strength to the movement; also some of the prominent Federal office-holders who are here were applauding heartily every mention of Mr. McAdoo's name.

One reason why their outbursts of applause seemed muffled was because it is so very hard to clap the hands while holding the fingers crossed. Likewise it is difficult to cheer and hiss at the same time. If McAdoo should win the nomination there won't be a dry eye in the present Cabinet. Then if he should win the election the enthusiasm in this quarter will be obsolutely homicidal in its intensity.

Other booms continue to rise and fall with the uneasiness characteristic of the tides of the sea or an eastern stomach full of native California oysters. At the moment of filing this dispatch, Mr. Davis, the mysterious stranger, is commanding some consideration. Up until now he has been kept privately by the West Virginia delegation. There is a feeling that it would be well to nominate him first and then appoint a committee to find out who he is. This appears to be a great year for clandestine, not to say surreptitious candidates. Should Mr. Elmer A. Davis be nominated—or is the first name Jasper—I foresee stirring scenes in the convention hall with the delegates joyously uprooting the State standards and parading about the floor crying in mighty chorus: "Who? Who? Who?" It may turn out to be the most unbridled demonstration—or should I say interrogation?—in the annals of the party.

SOME EXCITEMENT.

Some excitement was occasioned this morning before the convention convened by a report that Barney Baruch was due in on his private car, Lohengrin, pronounced Long Green. This is a great convention for those short cuts in pronunciations. For example, after hearing Mr. Homer S. Cummings's keynote speech on Monday the temptation to call him "Humorous" Cummings became well-nigh overpowering.

But Mr. Baruch did not materialize. In a Republican convention a plutocrat is just as welcome as the flowers in May, or even more so, provided he'll stand for being plucked freely; but among the Democrats he must do his pluting in a very soft and low manner or else the masses begin to talk about financial pollution of the stream of patriotism. It is very difficulty for Leader Charles F. Murphy to convince a fellow Democrat from Weeping Willow, Neb., that some of the clever set fellows on earth have their offices down on Wall street. The only difference the latter can see between the late Jesse James and one of the Wall-street guys is that Jesse rode a horse.

Possibly this explains why we have not been favored with the presence of Mr. Baruch. Another theory is that he stayed at home to take on another press agent. At last accounts his most prominent competitor in this field is Mr. Frank Vanderlip, also of New York, who had him three down and was prepared to give him a press agent a hole, with every confidence in his ability to beat him out.

Moreover, Mr. Vanderlip was a welcome guest at the Republican convention in Chicago. Some dame rumor has it that he was one of the favored group who sat up until 3 o'clock in the morning on the day of the nomination of the ticket, unselfishly sacrificing his rest and beauty sleep in order to help make up the delegates' mind for them. But in San Francisco Mr. Baruch, by reason of his financial connections, would publicly be shunned almost as though he had a yellow flag draped on him and a board of health warning pinned to his chest.

DOOR ALWAYS OPEN.

And yet he is commonly regarded as one standing so close to the administration that at times he practically stands on it. Even on a dark night, Hoke Smith and Jim Reed couldn't get into the White House without burglar's tools, but for him the latch strings hang over on the outside. And yet with all that he would be about as popular out here as a penthouse. Such, also, is the estimation in which a rich easterner is held among those of the proletariat who believe that Mr. Bryan wears an alpaca coat so that when his wings sprout out they can burst right through the fabric without damaging a feather. Such is the curse of wealth. He who runs first with Bradstreet and Dun back East runs last with the great common people out here.

Some persons of morbid tendencies went to the convention hall today to hear oratory and to gaze again upon the picture in oils of President Wilson, which hangs behind the Speaker's platform. This likeness, which was done by the leading house, sign and portrait painter of Placerville, this State, deserves more mention than the correspondents have seen fit to give it.

Monday, when it was unveiled, the delegates cheered it for sixteen minutes, but an artist from Boston, sitting just in front of me, fell down and had an epileptic fit lasting even longer.

LIKE WAR PICTURE.

IRISH PLANK IS A POSER.

Proposed So Radical It Creates Dismay in Hearts of Bourbons.

BY S. FRED HOGUE.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Badly shaken by explosions in the Committee on Resolutions today, the administration forces are beginning to [illegible]. Tonight the Cabinet triumvirate is talking compromise.

Lansing told the President has been informed that it will be impossible to frame the platform to a single plank; that there must be some recognition given to the dry sentiment or Bryan will capture the convention.

The triumvirate also admits that the proposed Irish plank will probably be modified. As the President viewed the plank it contained a clause that the general assembly of the League of Nations would be empowered to consider at an early session the aspirations of the Irish people for self-government.

This plank roused the fury of the Democratic Fathers. They are against the League of Nations. The riot in committee this afternoon was the forerunner of open rebellion in the convention.

It is announced tonight that the Irish plank will contain no reference to the League; but that it will go as far as Sinn Feiners want it.

After two days of fighting, the administration forces are on the defensive all along the line. The [illegible] of the triumvirate is officially [illegible] fire are regarded by the opposition as so many victories.

The [illegible] of the Irish radicals [illegible] whetted by success.

It looks tonight as though the League and the Irish issue will split upon the League of Nations. Whether the President will be problematical. If he insists on fighting for a single plank there will be a coalition against the administration that will control the convention.

Here is the plank which the Irish radicals have drafted:

Mindful of the circumstances of the birth of our own nation, we reassert the principle that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

We will support the continuance of our long-established and lawful practice of according recognition without intervention in all cases where the principles of a nation, as in Ireland, have, by a free vote of the people, set up a republic and chosen a government to which they yield willing obedience.

Therefore, we pledge our party to the policy of according to the elected government of the republic of Ireland full, formal and official recognition of the government of the United States, thus vindicating the principle for which our soldiers offered up their lives.

Unless the administration forces accept that plank there will be a bolt of the Democratic ticket by the radical Irish, possibly a walk-out in the convention. If it is accepted the Democratic platform will be so radical that Republican success will be assured.

POLES TO LEAVE GALICIA.

Make Preparations to Withdraw Forces; Bolshevik Invasion is Feared.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 29.—Poland is preparing to withdraw its forces from Eastern Galicia because of the advance of a Russian Bolshevik invasion, according to the newspaper Petit Parisien.

SHANGHAI, June 29.—Labor disturbances and strikes are spreading throughout China, rioting and looting of shops are in the industrial districts, and the price of rice having increased to $15.20 a pecul (a picul approximates 144 1-2 pounds) it is estimated that there is only a three days' supply of rice available.

DUBLIN, June 29.—Sean O'Ceallaigh, Irish republican delegate extraordinary of the government of the Irish republic," was received in private audience Saturday by Pope Benedict.

It was authoritatively stated today that O'Ceallaigh was received by the Pontiff only in his private capacity.

SOCIALISTS AGREE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, June 29.—German Majority Socialists are in general agreement with the program of the new government, said Philipp Scheidemann, a leader of that organization, speaking in the Reichstag today.

George Ledebour, Independent Socialist leader, said the best means to bring about an amelioration of the peace conditions would be the abolition of existing armies.

CANDIDATES SLIGHTED.

Platform Issues are Taken First.

Correspondent Says League of Nations is to be the Main Plank.

Becomes More Apparent That Wilson Plans Will be Carried Out.

BY BURTON L. SMITH.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The Democratic party today pinned its faith to a vehicle whose motive power is the wailing cry of the war-worn nations of the world. In the next breath they called for the women of the land to rally to their standard and become trained nurses to win back to health the sick nations of Europe.

If anybody has hoped that the Wilson party was to go on record as favoring legislation to apply to the labor problem, the Irish question, the wet and dry issue, the high cost of living, or any other thing, the speech of the permanent chairman at today's session certainly banished hope.

The League of Nations, and what is more the Wilson League of Nations, is very apt to be the one plank with a meaning in the platform which will be finally presented to the delegates. Every other issue possible to conceive will be treated only as it may apply to this particular hobby of the President.

By resolution of the convention, presented at the opportune time by the Steering Committee, which is representing the Washington administration, a telegram was sent to the Governor of Tennessee conveying the thanks of the delegates for his action in calling a special session of the Legislature to consider the woman suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution.

WOMAN RESOLUTES.

And then arose the plaintive voice of the first woman delegate to talk from the floor of the convention. She presented a resolution calling for the next organization of the National Committee on a fifty-fifty basis, that is, one woman and one man from every State. This was going a little too far and much too fast to find favor among some of the delegates who were not quite prepared for such a display of gallantry. A gentleman from Georgia, not knowing that this particular resolution was a pet measure of Chairman Cummings of the National Committee, attempted to start opposition.

"Mr. Chairman," declared the southern gentleman, "I move you that this and all other resolutions go to the Resolutions Committee; the first thing you know there will be something sprung here that will tear a hole in the convention." The sentiment found favor among the delegates and for a minute his contention won by a vote of the convention. The adriot hand of Chairman Cummings was soon displayed, a reconsideration ordered, and the resolution went over. The next National Committee will be organized as per order and the next crop of Federal job hunters will be forced to find favor with the ladies.

LIKE A CARBON COPY.

Day by day, hour by hour, it becomes more apparent that the Wilson program will be carried out in detail. Sunday, when it became known that Senator Robinson of Arkansas was to be permanent chairman of the convention, it was noised about that he would get so far away from the adopted schedule as to recommend a series of planks for the platform which

IRISH OUT FOR FIGHT.

Members of Committee Flee.

BY S. FRED HOGUE.
"Times" Staff Special Editorial Writer.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Harmony as assertive as a sore thumb marked the second session of the Democratic National Convention today. But a riot call was turned in by the police lieutenant whose squad stood guard over the room where the Committee on Resolutions was in session.

For three hours a mob surged about the committee room on the fourth floor of the Coliseum Building, shortly after noon the police were compelled to interfere. The members of the committee fled for safety to the convention hall on the first floor.

"Friends of Irish Freedom" pursued them with the agility of hounds chasing coyotes.

Today they found sanctuary in the big convention hall. But whither shall they flee when the Irish brigade projects its plank for Irish freedom into the big tent Thursday? Don't be surprised if Gov. Stephens is called upon to mobilize the State militia.

IRISH FIGHTING MAD.

Today the torpedoes exploded in the rooms of the committee on platform and resolution. Thursday they will be pumped right into the convention. Procrastinating will not help the Administration forces. For the repressed opposition is boiling and seething. I look for it to explode with a shock that will blow the whole Democratic party out of the water.

There was nothing but routine in the convention. It isn't worth wasting space upon, for the delegates were only marking time. But the committee sessions were as noisy as the violent ward of an insane asylum.

San Francisco is an Irish town. They control the city government and compose the whole of the police force, and San Francisco has gone Sinn Fein mad since De Valera arrived here two days ago.

INDIGNATION SHOWN.

There were at least 2000 vacant seats in the convention when Homer Cummings delivered the keynote speech yesterday. But the hall where De Valera spoke last night was filled to the ceiling and a mob of at least 5000 Irish sympathisers milled about the doors.

The Irish are fighting mad because neither Cummings nor Robinson referred to the Irish Republic in their keynote speeches. Words are inadequate to express their indignation. Their women have grown violent.

De Marset Lloyd, president of the Loyal Coalition, was assaulted by the Sinn Feiners when he left the committee room. He was beaten about the head and shoulders by a group of Sinn Feiners, who carried the Irish flag. The police saved him from serious injury.

LIQUOR BATTLE ON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The subcommittee of nine, making a preliminary draft of the Democratic platform, rejected tonight a proposal to include a wet plank. The deliberations and vote were in secret, but it was understood that the vote against a wet plank was at a ratio of 2 to 1.

After the Platform Committee had been in session for more than two hours it was still working on the language of a League of Nations plank.

It was understood that the committee was in disagreement as to procedure. Some members, led by Senator Walsh, felt that the views of each member of the full committee should be ascertained on important issues before the work of drafting the planks was taken up.

The opinion was expressed among some subcommittee members that the draft could not be completed before tomorrow night at the earliest and possibly not before Thursday morning.

Senator Walsh of Montana left the committee room just before midnight, bound for bed. Other members of the subcommittee were understood to have decided to remain in session throughout the night.

SAY BOOTLEGGER MAY HAVE SLAIN ELWELL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—Federal agents today inquired at the district attorney's office concerning the theory issuing from there that Joseph B. Elwell, wealthy turfman and whist expert, murdered in his home here June 11, may have been killed by a "bootlegger" with whom he had fallen out over unpaid liquor bills.

The report was that Elwell had entered into a deal to take over a whisky consignment for $12,700.

Fatal Auto Collision

FRESNO, June 30. — One man was killed and a young boy fatally injured last night west of Riverdale when an automobile and a motorcycle crashed in a head-on collision. The dead man has not been identified, although he is believed to be a resident of this city. He was riding the motorcycle. The youth, who is lying at a local sanatorium at the point of death, is Howard Milnes, 10-year-old son of Alan Milnes, Riverdale rancher. The boy was riding with his older brother in a truck at the time of the collision, and was thrown from the auto, striking the ground on his head.

The Nationalists apparently have been much confused by the rapidity of the Greek attack. There are many indications that the Nationalists are concentrating preparatory to a big stand after getting the Greeks scattered over long lines of communication.

McADOO STILL BETTING FAVORITE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—William G. McAdoo continued today to be the favorite in the betting in the financial district. Shortly after the market opened odds of 9 to 5 against his chances were offered, but this shortened to even money along toward this afternoon.

Cox lost in popularity today, with odds placed at 3 to 1, against 2½ to 1 Monday and 2 to 1 Saturday. Gov. Smith gained, with odds of 2 to 1, against 2½ to 1 Monday and 3 to 1 during the week. Vice-President Marshall was held in 3½ to 1 today.

volt was the fight in the committee over the Eighteenth Amendment. Bryan received an invitation to repeat outside certain remarks he made about Theodore Bell, who represented the California Grape Growers' Association, but Bryan was careful not to accept. Bryan can sling mud when the occasion requires, but fists, and brick-bats are not in his line.

He is as sore as an ulcerated tooth because he was not named on the subcommittee to draft platform planks. The administration controls the Platform Committee, and its first act was to steam-roll Bryan. The humiliation has cut deep. He is now ready to use any weapon to bust up the whole convention. I predict that he will go over to the Prohibition party after the convention is over, unless he succeeds in breaking the administration slate.

BRYAN VS. BELL.

Tensely dramatic was the encounter between Bryan and Bell. In 1908 Bell was the keynote speaker at the Denver convention that nominated Bryan. But when Bell appeared before the Platform Committee this morning, Bryan gave him a vindictive glare and asked in his fiercest tones:

"Whom does the gentleman represent?"

"I represent the California Grape Growers' Association," replied Bell in equally hostile tones.

"I am fighting the damnable traffic you represent," declared Bryan in pompous tones. "How much do you receive for appearing for it here?"

Bell took the blow without wincing and responded in icy tones: "I ask the gentleman whether he is now, or has been in the pay of the Anti-Saloon League."

"I am not, nor have I ever been," snapped back Bryan.

Bell continued: "Not a nickel?"

This time Bryan faltered. "I did receive compensation for some speeches I delivered for the Anti-Saloon League last year," he said. "but that was all."

Bryan started to tell how long he has worked for the cause of prohibition without pay, but he was cut short, as Bell had the floor.

This encounter sent Bryan into the wet-and-dry fight with a bad start. Carter Glass took the side of Bell and it soon became apparent that Bryan and the bone drys are up against a combination of administration and wet forces.

The President doesn't want any reference to the Eighteenth Amendment in the platform. Finding they could not insert a wet plank, the liberals are supporting the administration.

McAdoo Support Held Under Cover, Says Hogue.

Union Labor Leaders File Their Demands.

BY S. FRED HOGUE,
"Times" Staff Special Editorial Writer.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Palmer is leading in the number of pledged or promised delegates; Cox is falling back. The Cabinet triumvirate is fighting to keep the McAdoo support under cover until the fourth ballot.

Tomorrow the nominating speeches will be made. Thursday the platform will be presented for adoption. Friday the balloting for President will begin. This program is crude. It is too obvious that the administration doesn't want the oratory to have any effect on the delegates.

McAdoo doesn't want to have any nominating speeches in his behalf. In order that the other candidates shall obtain no advantage, the platform fights have been interjected between the speeches and the balloting.

So far it has been a bush-league convention, with more errors than hits. I have told in another article how the members of the Committee on Resolutions were chased from their committee rooms. The Wilson forces are about as efficient in running a convention as they have been in running the government.

I saw Boss Murphy of Tammany for a few minutes this afternoon. There is a glitter of triumph in the Tiger's eye that sends chills down the backs of the Senate triumvirate. It may yet be good hunting of the Tiger before Saturday.

Some one has said, "When you miss the horse's mane do not try to grab him by the tail." My impression of the second day of the convention brings to my mind a picture of three Cabinet officers clinging to the tail of a mule.

PALMER FORCES WIN.

They missed his mane when they permitted the Committee on Resolutions to be mobbed today. If they escape his hoofs they will be the most fortunate of all men and women born. I'm betting my pile on the Mule.

There is nothing to report as far as the second keynote speech is concerned. It was only a rather lame repetition of the first.

The Palmer forces scored a distinct victory when Senator Robinson of Arkansas was made permanent chairman. He was one of the original Palmer men. A showdown came Saturday night when the Palmer men delivered the ultimatum, "Robinson or fight." Robinson won, and he is still for Palmer.

Looks as though the railroad brotherhoods and the American Federation of Labor had spilled some of the beans for McAdoo. Monday every delegate in the convention received an ultimatum from the brotherhoods and the Gompers crowd that they would bolt the ticket if Palmer was nominated.

CANDIDACY ELEVATED.

Replying to this ultimatum the Palmer boosters are featuring a recent declaration made by Senator Underwood on the floor of the Senate when the Attorney-General was attacked:

"His enemies are his country's enemies." That slogan has made the hit of the session with the delegates. It typifies all that the Attorney-General has done to protect American institutions from the assaults of radicalism.

BRYAN, MARSHALING A RETINUE OF BISHOPS AND STATISTICIANS, HURLS DEFI TO WETS.

BY EYEWITNESS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—"I would like to ask you whom you came here to represent?" said former Congressman Theodore A. Bell of San Francisco, turning to Mr. Bryan at this morning's session of the Committee on Resolutions.

With a resounding bark that made Bell vibrate, Bryan replied:

"I came here as a Democrat. I came as a defender of the homes of this land and the children of this land whom your traffic would slay. I want you to be just as open as we are. If you are here for pay you ought to tell them you are here as an attorney."

Bryan settled himself together physically in the manner of a lion that has made the spring and is satisfied with the distance covered. He also allowed silence, copious and tense, to settle upon the big committee-room, which was crowded to the window ledges.

Mr. Bell broke it by not unguilefully acknowledging that he had come to represent the California Grape Growers' Association, of which his father was a member, and he did not propose to have Bryan and his associates put his father in the criminal classes.

JOY IN GOOD FIGHT.

Bourke Cockran, who had been resting his chin upon his cane, looked up relishingly, his old eyes brightening with an Irishman's joy in a good fight.

Bell continued: "I would also like to ask, do you get a salary from the Anti-Saloon League?"

Not moving a muscle save those required for the delivery of the words, Bryan replied:

"None whatever, not a nickel."

"Not a nickel?" interjected Mr. Bell in a tone meant to admonish.

"For a period of four months," continued Mr. Bryan, so rapidly that Mr. Bell's interruption was lost save to the near-by listeners, "I received compensation for specific speeches. But for nine years I fought at my own cost the damnable traffic you represent."

Senator Carter Glass, wishful that all, including himself, should be handled with care, rapped for order, and in a soft and southerly drawl from the side of his mouth, deprecated intemperate speech.

Bell, who went to the Fifty-eighth Congress from the Second California District was the Democratic nominee for Governor of California in 1906 and 1910 and was temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention at Denver in 1908, subsided into his chair, rather pink about the ears, and Bryan resumed whispered, but emphatic conference with his retinue of bishops, statisticians and petition bearers.

All the morning Mr. Bryan was in fine fighting form, taking capacious bites out of everybody from the faltering Congressman Adolph Sabath of Chicago, to Senator Glass, chairman of the Resolutions Committee.

"Do you," asked the Congressman who is not expedious in parliamentary rough and tumble, "Do you —or— do you want to enforce —or— this impossible—of—enforcement Volstead law?"

BRYAN SHOOTS BACK.

Bryan, dispensing with "sir's" shot back: "We will favor enforcement instead of demoralisation."

Congressman Sabath resumed a sitting posture.

Another speaker got his head up long enough to ask whether Mr. Bryan proposed to indorse the Volstead Act in the Democratic platform.

Accurately measuring the distance, Bryan shied at the head this sentence: "We propose to indorse this law and not to run from it."

The head disappeared. He em-

His Famous Dry Smile.

ployed short sentences heavily ballasted. While he was announcing one of his dignitaries as representing such and such interests the question reached his ears: "Who do you represent?"

"I shall not speak now," he said. "I will speak later when the time is not so short, but I will say now that I represent 20,000,000 church members in the United States."

There was no more heckling along those lines.

The swift exchange of warm words between Mr. Bryan and Senator Glass grew out of the Senator's not very well-concealed disposition to take the proceedings over which he presided as merely an opportunity for zealots to blow off steam.

Concerning the allotment of time to their speakers, Bryan, addressing the chair and speaking with a manly solicitude for fair play that in anybody else would have seem sanctimonious, said: "The arrangement now proposed does not seem fair to the other side."

He paused, a look of honest solicitude in his big face—any way it seemed honest and the face was shining with the joy of conflict.

NEAR EDGE OF CRATER.

Bryan bore that—for the moment —but the Senator was skipping gearer to the edge of the crater than he thought.

"But they're not satisfied," said Chief Shining Face.

The Senator, almost giggling—if Senators ever giggle—then stepped over the edge by remarking with a condescension lightly touched with merriment: "It appears to the chair that as neither side proposes to reopen this liquor question as settled by Federal amendment, then nobody wants to talk on the question."

The crater opened and the roar was released.

In a voice that does not require to be raised to a shout in order to become terrific, Bryan said:

"This is no time for joking. We are here on a great question, and we propose to be heard. We will not be ruled out on a quibble."

The smile of facetiousness faded from the russet-apple features of Carter Glass and the apple turned very red.

The Senator's hot smiling, said:

"The chair was not quibbling. The chair resents the suggestion."

Though the chair was angry, the chair had manifestly felt the crash of some heavier force and did not like it.

The heavier force, meanwhile himself all in hand again—was rising to make a place for Mrs. Ellis A. Yost of the W.C.T.U. headquarters in Washington. He was smiling and nodding. He seemed oblivious of the chair.

Such is Bryan when he just begins to fight.

His next battle will be fought on a bigger stage—the floor of the convention. He promises it.

might detract from the League of Nations, and give a chance of nomination to some candidate that was not selected at the White House. But this has not proven true. Since his selection the Arkansas Senator has seen the light and his speech this afternoon was as near a recital from a carbon copy of the address which Chairman Cummings handed to the delegates yesterday as would be possible to construct.

FORGETS IRELAND.

Senator Robinson indulged in the popular pastime of criticising the platform adopted by the Republicans at Chicago. He made a strong plea for Armenia, but did not mention Ireland. He urged strong support for woman suffrage, but failed to say a word about the labor question, and finally he launched a personal attack on Warren G. Harding, quoting some things uttered by the Republican nominee which were not overly complimentary to Theodore Roosevelt. He digressed a little here, but was soon back on the same old track and confined his remarks entirely to the League and the "heart of the covenant." "Social justice" is the big thing here, and the fine part of it is none of the delegates know what it means, but they are for it because it sounds good and fits in with the movement to capture the ballots of the women voters.

DEBATE FORESTALLED.

The promised sensation of a debate on the floor when the Committee on Credentials reported was also stopped before it started. It was a well-known fact that the Georgia delegation in favor of Palmer was to be seated and no voice on the floor objected. It was also predicted that Senator "Jim" Reed of Missouri would be kicked out, thrown overboard, and otherwise abused, but it was said that no less a person than the great Commoner, William Jennings Bryan, would make an appeal in his behalf. But here again the roller worked and the Missouri Senator was sent to his political grave without a decent burial. No voice was raised in his behalf except a mild protest from Joseph B. Shannon, who was chosen to take his place. The defense made for the Senator was that he came from the strongest Democratic district in his State, but the funeral chimes started to ring when Hugo Asher, secretary of the Credentials Committee, retorted that he had been refused a seat on the floor of the convention because he was a "renegade Democrat."

The banishment of Reed, and the label pasted on his coffin, is now a matter of record to serve as a danger signal to other statesmen who may attempt to oppose the will of Wilson, and express in the Senate or elsewhere opinions which do not agree with the Chief Executive.

CANDIDATES SLIGHTED.

So much attention has been paid to just what might happen at the session of the Resolution Committee, and just what might, by mistake perhaps, get into the platform that not much attention has been paid today to the candidates. One or two little things have happened and the position of the three leaders may be changed a little, but in the main the situation remains the same.

The public indorsement of McAdoo by the railroad men given out last night has lost him some votes and in most instances this loss has added to the strength of Palmer. Cox still is a strong third with more votes in sight for Palmer tonight than for any other candidate.

Palmer's rapid gain over the week-end may also have something to do with the undoing of McAdoo. Friends of the President's son-in-law became frightened at the growing popularity of the Attorney-General and began to fire some of their biggest guns, which prudence prescribed should have been held behind and below the breastworks to be called into action at a more critical time. Efforts of these overzealous ones made it appear that the "Heir Apparent" might be nominated before the convention got into action and they begin producing badges, hat bands and other boosting material for their favorite.

TARGET OF ALL.

As the McAdoo boom grew the candidate was pushed more and more out into the open until he gained a lead position which had made him the target of all who are training in the race. Ed Geers, the greatest race horse driver who ever lived, said: "I never get away in the lead. It gets you nothing. You get the money for getting home, not getting away." And so it is here McAdoo may have made too good a get-away, and it is certain that what he has lost Palmer has gained. Palmer has the sympathy of the dry forces and the dry forces are in a majority.

The talk that the Cox crowd is in a position to deadlock the convention will not down, and while McAdoo and Palmer are fighting for the big vote on the first ballot, friends of the Ohio Governor gloat over the thought that neither can be nominated without their consent.

ORATORS TO BE SUPREME.

Interest will center tonight and tomorrow morning on the actions of the Resolutions Committee, which has hardly commenced its labors. When the convention opens tomorrow, the orators will have their day, and the various candidates will be presented to the convention. Nominating speeches will be limited to twenty and seconding addresses to five minutes. The time is short enough but the field is big and before the adjournment tomorrow night the delegates that stay until the end will hear the virtues sung of half the Democrats in public life.

It is probable that the Resolutions Committee will report Thursday and that the first ballot of the convention will be taken late Thursday afternoon or at the opening session Friday.

SAYS WOMEN CAN PLAY POLITICS

Dorothy Dix Declares Sex is Putting Over McAdoo Boom. Quotes Mrs. Funk, Who is Engineering His Candidacy.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Do women know how to play politics? I'll say they do. In witness whereof observe the McAdoo boom that grows hour by hour like Jack's beanstalk until already it almost reaches the heaven of the Presidential nomination and which said boom is entirely nurtured and fostered by women.

Mrs. Antoinette Funk, young, pretty, brilliant, a successful lawyer and no mean politician is mothering it and acts as hostess in a sort of unofficial McAdoo headquarters where tea and sandwiches and McAdoo propaganda are served out to a never ending throng of women who struggle with as much real heart interest for McAdoo badges as they ever put into a fight over a marked-down sale of silk stockings.

And women can do something more than merely sympathize with a candidate in this convention and the subsequent election; keep that little fact kindly in mind the men politicians are not forgetting it.

Mrs. Funk talks with scorn about the alleged mystery that is supposed to surround the McAdoo boom.

"That's got to be a slogan of those against us," she says. "Mystery! Stuff and nonsense, there's no mystery about it unless there is something mysterious and inconceivable in a man really and actually letting the office seek him instead of his seeking the office and that's McAdoo's position. He's human, he's ambitious, he would like to be President just as any other man in the world would like that exalted office, but he is a poor man and he has heavy family responsibilities and he doesn't feel that he should jeopardize the fate of those dependent upon him by becoming a candidate for the office. If the nomination is handed him on a silver salver, that's another story, and, of course, he wouldn't refuse it.

"But the mystery theory still persists. When I was called before the Senate committee which was investigating the various campaign funds, Senator Kenyon said to me, 'There seems to be a great mystery about the McAdoo boom. I can't lay my finger on it nor its funds.'

"'It's because your hand isn't large enough,' I replied, 'the McAdoo boom is as big as the hearts of the common people from which it springs and only the hand of God is large enough to cover it. As for the campaign fund it is only $150 so perhaps that's too little for you to find.'

"Mystery also has been made of Mrs. McAdoo's attitude towards her husband's candidacy, but that is simply that of any loving wife whose whole desire is for her husband to realize his ambitions and get what he wants of life. Mrs. McAdoo is a highly sensitive and very retiring woman and she has felt every barb aimed at her father more keenly if possible than he has. She saw her mother die in the White House, she has no personal desire to be the first lady of the land, she knows its penalties as well as its pleasures.

"But when Mr. McAdoo was about permitting his name to be used in the convention he and his wife and little children, who have a little girl of 4 and a boy 6 months old, Mrs. McAdoo said to him: 'Don't refuse because of me and my children because I would our living if need be, for I had me educated to be self-supporting and I can take care of myself and babies any day.'

"Still another mystery is the McAdoo boom that the press and papers have had much to say about is the fact that there is no organization and no campaign fund, but if he is nominated he will have the most wonderful campaign fund that the world has ever seen. The spring into being over night and it will have all the money it needs, for it will all be voluntary contributions spontaneously from the hearts of the people.

"You remember that when McAdoo retired from the Senate he said he did so because he could not afford to hold office any longer. Well then upon thousands of people who literally that he was in need of money and for months it rained dollars, dozen secretaries to open the letters and send back the money to the people who loved him and believed in him had sent.

"This money was mostly in small bills, but sometimes there was a $10 with a pathetic letter stating that it was a contribution from a whole family of working people.

"'Its that foundation of love that we will tap if McAdoo is nominated and that will float him into the White House. He's going to be the working man's and women's and the children's candidate.'

"Still another mystery about the McAdoo boom that the politicians and papers have had much to say about is the fact that we have no organization and no campaign fund, but if he is nominated you will see the most wonderful organization that the world has ever known spring into being over night and it will have all the money we need and it will all be voluntary, spontaneously from the hearts of the people.

"You remember that when McAdoo retired from the treasury he said he did so because he could not afford to hold the office any longer. Well there are thousands of people who literally that he was in need of money and for months it took a dozen secretaries to open the letters and send back the money that the people who loved him and believed in him had sent.

"This money was mostly in small bills, but sometimes there would be $10 with a pathetic letter, saying that it was a contribution from a whole family of working people.

"Is that foundation of love that we will tap if McAdoo is nominated and that will float him into the White House. He's going to be the working man's and woman's and the children's candidate."

CONSIDER PLANK ON RECLAMATION

Dockweiler Submits Resolution to Committee.

Covers Project to Develop Colorado River.

Doheny Declares Gist Will Get Into Platform.

BY S. FRED HOGUE,
"Times" Editorial Staff Writer.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Conservation of water power and the reclamation of 2,000,000 acres of fertile land in the great southwest, are embodied in one of the most important and constructive planks under consideration by the committee on resolutions.

Apparently, the Colorado River and the great basin through which it flows are finally to receive the consideration from the Federal government that their importance to the future development of the West justifies.

Isidore Dockweiler, National Committeeman from California, introduced tonight the Colorado River resolution. It has the support of every member of the resolutions committee from a western State, including Franklyn K. Lane and William J. Bryan.

The text of the resolution as submitted is as follows:

"We are deeply concerned with the many problems affecting the use and control of our streams. The nation must deal with these questions in a definite and conclusive way, if our running waters are to be wisely used for the reclamation of our arid lands, the generation of electric power and the protection of our farms and cities against floods. In no other way can so much wealth of the nature most needed by our country be created and conserved than by constructive action which will harness our streams in our country's service.

"To this policy we pledge ourselves, holding it foremost in our constructive program for the creation of useful wealth. With special sympathy, we regard the problems and possibilities of the Colorado River; under control it would no longer annually menace with destruction one of the most productive sections of the southwest, but instead, add power to the resources of five great States, equal to that used now in the operation of all their railroads and make fertile 2,000,000 acres of potentially rich land, largely unoccupied public land, and great in possibilities of service to our soldiers who so well served us."

While special sympathy is expressed for the great Colorado River project, the resolution is broad enough to cover all problems affecting the use and control of the great water courses of the nation. E. L. Doheny, member of the resolutions committee for California, expressed the opinion tonight that the gist of the resolution would be included in the Democratic platform. He said that no opposition had been voiced against it.

But for the fact that the President is trying to limit the platform to a single plank, the resolution would be certain of adoption.

HARDING MAKES INITIAL SPEECH.

Phonographic Records Made of His Utterances.

Nominee Takes Americanism as His Subject.

Gov. Coolidge Makes Record on Law and Order.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 29.—In the first speech of his campaign for the Presidency, Senator Harding today took "Americanism" as his text and made plain his eagerness to accept the Democratic challenge to make President Wilson's League of Nations the chief issue.

At the same time, Gov. Coolidge delivered the first speech of his campaign for the Vice-Presidency. His subject was "Law and Order." He spoke at his home in Northampton, Mass.

Both Senator Harding and his running mate spoke to millions of people. They talked into phonographs. The records will be available on July 4. The Republican National Committee is planning to aid in the distribution of the records to all parts of the country.

Senator Harding did not specifically mention the Treaty of Versailles but assailed all international contrivances which threaten to destroy American sovereignty.

"Let us hesitate," he said, "before we surrender the nationality which is the very soul of highest Americanism. This republic has never failed humanity nor endangered civilization. We have been tardy some times, like when we were proclaiming Democracy and neutrality while we ignored our national rights. But the ultimate and helpful part we played in the Great War will be the pride of America so long as the world recites the story.

SHUN NO DUTY.

"We do not mean to hold aloof, we choose no isolation, we shun no duty. I like to rejoice in an American conscience and in a big conception of our obligations to liberty, justice and civilization. Aye, and more, I like to think of Columbia's helping hand to new republics which are seeking the blessings portrayed in our example, but I have confidence in our America that requires no council of foreign powers to point the way of American duty.

"We wish to counsel, co-operate and contribute, but we arrogate to ourselves the keeping of the American continent and every concept of our moral obligation. It is fine to idealize, but it is very practical to make sure our own home is in perfect order before we attempt a miracle of world stabilization.

"Call it the selfishness of nationality if you will, I think it an inspiration to patriotic devotion—

"To safeguard America first.
"To stabilize America first.
"To think of America first.
"To exalt America first.
"To live for and revere America first.

"Let the Internationalists dream, and the Bolshevist destroy. God pity him or for whom no minstrel raptures swell.' In the spirit of the republic we proclaim Americanism and acclaim America."

Gov. Coolidge in his speech which was given out here for publication along with Senator Harding's declared for a revival of Abraham Lincoln's faith in the people.

"We need a broader, firmer, deeper faith in people—a faith that men desire to do right, that the government is founded upon a righteousness which will endure," said Gov. Coolidge.

"We are working toward the day when, in our industrial life, equal honor shall fall to equal endeavor. Duty is collective as well as personal.

"Law must rest on the eternal foundation of righteousness. Industry, thrift, character are not conferred by act or resolve. Government cannot relieve from toil. Do the day's work. If it be to protect the right of the weak, whoever objects, do it. If it be to help a powerful corporation better to serve the people, whatever the opposition, do that. Expect to be called a standpatter, but don't be a standpatter. Expect to be called a demagogue, but don't be a demagogue."

One of Senator Harding's visitors today was Stanley H. Howe of New York, director of the National Budget Committee. Howe informed the Senator that the Budget Committee is making an extensive study of the various Federal departments to prepare a bill for Congress to provide for curtailments of the multiplicity of government bureaus.

"You have a considerable job on your hands," Senator Harding told Howe. "Economy, as you know, is a part of my program."

Senator McNary of Oregon, chairman of the Senate Committee on Irrigation and Reclamation of Arid Lands, discussed briefly with Senator Harding the reclamation problem of the West, after the conference Senator McNary said:

"I am gratified and delighted that Senator Harding has such a thorough and comprehensive view of the problems of the West. I find him sympathetic to the underlying principles of reclamation, and the increasing productivity of the great areas of the Western States. Senator Harding also has sound and progressive views on good roads and all of the other agencies for the development and prosperity of rural communities everywhere, but particularly apropos to the West."

GRAIN MEN SEE TROUBLE AHEAD

district, as compared to eighteen million a year ago, and we are now borrowing twenty-one million from other reserve banks, where a year ago we were loaning twenty-five million to them. This is all due to the railroad situation. From appearances, the banks of the district will have to face the problem of carrying over loans from last year's crop while financing the coming crop."

Minneapolis terminal elevators have stored 7,000,000 bushels of wheat, sold and contracted for shipment, all of which is past due. The amount of grain stored in the hundreds of country elevators in Minnesota, North and South Dakota totals 26,000,000 bushels valued at $60,000,000, while there is still stored on farms in the same States, over 32,000,000 bushels valued at approximately $70,000,000.

Millers are unable to ship grain products, and flour has increased in price in the last five weeks, 9 and 3-10 per cent, with little chance of a halt in rapid increase.

This is the situation with winter wheat from the Southwest ready for shipment through here in two weeks. Rye and barley, the latter part of July, and spring wheat, August 15, owing to recent equalization of grain rates from the Southwest through here and Duluth, and the volume of winter wheat will be greater than ever, while means of handling it are at a standstill.

SITUATION UNPARALLELED.

W. P. Trickett, managing director of the Minneapolis Traffic Association, said with the car orders of Interstate Commerce Commission and the American Railway Association favoring this territory, expired, the situation is without parallel and that the 1919 crop cannot possibly be moved before the 1920 crop is ready for market. This, he said, will cause congestion which will cause a disrupted and disorganized market, the ultimate result of which it is impossible to predict.

"I estimate that 53,000 cars are needed to move the remainder of the crop," he said. "Approximately 11,000 of these are required to operate the mills and interior mills. Moreover the Northwestern lines must be given their own equipment. This is not a question for this territory alone; it affects every bread eater in the United States and, in fact, in the world, as much of the grain and grain products is for export."

The car receipts here during the past two months have been between 200 and 300 daily, while any one of the large mills needs this number for flour shipment alone. Restrictions have been placed on the wheat market, which reopens July 15, to prevent complete disruption and possible manipulation of the market. The amount to which any firm or individual may speculate is limited, and the Board of Control may close the market at any time after the opening, should conditions warrant. This is the first time such action has ever been taken.

Taking Big Chances.

It is too much of a risk to depend upon neighbors or sending for medicine in case of a sudden attack of bowel complaint. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from cholera morbus that could easily have been saved had the proper medicine been at hand. Then think of the suffering that must be endured until medicine can be obtained. The safe way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy, a preparation that can be depended upon. Buy it now. It only costs 35 cents.—[Advertisement.

COUNCIL OF LEAGUE MEETS IN BRUSSELS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, June 29.—The financial conference at Brussels will be held July 23, the Council of the League of Nations has decided. The results of the Spa conference regarding the method of reparations payments to be made by Germany will be previously made known to the Council of the League, which will refer them to the Brussels conference with its recommendations as to the emission of international loans for the regulation of exchange.

This is the first case in which the Council of the League has assumed an important initiative in international questions and its action is creating considerable interest.

SPEAKER'S BODYGUARD FACES CRIME CHARGE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO, June 29.—Albert Sherman of Petersburg, Mich., was arrested today charged with the killing of Walter Gilday of Erie, Mich., during a race riot Sunday at North Whiteford, Mich. He is alleged to have killed Gilday following an all-night meeting addressed by Louis J. King, who claims to be a former priest and devotes his time to speeches against the Catholic church.

Sherman, who was acting as temporary officer to guard King, against whom there was feeling, said he shot in self-defense.

Now there is united ac... the Chamber of Commerce, ... business interests, in... restaurant men, building ... real estate board and ... men, all represented at ... a meeting whereat the light was ... from tallow candles. The city was in darkness, not an electric fan was running in the hospitals, offices or homes, there was no light or power for the Southern Pacific's great shops or for the printing offices, pumping had been suspended at the water works and no water remained in the standpipes, for home uses, sewerage necessities or for fighting fire, and pumping had been suspended necessarily in the irrigation of thousands of acres of cotton and foodstuffs in the nearby valley.

STRIKE RESPONSIBLE.

All this had been brought about by a strike of a half dozen engineers and electricians, indorsed by the Central Labor Council, because the management of the local lighting and power utilities had refused to knuckle down to union control. There had been allowance of the wage scale, but not of the closed shop. Late at night, following the candle-lit meeting at the Chamber of Commerce there was a movement to the electric power house. There was found a single engineer, Robert Orme, who, needing only the backing received, single-handed again started the machinery and saved the city from disaster. More engineers have been found and there even may be resort to the engineering students of the university.

The open shop movement is to embrace all industries, not the building trades alone, as in Phoenix. On the agreement already are hundreds of signatures and thousands of dollars have been subscribed to back it up. Formal resolutions recite that "the open shop principle will benefit the city in every particular and that the present closed shop system has proved a detriment to our progress."

RAIN AHEAD OF TIME.

The summer rains are starting in Southern Arizona about two weeks ahead of time, much to the joy of the cattlemen and to the dismay of the melon growers, whose shipping season is about starting. The range has been fairly good thus far and now the filling of the water holes will allow a much wider range of grazing and will start grass anew.

LUNCHEON CLUB.

The Luncheon Club, whereat have been discussed, for years past, all civic improvements that have come to Tucson, has terminated its organization and has merged with the Chamber of Commerce, as a section of the larger body.

There has been discovery that the Tucson High School really has no legal existence, save as a part of the district common school system. This fact developed when there was discussion of the raising of $355,000 for common and high school needs. There now is to be formed a high school district and a bond issue will be asked of the electors for needed buildings.

CHILDREN BURN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

JEROME, June 29.—Two children met death in the burning of the home of Balacrino Silva, near the Extension shaft, the blaze apparently starting in the explosion of the reservoir of an oil stove. With a flood of water behind him, Supt. Nicholson of the Extension led a rescuing party into the house and found the children behind a trunk, one almost dead and the other dying, both horribly burned. One was Mercedes Silva and the other her playmate, Amelia Soto, each aged about 6. The children had been left alone, though for only a short time.

PACIFIC STEAMSHIP RATE RISE WANTED.

COMPANIES SAY THAT HIGHER FREIGHT TARIFFS NEEDED TO CONTINUE LINES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Coastwise steamship companies of the Pacific petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission today for advances in freight rates equivalent to those asked by railroads of the west and south. Western roads are seeking an increase of 24 per cent and southern roads 31 per cent.

The petition presented by the Pacific Steamship Company and the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Company declares that at existing rates their business is conducted at a loss by reason of unprecedented expenses of operation.

No means of increasing net revenues are available, the petition declares, except through an increase of freight rates, as passenger rates are as high as competitive conditions will permit.

NEW RECORD MADE IN PARACHUTE JUMP.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DAYTON, June 29.—Bottrielle of McCook Field today made a parachute descent of what was said to be 19,500 feet, believed to be a new record. The plane, piloted by Serer. Madan, climbed to an altitude marked by the indicator as 19,500 feet, it was stated.

Bottrielle climbed out on the fuselage to make his jump. The wind caught the parachute and pulled him through the tail of the machine, tearing off the rudder. He bruised the muscles of his arm and strained the ligaments. He landed near Germantown, ten miles west of here, with his parachute rinped where it had been in contact with the tail wires of the plane. The plane landed safely.

Collar Prices Coming Down.

TROY, June 29.—The price of collars will be reduced immediately from thirty to twenty-five cents each, Cluett, Peabody and Company, and George P. Ide and Company, announced today.

What do you know about the water you drink?

In view of the false, misleading and sometimes dangerous printed matter which has been recently distributed throughout the city concerning drinking water, the manufacturers and purveyors of Puritas Distilled Water submit for your serious consideration the following authoritative scientific facts:

What Is Water?

WATER is a true physiological food; it is a prime necessity of life, and it is the universal medium in and through which the processes of life occur, and the products of vital action are removed.

The human organism requires for proper functioning not less than six to eight glasses of water daily, in addition to the water derived from our food.

Now if these postulates be true, and science tells us they are, then the quality of the water we drink is of the greatest importance.

Source of Water

The source of all underground water which rises in the form of springs, or is obtained by sinking wells, is the rain which falls upon the surface of the earth (a few exceptions to this statement being the springs found in various sections of the country due to volcanic action, and a few inclusions of ocean water in sedimentary rock.) In its passage through the ground, this water may travel long distances, and may come in contact with soluble minerals which will be carried along with it, completely altering its composition when it emerges.

As soon as water comes in contact with the surface of the earth it is changed. Where before it had been practically pure, it is now contaminated with Soil Bacteria, and it also takes up various soluble elements in the soil. If it travels some distance under the surface before it finds an outlet, it may take on varying characteristics, depending upon the kind of geologic strata it has traversed.

What Is Pure Water?

Absolutely pure water is never found in nature, and is difficult to obtain even in the laboratory. It is essential in distilling water to conduct the operation with special care, in order to get absolutely pure water.

The term "pure water" may have various meanings, depending upon the purpose for which it is to be used.

Water may be chemically pure when it contains no substances which would interfere with chemical reactions. It is bacteriologically pure when it contains no bacteria capable of setting up diseased conditions when taken into the system, regardless of its chemical composition. It is pure from a sanitary point of view when it contains no evidences of pollution from the wastes of man or animals. It may be considered pure by the engineer when it contains no lime or salt to form boiler scale, or organic matter in sufficient amount to cause foaming.

So we see that when a "Pure Water" is spoken of, its use, whether for chemical, bacteriological, sanitary or individual purposes, must be borne in mind.

Is Mineral Spring Water Pure?

The term "mineral water," as used here, comprises all natural waters sold in bottles or used at resorts for drinking, bathing or other medicinal purposes.

It is really amazing the number of theories concerning the drinking of mineralized waters which have been imposed upon the public and accepted by many, which, when sifted through the meshes of modern science, are found to be utterly fallacious.

It is claimed by some that mineral waters supply the required salts which the system demands, or that the waters possess rarely miraculous combinations of health-giving ingredients. This, without knowing you or the particular demands of your system.

Let's See What Science Teaches?

The human body is composed of many elements—carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, phosphorous, sulphur, chlorine, flourine, silicon, potassium, sodium, lithium, calcium, magnesium, manganese and iron.

Every one of these constituents of the human body has its particular office to perform.

The human body is a marvelous machine—a wonderful laboratory—but the wisdom of Nature could not have foreseen and cannot guard against the breaking of many of her laws, made necessary by the requirements of what is called civilization.

Life is a definite combination of changes, both simultaneous and successive, and this "definite combination" plays a very important part in the economy of nature and in the smooth running of the human machinery. Some persons lack one element, some another. Some need more iron, some more sand.

How to Restore Normal Balance

It is an absolute fact, demonstrated by recognized scientific investigation, that no inorganic element can, in any way, be assimilated by the system and converted into the various tissues and structures of the body. Therefore, if you need iron in the blood, get it from the food you eat, and from which it will be readily absorbed and assimilated.

Iron is a very essential element in the composition of the blood, but it should be obtained from Nature's storehouse, as in inorganic form it cannot be appropriated by Nature's laboratory.

It is from the naturally organized foods—and not from a bottle of "pure" spring water—that you should obtain the salts that the system requires to strengthen the nerves, stimulate the liver, clear the complexion, and give you all that is needed for the proper functioning of your system.

Dangers That Lurk in Mineralized Water

The use at home of mineral table waters, as they are usually taken, without medical supervision or advice, is extremely dangerous.

Mineral waters should never be regarded as beverages, but as medicines, and their use should be restricted to the therapeutic indications that their chemical analysis might possibly justify.

Persons inclined to Gout, Rheumatism, Gall Stones and High Blood Pressure should refrain from waters with mineral content.

Persons with digestive disturbances are only adding to their troubles by using any kind of mineral waters, except on the advice of competent medical authority.

Mineral waters cannot be taken indefinitely without risk of modifying the blood pressure, injuring the kidneys and favoring the production of calculi (stone.)

Distilled Water

Distilled Water is positively the best and safest water to drink.

The mineral elements contained in mineral waters are not utilized by the system; and those minerals necessary for your system are all to be found in your foods, from which source they are assimilated and immediately made valuable.

The chemical analysis of a mineral water furnishes you no immunity against the micro-organisms that it may contain.

The mineral content in mineral waters varies from time to time and its use should always be under medical direction.

Distilled Water is the usual aqueous beverage of chemists, laboratory workers and scientific men throughout the world.

It is pure chemically and microscopically, and never has there been a charge against it maintained.

Puritas Distilled Water meets every requirement for a pure drinking water. It is produced in a thoroughly scientific manner by the most modern and approved methods. It is carefully distilled, aerated and oxygenated, making it absolutely pure chemically and bacteriologically as well as palatable to the taste. Furthermore, it is bottled and delivered to your home in sealed containers. By this sanitary method of handling it is practically impossible for Puritas Water to become contaminated in any way.

Puritas Water is recommended and indorsed by physicians and scientists, and its use has been advised by leading household economists. You can obtain Puritas Distilled Water and the free use of a Puritas Iceless Cooler by telephoning Main 8191 or 10053, or if in Pasadena, Fair Oaks 947.

ROBINSON, PERMANENT CHAIRMAN, DECLARES REPUBLICAN PLATFORM ALL RIGHT, EXCEPT THAT IT IS A JUMBLE OF INCONSISTENCIES.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Senator Robinson of Arkansas, permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention, in his speech today assailed the Republican party for its Chicago platform, for the disclosures of large sums of money in preconvention contests, and particularly attacked the Republican Senators who fought the ratification of the peace treaty with the League of Nations covenant.

"Tested by every standard which voters usually apply," said he, "the Democratic party is entitled to victory in the coming campaign. Comparison of the Democratic and Republican records, contrasts of political policies and of party leadership justifies the belief that the Republican party will be driven from power in both branches of Congress and that complete control of the government will be restored to the Democratic party in the November elections, because that party has earned the public confidence.

"The Republican platform adopted at Chicago is an amazing jumble of ambiguities, inconsistencies, evasions, misrepresentations, straddles and slanders. It is disingenuously unfair in charging upon the Democratic administration all responsibility for military unpreparedness. Every one knows that the Republican party controlled the government for a long period prior to the inauguration of President Wilson.

"When the Democratic party went into power, March 4, 1913, both the army and navy were far below the authorized number. If criticism of the prewar national policy as to military preparedness is justified, the censure must fall upon the Republican party.

VEXATIOUS TAXES.

"The plank in the Republican platform respecting taxation is manifestly insincere. They promised no substantial relief from the exacting tax burdens necessarily imposed during the war. There are many vexatious taxes that should now be repealed that the war is over. The big joker in that amazing document is the plank in the Republican platform concerning profiteering:

"We condemn the Democratic administration for failure impartially to enforce the antiprofiteering laws enacted by the Republican party.

"Who will be deceived by this absurd pretense? The Republican Congress enacted no antiprofiteering laws. The amendments to the Food Control Act were suggested by the President and supported by the Democrats in Congress. The President recommended four additional measures to prevent and penalize profiteering.

"All these measures were pigeonholed. Nothing was proposed by the Republicans in place of them. Is the Democratic administration to be denounced for failing to enforce measures which the Republicans refused to pass?

SIGNIFICANT OMISSION.

"Perhaps the most significant omission from the Republican platform is in respect to the excessive use of money in Federal elections. In spite of the general indignation aroused by the expenditure of more than $1,500,000 in behalf of Gen. Wood and almost a million dollars in behalf of Gov. Lowden and the nomination of a dark horse as the result, no mention of the subject is found in the Chicago platform.

"The November election, however, will demonstrate the fact that the Presidency cannot be auctioned. It has been said that partisanship ceases at the water's edge. The political record of the last few months belies this declaration. The Republican party in the Senate and in its recent convention presents to the world the humiliating spectacle of discordant and conflicting factions seeking to discredit the President in his efforts to maintain the respect and confidence of our Allies.

Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas.

"The Chicago platform declares that the policy of the Wilson administration towards Mexico is responsible for the loss of lives and property resulting to American citizens in Mexico. Nevertheless, the provisions of that platform regarding Mexico are ambiguous and indefinite.

"Does the plank in the Republican platform on Mexico mean that if the property or lives of American citizens in Mexico are hereafter endangered this government will make war on Mexico and establish a protectorate? A protectorate? Why was the convention not frank enough to announce a definite policy? Why was its meaning concealed in a multiplicity of ambiguous words?

"The President is condemned for asking authority of Congress to exercise a mandate for Armenia. It never has been contemplated by any one that the United States should assume that responsibility without first prescribing the terms and conditions of the mandate. It would not be difficult for the United States to so safeguard its responsibilities as to proceed with the united support of England, France, Italy and Japan, as well as every other member of the League.

"The mandate may readily be made self-sustaining. Why then should the President's request be treated as audacious? The Republican party would deny any encouragement or assistance to Armenia and would force a protectorate on Mexico. They are deaf to the appeal of the oppressed, but as always they are sensitive to the call of wealth. They are unwilling to incur expense or danger to protect millions of God-fearing Christians from massacre, but they are anxious to invade a foreign land for the protection of property rights.

CHAMPIONED LEAGUE.

"Great Republican leaders, including Mr. Lodge and Mr. Roosevelt, in public addresses prior to the war, championed the establishment of a League of Nations. They anticipated and answered with irresistible logic the very arguments they now advance against the League.

"The plain fact is that the enemies of the League dictated the policy of the majority in the Senate and controlled the platform declaration at Chicago. While the League plank in the Chicago platform is full of ambiguities it is an indorsement of the position of the irreconcilables and a repudiation of the Lodge reservations. The League plank is not frank. The convention should have displayed the courage clearly to declare its policy, but the Chicago convention was frank on only one subject—in singing a hymn of hate for the President.

"The chief issue is whether the United States shall contract with other nations to prevent unnecessary wars; whether the waste and sacrifices of unjustifiable conflicts shall be superceded by orderly tribunals for the settlement of disputes among nations. If the Republicans win, the small nations which obtain their independence through association in the war with the Allies will be overcome by their recent enemies and Europe quickly will collapse into its pre-war condition of oppression and threatened anarchy. Our country will incur the distrust and contempt of her former Allies and our people will earn a reputation for selfishness and irresponsibility, which will require centuries to counteract.

"If this war ends and the Allies go their separate ways without substituting justice for force in the settlement of international disputes, the generations to come will be born to a heritage of wastefulness and bloodshed. The world wants and must have some substantial advance, some compensation for what it lost and suffered in the war.

"If the delegates in this convention do their duty as our soldiers have done theirs, the voters of the nation will not fail them. If we make this issue boldly we will win.

"Will the women of America, who gave their men to our uniform prove indifferent to the cause of forever rendering impossible the recurrence of such a struggle as the war just ended? It is profoundly significant that the movements for woman suffrage and for the prevention of needless wars proceed simultaneously.

"The immediate ratification of the equal suffrage amendment will assure victory for the Democratic party on a platform favoring the ratification of the treaty without destructive reservations. The women of America stand for peace and against war.

"Never before has a nation-wide political battle been waged in the cause of international justice, humanity and peace. The opposition has taken low and untenable ground. Let the Democratic party occupy the heights. Never again will any great political party in America openly invite disaster by trifling with great problems."

INTERCHURCH MOVE TO BE ABANDONED.

MANY REASONS BACK OF DECISION, AND "FRIENDS" FAIL TO CONTRIBUTE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—The billion-dollar campaign of the Interchurch World Movement has been abandoned, it has been announced, following a meeting of the Executive Committee. The entire project may end July 6, it was said, when the general committee will meet to consider what steps, if any, will be taken to carry on the other aspects of the campaign.

Several reasons were back of the decision, the committee stated, the principal one being the present prevalence of "drives of various kinds," which are being carried on throughout the country.

The withdrawal of the Baptist Church, North, and the Presbyterian Church, North, also were said to be important factors in the decision to give up the campaign. Originally the Interchurch World Movement proposed to direct the raising of $1,336,124,651 for the work at home and abroad of the fifty-eight boards and societies which became parties to the movement. For the first year, 1920, the budget called for $336,777,572, which was to be raised by a drive, closely patterned after Liberty Loan methods, between April 21 and May 26, last.

The first drive netted only $176,000,000, the expected $40,000,000 contribution by "friends" failing to materialize, according to a report made to the General Committee. It was from those "friends" that the general expenses of the movement were to be defrayed, so that the subscriptions for specific purposes might remain intact.

PASSENGERS IN PANIC IN NEW YORK SUBWAY.

BRAKE SHOE COMES IN CONTACT WITH THIRD RAIL; NONE SERIOUSLY HURT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—Passengers in a crowded subway train last night smashed windows and trampled each other in an effort to leave the train when a brake shoe fell from beneath the rear car at the Canal-street station and came in contact with the third rail. None was injured seriously, but several were treated by ambulance surgeons for cuts, bruises and shock.

The train stopped abruptly with a terrific crash, which was followed by darkness as a fuse blew out. The explosion-like report shook the station, scattering money in the change booths and caused attendants to spread an alarm of a tunnel collision. Police reserves and ambulances were sent to the scene.

Because of the darkness, the frightened passengers were unaware that the station platform had been reached. A wild scramble to get out of the coaches resulted.

VERA CRUZ PLAGUE CASES DECREASE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

VERA CRUZ, June 29.—During the past week only four cases of bubonic plague have been reported. There are eight cases at present in the hospital here. Of those previously affected with the disease four have died and two have recovered.

The navigation companies, both American and European, have decided to renew their services to this port in view of the fact that the epidemic appears completely under control.

Mission Knit Hosiery

Possessed with a deep-rooted conviction that the Pacific Coast States could and would support a native industry in the manufacture of high-grade lisle and silk lisle hosiery, the Mission Hosiery Mills—a Los Angeles industry—was organized in 1919 by A. H. Wittenberg.

Operating its own knitting and dyeing plants, it has the distinction of being the only hosiery mill on the entire Pacific Coast, with its products already having wide distribution throughout the Rocky Mountain Slope.

Production increase of 100% in less than a year, with the possibility of a far greater demand for 1921, makes necessary the installation of additional knitting and dyeing machinery of the most improved types.

The benefits of co-operative service is amply proved in the remarkable progress of this recent acquisition to Los Angeles' growing industries.

Employing Weber Office Equipment, the giving of this service is amplified and simplified to a most satisfying degree.

McADOO BOOM SMOKE SCREEN.

President Avowed Candidate Still, Says Armstrong.

Rides Through Street for Complete Inspection.

Vindication, Through Nomination, is Urged.

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The McAdoo boom for the Presidency is a smoke screen for Wilson, according to the view of the leaders here in Washington. Wilson is, and has been, an avowed candidate for weeks, and the friends of McAdoo and Palmer knew this when they went into the campaign. Wilson has sent out the word all along the line that his administration must have an unqualified indorsement at the San Francisco convention.

On what is regarded as good authority here the statement is made that the delegates are being urged to give Wilson a renomination as the most complete and sincere approval of his administration. In some places where sentiment is against Wilson it is reported that the plea is being made that Wilson at least should be complimented with the nomination, and then if he does not want to accept it, he will at least have his vindication.

CANDIDATES DISTURBED.

There is a feeling, however, that if he should secure the nomination he will insist on keeping it. That is disturbing some of the other candidates.

President Wilson has been taking longer rides and driving much slower than usual, so that pedestrians and others would have no difficulty in seeing him at side ranges and long enough to take in his appearance in detail. This evening he drove around the outside drives between the White House and the Treasury and through several others of the downtown streets near the White House, and appeared to be inviting inspection.

He sat bolt upright in the rear seat of the open touring car by the side of Mrs. Wilson and seemed to be somewhat fleshier than formerly. In spite of his good color and improved appearance, he was rigid and apparently immobile—in fact, resembled a lay figure.

RISE OF BOOMS LIKE SEA TIDES.

three-color treatment is reminiscent of the best work of the man who used to stripe band-wagon wheels for Ringling Bros.

As I say, many went to hear the burning words of the Silver Tongues—of the words burning freely and others with a delayed fuse—but I preferred to roam the floor and study the expressions upon the faces of the delegates from New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts as the conviction that the convention would either adopt a dry plank or ignore the prohibition issue altogether became firmly fixed in their minds. In my mind's eye I could see a Tammany district leader returning next week to his once happy home on the teeming East Side and meeting a constituent who will say to him:

"Well, Larry, did you Dimmycrats vote to let me have a saucer of beer wit' me dinner?" And the leader will say: "No, Tim, but we came out very strongly on the subject of foreign relations." And in the same breath will start calling for the police.

These be the halcyon days in the Democratic household—if you only pronounce the first syllable of "halcyon" to rhyme with "yell."

DEADLOCKED ON IRISH RAILWAYS

Policy of Government and Men Hamper Traffic.

Both Sides Refuse to Alter Present Positions.

Impossible to Move Troop and Munition Trains.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DUBLIN, June 29.—Creeping paralysis is liable to attack the railroads of Ireland, if the present policy of both government and railroad men continues. The men refuse to carry munitions, armed soldiers or police, while the government insists they shall.

"It would be abdication of all government," a leading official of the government said today, "if we allowed railroad men to pick and choose the kind of traffic they will carry. We must insist on instant discharge of every man who refuses to run a train and, if this results in a general strike, well, we must fight it out to the end."

Tom Johnson, Irish labor boss, said there would be no strike.

"Our men are instructed to refuse to handle munitions or armed men," Johnson said. "We have no objection to carrying unarmed soldiers or police. If the men are discharged, we take care of them. Our comrades are instructed on no account to go on a sympathetic strike. Just now the government is putting troops in passenger trains as a test and a number of trains have been held up in consequence. This simply is using the public as a screen for troops and we won't have it. The government has got all the transport it needs to move its troops by road. We can last as long as they can."

Meantime the railway system is much disorganized. The northern lines are running normally, but few trains reached Dublin yesterday from the west or south. This is due to abandonment of trains entered by troops, but the men now are allowed to put the troop trains on sidings so as to clear the line and traffic ought not to be seriously interrupted unless the government decides to make a test of placing troops on all trains.

WOMEN ARE AGAINST BURLESON.

Arrival of Postmaster-General to Help "Put McAdoo Over" Not Pleasing to Feminine Contingent—Single Standard Plank Discussed by Delegates.

BY LEOLA ALLARD.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The arrival of Postmaster-General Burleson did not bring any happy thoughts in the minds of the women who want Mr. William Gibbs McAdoo for the next President. Women members of the national committee, just before the day's session of the convention opened, made the statement:

"We thought of sending Mr. McAdoo a telegram today asking him to, promise us the removal of Mr. Burleson if we help to elect him."

Besides the feminine prejudice to Burleson, who comes along to help them put Mr. McAdoo over, a Colorado woman announced that if it is true that P. G. Bonfils of Denver is financing Mr. McAdoo, that fact will not do him any good in Colorado. "Don't say anything more about that Bonfils thing," she added.

The report that Mrs. McAdoo is in hysterics over the prospect of giving her husband to her country to suffer as has her father was the subject of much conversation on the convention platform among the women who are not unsympathetic, but who declared as one woman:

HIS COUNTRY FIRST.

"His country comes first, and, while we know how his wife feels about it, it is not his wife we are thinking of. We believe the country needs her husband and we are willing to sacrifice him on the altar of duty. We got word last night that the McAdoo boom is throwing Mrs. McAdoo into hysterics."

Dr. Rachel Yarres, supervisor of education for women in the social service division, Illinois State Department of Health, arrived today and began to talk about the single standard plank that William Jennings Bryan and the League of Women Voters both advocate.

"There is no chance of enforcing such a reform," said Dr. Yarres, "but it is more important than either the Irish question or prohibition. The influence of such a plank is what we need, even if the enforcement is impossible.

"Since the war women are put into detention homes for physical examination, but the men are not, though the law provides that they both be looked after. What we need is to influence public opinion in these matters."

It is understood that Miss Elizabeth Marbury, member of the Executive Committee and delegate-at-large from New York, will succeed Mrs. J. Sherwin Crosby on the National Committee; also, that Mrs. Gene Johnson, delegate-at-large from Texas, whose husband is a delegate, will succeed Mrs. Percy Pennybacker.

OBREGON FACES CRIME CHARGE.

Daughter of Slain President Carranza Speaks.

Innocent Ones Will be Murdered, She States.

Prays for the Salvation of Her Country.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN ANTONIO, June 29.—Declaring that Rodolfo Herrero was only an instrument, and that upon Gen. Alvaro Obregon rests the responsibility for the death of her father, Miss Julia Carranza, daughter of the late President Venustiano Carranza, in a statement published here today, states that when a duly constituted government is set up in her country and "when justice is not administered by bloodstained hands, I will present before the courts all the proof that is necessary and demand the punishment of those responsible for the death of my father."

Miss Carranza slipped quietly across the Rio Grande at Laredo several days ago and came directly to San Antonio, where she denied herself to newspaper men and absolutely refused to discuss recent events in Mexico.

In her statement Miss Carranza states that she is impelled to break her silence by the many misleading reports that have been published both in Mexico and this country concerning the manner of her father's death, and because that by reason of fear which exists in her country there is none to protest this dreadful outrage, and that those now in power "not satisfied with having taken his life, now wish to profane him after death."

REALIZES CONSEQUENCES.

Miss Carranza says that in making the statement she realizes that her action will not only further prejudice her in the eyes of those now in control in Mexico, but will bring down the wrath of the de facto government on the heads of the "few friends who remained loyal to my father to the last moment."

Declaring that while still in Mexico City she received information that an extraordinary court-martial would be formed to try those who were with her father when he was killed on a charge of complicity in his death, she says she laid aside her grief and humbled her pride and sought an audience with President De la Huerta in order to plead for the lives of "the group of honorable men" and asked that they be not assassinated as her father had been. She says she found De la Huerta at Chapultepec, who received her, expressing regret that "I had not advised him of my desire to interview him and he would have gone to my house."

"OBREGON RESPONSIBLE."

President De la Huerta, the statement says, assured her that he was making every effort to bring those actually responsible for President Carranza's death to justice, and that the prisoners would not be punished unless they were guilty.

"You cannot judge or punish those really responsible for the assassination of my father, I replied," the statement continued, "as the crime is on you. Alvaro Obregon is the one responsible for the death of my father."

In support of this contention, the statement declares "Herrero walks the streets of Mexico City and lives at an expensive hotel, visiting the theaters and other public places with the men implicated in the revolution, while Gen. Francisco Murguia and other chieftains, who in obedience to their duty, accompanied my father, are held in prison against all human and moral law, and threatened with death for knowing how to be soldiers of honor."

These loyal followers of President Carranza, the statement says, are still prisoners at the Santiago Ilolio military prison, and that soon Gen. Murguia and the rest of them will be found dead and the false version that they attempted to escape or committed suicide will be officially announced to explain their end. The statement closes with an expression of thanks to the people of Mexico for the "demonstration of love at the funeral of my father," and the sympathy shown her by the diplomatic corps in her days of sorrow and closes with the plea:

"I beg that God saves my country."

Seamen Act on Age Limit.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENOA, June 29.—The International Congress of Seamen today voted sixty-nine to eleven, to place in the agenda for the next conference the proposal that no seaman under 18 years of age may be employed as a trimmer or stoker on a vessel. The conference also voted, fifty-two to twenty-eight, that no person under 17 years of age may be employed on night watches on vessels between 8 in the evening and 6 o'clock in the morning." This proposal, however, cannot be placed in the agenda for their next conference because of the rule requiring a two-thirds vote.

SILENT COUPLE IN DIVORCE SUIT

Religion and "Other Woman" Named as the Cause.

Man and Wife Haven't Exchanged Words in Years.

Live in Same House Together; Communication by Notes.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—Filing a suit for absolute divorce means nothing in the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hincken of Camden, who have lived together for three years without speaking to each other. The "silent" couple had breakfast together without exchanging words this morning and apparently will continue as before until the suit of Mrs. Hincken is ruled upon.

"A woman in the case," and not religion, is the cause for the divorce suit filed yesterday, Mrs. Hincken said today. Her husband described his wife's religious temperamentality as the cause.

TELLS HER STORY.

Mrs. Hincken, a motherly appearing woman, with frank open face and silver-colored hair, told her side of the story in the little rose-bowered corner home at 116 North Thirty-ninth street.

"My husband and I were married in 1903," she said, "and lived happily, despite the general run of marital arguments, until that woman came into our lives.

"That was late in 1916. I first noticed the change when I returned home from the hospital after a serious operation. Henry, my husband, did not stay at home with me that night. Then I discovered what was going on. Shortly after that we ceased talking to each other. I continued to prepare his meals for him, mend his clothing and do the other work of a wife. Our silence has virtually been continuous, broken only a few times when I endeavored to renew communication but was ignored by his assumption of a stoic-like attitude.

WORST ORDEAL.

"The worst ordeal is at meal time. We eat together. I try to carry on conversation and chat with the children, but Henry even ignores them. It is really for their sake that I began a divorce suit. During our uncanny silence we have exchanged some notes. They were written solely for household business purposes and nothing personal ever entered into them.

"That was terrible and it was almost unbearable to go out with the children and see my husband and their father walking along and apparently having a good time with the other woman.

"Why, at times, I have seen her husband with them. And the first time I knew he had an automobile was when I saw her riding by his side. He had had it about six months then. He says it was my religion that caused the estrangement. It was not. When we married we were Baptists. In 1913 I became a Bible student, but that never caused any complications.

LOVES CHILDREN.

"The silence was a test of my faith in Christianity and I came through unscathed. I love our children and love our little home here and won't give them up. We have been happy here and I hope to regain that happiness."

The Hinckens have two children, Albert, 14 years, and Elizabeth, 12 years. Their shame at their family life caused her to institute the suit. Mrs. Hincken said. Mr. and Mrs. Hincken have separate rooms. He did not come home for dinner last night after being notified of the suit, but arrived home later and had breakfast in silence with the family today.

WORK TO SAVE JOBS OF NAVAL EMPLOYEES.

CIVIL SERVICE REQUESTED TO RETAIN CLERKS AT MARE ISLAND.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

VALLEJO, June 29.—The local branch of the Federal Employees' Union today acted in an effort to save the jobs of the 130 clerical employees of the Mare Island Navy Yard, who are due to be laid off July 1, because of the failure of Congress to appropriate sufficient funds for their wages. It was said here that is would be the first time civil service employees lost positions except through their own inefficiency or misconduct.

Request has been made to the paymaster-general of the navy and to the Civil Service Commission, that an arrangement be made whereby the clerical workers could retain their positions and be carried on the navy pay rolls as special laborers. Luther C. Steward, president of the union, was asked to intercede with President Wilson and if possible secure an executive order for the retention of employees to be released.

LIFT OFF CORNS!

Doesn't hurt a bit and costs only a few cents

Magic! Just drop a little Freezone on that touchy corn, instantly it stops aching, then you lift the corn off with the fingers. Truly! No humbug!

Try Freezone! Your druggist sells a tiny bottle for a few cents, sufficient to rid your feet of every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and calluses, without one particle of pain, soreness or irritation. Freezone is the discovery of a noted Cincinnati genius. —[Advertisement.

It has established a revolving fund to help children of ex-service men get an education.

NONSUIT DENIED.

When the plaintiff rested yesterday in the case of William S. Hart, motion-picture actor, against Thomas H. Ince, producer, a motion for a nonsuit was filed by Hunsaker, Britt and Cosgrove, representing the defendant, and was argued before Judge Works. The motion was denied by the court and the defendant will begin the presentation of his case today. Mr. Hart is suing Mr. Ince for $100,000 to inforce the terms of a contract between them and for settlement under the contract.

CHAPTER TAKES PLACE OF MASTER BUILDERS.

OLD ORGANIZATION ABSORBED BY ASSOCIATED GENERAL CONTRACTORS.

After an active career lasting over a period of twenty-six years, in which the city has enjoyed its greatest growth, the Master Builders' Association, consisting of the city's foremost building contractors, passed out of existence last night with the institution of the Los Angeles chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, at a banquet in the Roma Cafe.

Officers of the new organization are: Arthur S. Bent, president; C. L. Peck, vice-president; J. P. Hall, treasurer; George A. Rogers, secretary. Brook Hawkins of the Winter Construction Company, who was president of the Master Builders' Association, acted as toastmaster. He called upon C. L. Peck and J. P. Hall, past presidents, for a few parting words. Mr. Hall declared that as president of the association for thirteen years and a member of it from its beginning, he welcomed a transformation for a greater work.

J. J. Backus, chief building inspector of the city for sixteen years, defended his position and declared he stood at all times for high-class construction, pointing out that the recent earthquake proved the wisdom of his policy. In reviewing a mass of building permit figures dating from 1900, he pointed out that, while the permits that year were valued at $2,919,000, they jumped to $15,000,000 in 1910, $21,000,000 in 1915 and $24,089,000 for the last six months.

President Bent, the new president, welcomed contractors in all branches of construction work into the organization, which, he says, is now nationwide. He reviewed some of the big things it hopes to accomplish, and concluded by saying:

"Our watchword in this national organization should be service. Pettiness, unselfishness and education must be practiced and accomplished so long as communities are to misunderstand and criticise our efforts. Everyone must do his share if the nation is to go forward. Help ourselves, help our employees and help our nation. He prospers most who serves best."

The new organization is designed to increase efficiency, improve building conditions, abolish various abuses, and raise the general standard of the construction business. It takes in all branches, even to plumbing, road building and other lines. More than 100 prominent leaders in the building business attended the banquet.

SEQUEL TO TRAGEDY.

Widow Would Administer Estates of Mexican Bandits' Victims.

Petitions were filed yesterday for letters of administration for the estates of Eben F. Greenlaw, a mining man of Los Angeles, and his son, Ralph, both of whom were killed by bandits near Palmacia, Mex., last May 1. Mrs. Lucille M. Greenlaw, the widow and mother of the decedents, filed the petition. The father's estate is valued at $5018.63, and the son's at $2750.

A petition was also filed by the widow to be appointed guardian of three minor children, Richard, Sanford and Lucille. She was represented by Attorney S. W. Well.

SONS SUING MOTHER.

Charge She Unduly Influenced Ill Parent; Attack Deed.

For the purpose of setting aside a deed, John and Llewellyn Rees, administrators of the estate of their father, Lewis R. Rees, filed suit yesterday in the Superior Court against Mrs. Mary L. Rees, their mother.

They charge that the mother used undue influence upon their father while he was suffering with paralysis, and induced him to give her a deed to his property.

Mr. Rees left no will, but Mrs. Rees, say the plaintiffs, produced the deed after their father died. W. D. Van Nostran is attorney for the plaintiffs.

UNION LABEL TO ALIENATE VOTES

Master Printers Decide Upon Stand in Campaign.

Advertising so Marked Means No Support for Aspirant.

All Candidates to be Equally Affected by Action.

Any Los Angeles county candidate for political office of any kind who this year uses the union label on any of his advertising will lose both the votes and the support of all members of the Master Printers' Association, an organization of open-shop employers in the printing trade who, collectively, employ about 1600 persons.

This campaign stand was decided upon by unanimous vote at the regular weekly luncheon of the Master Printers' Association held at noon on Monday at the Jonathan Club. The attitude of the association and its members is condensed in the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, the majority of the business men and citizenship of Los Angeles are unalterably opposed to the closed shop; the un-American shop; and

"Whereas, the printing industry (outside of newspapers) contributes more than $6,000,000 annually to the manufactured products of the city; 90 per cent of this being made in open shops; therefore be it

"Resolved, that the members of the Master Printers' Association hereby agree not to vote for nor support any candidate for public office of Los Angeles county, who uses the union label on his advertising."

Members of the association have agreed to abide strictly by this resolution, and to withdraw support and withhold their votes from any candidate for any office, any candidate of any party, who issues or has issued on his behalf any advertising matter of any kind, which carries the union label.

TWO CRUSHED IN AUTO COLLISION MAY DIE.

ENSIGN AND LAUNDRY WAGON DRIVER RELIEVED FATALLY HURT IN CRASH.

Byron Crawford, a driver for the Nuway Laundry Company, and his friend, Ensign Ernest C. Tate, both 26 years of age, were probably fatally injured last night when the laundry delivery car collided with an automobile driven by P. J. Lindenbaum of 823 South Normandie avenue, at Sunset Boulevard and Benton Way. Both men were rushed to the Receiving Hospital in a private machine. Police Surgeon Renfrew found that the ensign's chest had been crushed and that internal injuries will probably cause his death. Mr. Crawford has a possible basal fracture of the skull.

Mr. Lindenbaum, who escaped uninjured, said that the laundry car was coming east on Sunset Boulevard and the wheels became caught in the car tracks, causing it to swerve to the north side of the road. Mr. Lindenbaum says he swung to the curb to avoid the careening delivery car, but both machines met at the curbstone and were wrecked. The police held that the accident was unavoidable.

Mr. Crawford, who is married, lives at 4039 Montclair street. Ensign Tate lives at 761 East Thirty-ninth street and is stationed at the Submarine Base at the harbor.

KILLED BY TRAILER.

Nine-year-old Pomona Lad Crushed; Falls from Tongue.

Harry Blatz, 9 years of age, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon at Pomona, when he fell under a truck trailer loaded with hay, and the wheels passed over his body. The youngster was attempting to ride on the tongue of the trailer, which was being pulled by an auto truck driven by Claude S. Oliver of El Monte.

The dead boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Blatz of 820 Monterey avenue, Pomona, a prominent family there. Another son of the family was killed in France.

According to the companions of the boy, who were with him at the time of the accident, they were planning to catch a ride to a swimming pond, when a truck loaded with baled hay came along with two trailers. The little Blatz boy ran for the trailer tongue, and after climbing on it, fell off.

The body of the dead boy has been taken to the chapel of Todd & Patterson, where a Coroner's inquest will be held Thursday morning. Funeral arrangements will be completed later.

PERMITS FOR TOURISTS.

Day Visitors to Tia Juana Can Avoid Passport Fee.

Bona-fide tourists who wish to visit Tia Juana after the new passport regulations become effective tomorrow may do so without paying the $10 fee that henceforth will be charged for a passport or a ten-day permit. Immigration Agent in Charge Burnett yesterday received word that real tourists who wish to cross the Mexican border at Tia Juana or elsewhere, merely to get souvenirs or to write home folks about the experience, may get free permits, good for one day only, by applying to the immigration agents at the international line.

Americans and aliens within the forty-mile border zone may get border cards for a fee of $10. They may also get, for $10 each, ten-day permits that are good only for the trip to Tia Juana. Los Angeles is in the forty-mile zone.

GIROUX KILLING LAID TO FATE.

Mine Magnate is Cleared of Blame for Son's Death.

Justice Holds Shot During Quarrel Was Accident.

Kin Says Dead Man Drew Gun Twice, Menaced Parent.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RENO, June 29.—J. L. Giroux, one of Nevada's foremost mine operators, who surrendered Monday to the Mineral county authorities, following the killing of his son, George Giroux, in a quarrel over money matters, was exonerated today at a hearing held before Justice of the Peace L. E. Cornelius at the mine, near where the fatal shot was fired.

Evidence adduced at the hearing showed that the son appeared Sunday at the Giroux home in Marietta and made insistent demands that his allowance be increased, the father refusing additional sums after explaining that he had already advanced more than $60,000 to the son in the past year.

According to witnesses, young Giroux drew a revolver in the midst of the argument and, after cocking it, was dissuaded from firing by his sister. Later, renewing his demands and meeting with stern refusal, the son again drew the weapon and, according to the testimony, advanced toward his father, before whom another revolver lay on a table. The son is said to have made an effort to grab this second weapon and in the struggle to obtain possession of it there was an explosion and the young man fell mortally wounded.

Members of the family, including Mrs. J. L. Giroux, a sister of the deceased and a younger son, testified at the hearing. The court held that the shooting was accidental and ordered the release of the defendant.

Following the shooting, J. L. Giroux drove to Reno, where he obtained the services of Attorney George Green. The two returned to Mina, where they were met by the Sheriff, but Mr. Giroux remained at liberty during the investigation and subsequent hearing.

BUSINESS MAN HELD ON WOMAN'S CHARGE.

ACCUSED OF ATTACKING HER DURING TRIP BY AUTO; GIVES HEAVY BAIL.

George Reim, president of the Reim-Thompson Company, 1015 South Grand avenue, builders of automobile tops, was arrested yesterday by Constable Thomas on a charge of assault with intent to commit an offense against May Cosboon, a young woman.

According to the complaint of the young woman, she was riding in an automobile with Reim from Los Angeles to Long Beach, last Monday night, when the automobile man said he would have to make a detour from the main boulevard. Later, she says, he attacked her, tearing her clothes. She fled, she says, and was cared for by a man running a farm tractor near by.

Reim was arraigned before Justice Forbes and furnished $2500 bail pending a hearing, July 15.

VETERAN QUITS JOB.

Resigns After Fourteen Years as Deputy City Clerk.

Thomas W. Powell, for the past fourteen years a deputy city clerk, yesterday handed to City Clerk Wilde his resignation to take effect July 16. Mr. Powell will leave at the end of this week on his annual vacation at the close of which his services with the city will terminate. In his letter of resignation, Mr. Powell stated that ill health caused him to give up his position.

For the past six years, Mr. Powell has been in charge of street improvement ordinances in the City Clerk's office, and with the exception of Robert Dominguez, is the oldest man in point of service in the City Clerk's office. During his employment by the city, he has served in the tax, assessor's, license and other departments under the City Clerk.

Mr. Powell is the second deputy to quit that office within a short time, David W. Carroll, long minute clerk of the City Council, resigned last May 12.

TREMOR AT INGLEWOOD

Slight Earthquake Shock Early Last Evening; no Damage Done.

Inglewood, the neighboring town which suffered the heaviest damage to buildings in the recent earthquake, was visited against last night by a mild shock, also felt in the southwest section of Los Angeles. The shock occurred at 7:50 o'clock and though not of a violent nature it caused many residents of Inglewood to hasten out of their houses and into the streets. For a few seconds the slight tremblor caused dishes to rattle, but no damage was recorded, not even to the several buildings that suffered cracked walls from the quake of last week.

ADMITS DRUG CHARGE.

Quan Kun, a local Celestial, pleaded guilty in United States District Judge Trippet's court yesterday to violation of the Harrison narcotic law and was given a term of two years in the Federal penitentiary at McNeil's Island. He is an addict and had a lot of the dope in his possession, it is stated.

Says Her Love for Husband Died Years Ago.

Mrs. Betty Ash and Her Son Victor, 6 Years Old.

RELEASED, SAYS SHE WILL WAIT

"I Love Bernhard," Declares Woman Arrested Here.

Two-Way Charge Dwindles to One; Freedom Follows.

Will Sell Everything to Win Her Paramour's Release.

"I love Bernhard and I will stick by him through thick and thin. If he is put in jail I'll wait until they let him out and wherever he is I will go to him. As soon as I can get a divorce I will marry him."

So declared Mrs. Betty Ash, 26 years of age, wife of Sidney Ash, wealthy New York manufacturer of cosmetics of 20 Stephenson Boulevard, New Rochelle, as she was released yesterday from the City Jail, where she and Bernhard H. Krueger, 30 years of age, her husband's former business associate, were held on charges of grand larceny and suspected violations of the Mann Act.

Mrs. Ash's release followed the declarations of Federal authorities that a Mann Act charge would not lie against the two, as the woman declared, in which Krueger corroborated her, that she paid her own way here. Krueger is still in jail awaiting action on the larceny charges in the East, a second telegram asking that he be held, but not mentioning the woman, having been received last night.

"My jewels, furs and clothing will sell for something," Mrs. Ash continued, "and all that I can scrape together will go to fight for Bernhard's liberty. If he has to go to jail I will wait for him. I can work and fix up a home so that when they turn him out he will have some place to go. The only regret I have is that my two children are not with me. I hope that I can get them back."

READY TO GO.

Mrs. Ash and Krueger, who were taken into custody Monday night in a local apartment-house by Police Detective Sergeants McMahan, Hurt, Cornwall and Warn, will return to New York without a fight, they stated yesterday, and face the charges against them. Both of the prisoners stated yesterday that they have no fear of the outcome and can prove they have not violated any laws.

In a detailed statement yesterday Mrs. Ash declared that she has known Krueger for almost four years. For a time he lived at the Ash home and was in business with Ash. During their friendship Krueger, according to Mrs. Ash, took his part in family quarrels and on several occasions prevented her husband from beating her.

"During my married life of over fourteen years I have had great troubles," Mrs. Ash said. "My husband beat me many times and even took my money when I went out and worked to assist him in the business world. I was afraid of him.

FEDERAL FINDINGS SHOW NO OIL PROFITEERING.

California "Big Five" Exonerated on Antitrust and Lever Act Charges in Dual Investigations.

Charges against the "big oil five" of California of a combination in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act and of fixing the price of fuel oil in defiance of the Lever Act have fallen of their own weight, according to a two-way finding announced here yesterday.

One report by the Federal Trade Commission absolves the oil industry as a whole from the charge of profiteering, and one by Arthur Denison, special oil investigator in California for the Department of Justice, to Atty.-Gen. Palmer goes even further in the way of giving the Standard Oil Company, Union Oil Company, Associated Oil Company, General Petroleum Corporation and the Shell Company a clean bill of legal health.

BRIEFS FINDINGS.

In an interview with Mr. Denison which the "Petroleum Record" will print in its July number, the Department of Justice findings are briefed by the investigator as follows:

"The Union Oil Company of California's fuel oil price at tidewater is reasonable. As the Union's carrier charges by water for fuel oil are below the current charter, as announced by the Shipping Board, it follows that if the tidewater price is reasonable, so is the Puget Sound price.

"The facts disclose a real and not imagined shortage of practically all petroleum products. Demand for petroleum products is greater than ever before in the history of California, with production failing to keep pace with consumption.

"So far as the question of monopoly is concerned, there has been little or no evidence uncovered to show that the actions and policies of the various companies concerned have been adopted or taken as the result of any common agreement or understanding. The only kind of a case which can be made out against these companies is one which would show that they have in their power the means of control of the petroleum industry, and through circumstances attempt to show that they are exercising these means in unison as the result of an agreement. There is an almost complete absence of any overt acts to sustain such allegation. This is the kind of proof which the Supreme Court of the United States, in the United States Steel Corporation case, said cannot properly be made.

"There would seem to be the same capacity for mischief here, but an almost complete absence of overt acts showing that the opportunities have been, or are being, taken advantage of. Men of the intelligence and business acumen of those who control these five companies would not resort to illegal means to accomplish a thing which they could, in view of the existing economic conditions, legitimately accomplish otherwise."

HAD CHANCE; REFUSED IT.

Regarding the monopoly charge, Mr. Denison said, after pointing out that the Standard sets the price for California, both in the fields and the markets:

"So far as the question of monopoly is concerned, there has been little or no evidence uncovered to show that the actions and policies of the various companies concerned have been adopted or taken as the result of any common agreement or understanding.

"It will be remembered that some statements were made pointing to the fact that there were price-fixing meetings by representatives of these companies in the year 1916 and prior to that time.

"Aside from the interest and the lack of credibility attaching to the persons who made these allegations, it has seemed to me that the fact that the price of fuel oil at the time when these price-fixing meetings are said to have been operating was only 20 cents a barrel, is a fairly complete answer to the allegations that representatives of the various marketing companies were meeting together and arbitrarily fixing the price for the products which they had for sale at whatever figure was suitable to them.

"It seems inconceivable that if this had been the situation, the price would not have been higher than 20 cents.

"As has been suggested, it seems to me that the only kind of a case which can be made out against these companies is one which would show that they have in their power the means of control of the petroleum industry, and through circumstances attempt to show that they are exercising these means in unison as the result of an agreement.

"But there is an almost complete absence of any overt acts to sustain the allegations."

JINKS YIELDS GOLD.

Athletic Club Raises Fund to Send Athletes East.

Roulette, faro, dancing, 'n everything, was in full swing last night at the jinks of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, at which money was raised to send members of the local organization to the final tryouts for the Olympic games, to be held in Boston.

Several thousand dollars were accumulated at the game tables and at the wheels, where candy and wearing apparel were raffled. Wives of the members and their friends acted the parts of hardened "gamblers."

CRASH KILLS REALTY MAN.

Walter D. Franklin, a real estate operator with offices in the Bradbury Building, was almost instantly killed near El Segundo yesterday morning when his automobile collided with another driven by an unknown person. No detailed report of the accident had been made to city or county authorities late last night.

Acting Coroner Williams stated that an inquest will be held at 3:30 p.m. today at the rooms of the Anderson Undertaking Company at Inglewood, to which place Mr. Franklin's body was removed. His relatives could not be reached last night.

He was married last fall and has been residing in Hollywood. A sister-in-law, Mrs. L. King, resides at the San Mareno Apartments.

Have You Lost Your Appetite?

SPRING fever, over-work, influenza, any illness attacks the line of least resistance—digestion. That is the time when you should not overtax the digestive organs with food that is hard to digest.

Borden's
THE IMPROVED

is partially pre-digested because it is actually "malted". It is made under a low temperature which does not kill the malt ferments.

These malt ferments exert a digestive action upon the nutritive elements, which makes them more easy to digest.

The excessive sweet taste is eliminated as well as the malt "tang" some people object to. The knowledge gained in sixty years' experience in the manufacture of milk products has enabled them to retain all the nutritive elements necessary for body-building.

Borden's Malted Milk furnishes a nourishing lunch in concentrated form. Try it between meals to soothe over-taut nerves or take it piping hot at night to encourage the sleep that builds up vitality.

Served hot or cold—with water or with milk—Borden's Malted Milk is a palatable and perfectly balanced food drink. It's "malted".

Cattle Sales to be Feature of Nine-Day Program.

Plans for the third annual Los Angeles Live-stock Show which it is declared will be the largest ever held in Southern California, were laid at a meeting of the board of directors at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. The show will be held at a cost of approximately $100,000, during the nine days from October 2 to October 10, inclusive. The funds for the show will be subscribed by citizens and business institutions of Los Angeles and surrounding territory, and almost the entire amount, yesterday stated C. R. Thomas, secretary and manager of the Live-stock Show, has been already subscribed.

Cash prizes to the extent of $50,000 will be awarded for the live-stock exhibits, and the best judges in the United States will be obtained for the event, it is declared. Plans of the Executive Committee in charge of arrangements call for a splendid and varied program of events, including one of the largest society horse shows ever held in the West, races, athletic events, and a rodeo.

The show will not be held for profit, and the funds necessary for its production are to be raised entirely through voluntary subscription. In addition to the program of events and entertainments, sales of live stock will be held during the week. The Polled Herford Cattle Breeders' Association of America, with headquarters at Des Moines, Iowa, has already announced its intention of holding a sale during the week, as has also the Southern Berkshire Swine Breeders' Congress.

All breeds of live stock, including cattle, poultry, sheep, hogs, and horses, will be exhibited, and some of the finest animals in the United States will be shown, it is declared. Among the notable exhibits will be the $41,000 bull recently purchased by Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin.

At yesterday's meeting an Executive Committee was appointed to co-operate with Mr. Thomas in completing arrangements for the show. It consists of E. W. Murphy, Clinton E. Miller, Fred H. Bixby, Herman J. Hauser, George Lichtenberger, T. H. Dudley, Albert M. Paul, and C. R. Thomas.

LETTERS BARE TRAIL OF "CRADLE ROBBER."

MOTHER GETS MISSIVES FROM CHILD ELOPER AND MAN; POLICE RENEW HUNT.

Sheriff's officers at Oakland yesterday picked up the trail of Clyde M. Bissell, 24-year-old linotype operator, and 13-year-old Elisabeth Mages of Huntington Park, with whom the man is believed to have eloped. Mrs. Constantine C. Mages, 247 Cottage street, Huntington Park, the girl's mother, received two letters postmarked at Oakland and purporting to be from Bissell and Elisabeth. One missive was in the child's handwriting. Though neither letter gave a clew as to the exact whereabouts of the writers, the Oakland Sheriff was immediately notified.

Bissell and the little girl vanished last week. The mother notified the Sheriff's office here and swore to a complaint charging the man with the theft of a $100 Liberty Bond.

The missives contain a request that if the mother wants to communicate with her daughter, she do so through the personal columns of The Times.

The letter supposed to have been written by Bissell says he has married the girl and asks that her parents do not prosecute them. It declares that he has loved Elizabeth ever since he had known her and that she loves him. The missive says further:

"I have a very good position here, with excellent chances for the future. Elizabeth is happy and contented. I am making enough to give her a good education, which I intend to do after I have paid my debt to you. For the first time in my life I am really happy and my work is a joy to me."

The letter supposed to have been written by the girl to her parents asks for their forgiveness, but warns them that the mother will get back her money for that $100 bond more quickly if she quits chasing them, adding: "We have put ourselves under the care of the Lord, and every morning and night we pray for Him to bestow on you the act of letting us go."

Records in the hands of Chief Deputy Sheriff Manning indicate that Bissel served a term of years at the Whittier Reform School and twenty-four months in Leavenworth penitentiary for desertion from the army.

BROUGHER WINS AT CONVENTION.

Gets Committee Place Over Fight of Objectors to Pickford Wedding.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

BUFFALO (N. Y.) June 29.—The slate submitted to the Northern Baptists' Convention by the nominating committee, and headed by Ernest I. Tustin of Philadelphia, was elected.

Rev. J. W. Brougher, Los Angeles, was elected as one of the thirteen members of the Executive Committee.

Opposition to Mr. Brougher developed because of his attitude on the question of marriage and divorce. He performed the marriage ceremony for Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, and on account of this act and subsequent utterances on the subject, a certain element sought to replace him on the committee slate by nominating the Rev. James A. Francis, also of Los Angeles. The vote stood: Brougher, 690; Francis, 432.

The convention ended today.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Antivivisection.

LOS ANGELES, June 29.—[To the Editor of The Times.] Permit me to briefly reply to the recently published letter in The Times by Michael Creamer entitled "Vivisection Discrimination." I desire to most heartily thank the writer for the unusual interest he has evidenced in wishing to protect all animals from the cruelty of vivisection, whether it be that of the layman or the professional vivisector.

In all great and worthy reforms it has been deemed imperative, diplomatic and expedient—owing to the ignorance, selfishness and cowardice of the masses—to select certain important and powerful phases of the movement for active and insistent propaganda work. The antivivisectionists have chosen the tortured animals of the laboratory because they believe in striking at the hydra-headed monster of supposedly entrenched professional and political power that seeks to foist upon the people a decadent theory of justifiable cruelty in the name of science. In other words, the devotees of vivisection believe in doing evil that good may come—in the torture of the animals of the laboratory that is inconceivable to the human mind, they seek to find a cure for the self-imposed sins of mankind.

Someone has said that "where the rights of the helpless are forgotten and trampled under foot, then there is danger of the knell of the nation being rung, for degradation inevitably precedes decay.

The California Federation of antivivisection societies is seeking through the initiative petition for the abolition of vivisection in the State of California to protect not only the sentient animals of the vivisection hells, but the homeless, friendless, helpless poor in our insane asylums, our prisons, our orphanages and almshouses who are being used as waste material for experimental purposes by those who believe in the ruthless and repellant theory of vivisection.

FIGHT ANITA BALDWIN PLAN.

The Highland Park Chamber of Commerce filed a petition yesterday with the City Council protesting against favorable action being taken on the proposal made by Mrs. Anita Baldwin that the Humane Animal Commission be abolished and its work taken over by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

A.D.T. Service

How Soon Shall We See the Big Fire in Memory Only?

FIRE is preventable. Intelligent effort in reducing unnecessary fire hazards, together with a scientific system of vigilance, will soon retire serious blazes and conflagrations from the actual knowledge of civilized communities.

Fire Detection Service is a practical system of fire reporting which eliminates major fires by preventing the neglect of small blazes.

Precision electrical instruments are placed in every fire bay of protected premises. These instruments and the entire circuits by which they are joined are held under constant electrical test by trained operatives at the A. D. T. central station. An outbreak of fire is reported immediately, and the alarm relayed to Fire Headquarters, brings a Fire Company to the scene before the blaze gains headway or works extensive damage.

Mechanical precision is supplemented by human judgment and experience, providing a safe and dependable protection against fire.

THE operation of Fire Detection Service is detailed in an illustrated booklet entitled "Curbing the Power of Flame." Sent free on request.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

At Guadaloupe Chapel.

Guadaloupe Chapel on Green street was yesterday morning the scene of the marriage of Miss Marguerite Orena and Mr. Frank Casey, both of this city. The rites were read by Father Welch.

The bride, a charming brunette of the distinctly Spanish type, was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Dario Orena. She was gowned in white satin and tulle draped and trimmed with orange blossoms. The gown was fashioned with a long court train and her tulle veil, which hung to the hem of the train, was held in place with orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white orchids, lilies of the valley and white sweet peas.

Miss Cecile McLaughlin was maid of honor, and wore a gown of orchid pink taffeta with a picture hat of horsehair braid to match. Her bouquet was of delphiniums and deep pink roses. Misses Josephine Ross of Santa Barbara and Gladys Carson were the bridesmaids, and wore frocks of orchid organdie trimmed with val lace. They had big tulle hats to match and carried shower bouquets of pink sweet peas. Edward McLaughlin was best man and the ushers were Hugh Golden and William Owen. Following the ceremony there was a breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dario Orena. Mr. Casey is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Casey of 952 South Gramercy place.

After an extended motor trip the couple will return to Los Angeles to reside.

The Brunswig Tea.

The afternoon tea at which Mrs. Lucien N. Brunswig and her daughter, Marguerite, entertained yesterday afternoon at their home, Villa Margharita, marked one of the notable events of the summer, it being the informal summer presentation of Miss Brunswig. The rooms were gay with baskets of summer blooms and an orchestra played. Several hundred guests called, and a coterie of society women assisted.

For Two Girls.

Miss Anne Morse and Miss Caroline Eshman, who have just returned from school in the East, are to share honors at a tea that Miss Agnes Eisenmayer is giving at her home today. Miss Morse, since her return, has made her debut at a reception which was one of the events of the month.

Assisting Miss Eisenmayer this afternoon are Misses Florence McGarry, Camille and Rowena Schneider, Katherine Adams, Maude Gray, Alice Durant, Mona Wood and Susan Valentine. There are seventy-five guests.

Dancing Party.

In honor of her daughter, Miss Caroline Eshman, who has just returned from New York, Mrs. Melville Eshman of 1319 West Twenty-seventh street is to give a dancing party on Friday evening next for 100 of the debutante and subdebutante set.

To Canada.

Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Metcalf and little daughter, Janet, are planning to spend the summer in Northern Canada. They will go up the coast to Seattle, then by boat to Vancouver, and will visit Banff and Lake Louise and other resorts in the Canadian Rockies, and then will travel through the Great Lakes and down the St. Lawrence River to Montreal, where they will visit Mrs. Metcalf's parents, an old English family who she has not visited for fifteen years. They will spend the month of August in and around Montreal, and will later go to New York, thence to Chicago and home in the fall.

To Sail for Tahiti.

Dr. Marcia Patrick, Mrs. Madge Hardenbergh and Miss Nancy Barnes are to sail July 3 for a two months' trip to Tahiti.

Mr. and Mrs. Holterhoff.

Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Holterhoff, Jr., are to motor down to Coronado on Thursday, having taken a cottage there for the summer. They are to entertain a coterie of friends for the Fourth of July festivities and will have among their guests Mrs. Charles H. Sharp and Mr. Ferdinand Bain. Miss Leila Holterhoff and Miss Mercedes de Luna will arrive from New York on July 12, and Mr. and Mrs. Holterhoff will meet them here and motor back to Coronado. Miss Holterhoff, who is an accomplished musician, has just finished a course in clinical psychology at Columbia University. Miss De Luna has been with her mother, Mrs. De Dorticos, who lives in New York.

Wed in Fullerton.

At the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James P. King of 420 North Spadra road, Fullerton, Miss Ada Thompson yesterday became the bride of Mr. Gerald W. Myers of this city. The bride and groom are both graduates of the University of Southern California and are popular in social circles. He is a graduate of the law department of the university and is a member of the Delta Chi fraternity. After a short honeymoon trip the couple will reside here, where he is engaged as attorney for the Heilman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank.

At Musicale.

Mrs. Robert Hernandes of 4007 South Budlong avenue is entertaining a large number of friends this afternoon at a musicale and tea. Her 15-year-old daughter, Miss Helen Hernandes, is giving the program of nine numbers, one a Beethoven sonata and some of the bigger Chopin numbers. Misses Phoebe Ana and Marion June Bowler are to assist the hostess.

THE LOVE GAME.

The month of June opened with 105 weddings in Los Angeles and it goes out with an equally impressive number. There were over one hundred licenses on Monday's slate alone. During the month they averaged about fifty a day. This is a great town to get married in. If it wasn't the divorce courts couldn't be working overtime.

IN OLDEN DAYS.

Now that beer is under the ban a number of the supposedly cheaper substitutes—on which no special excise tax is levied—have doubled in price. There was a time once when a man could get a schooner of beer as high as his elbow for 5 cents. Considering what it would do to a man's thirst it was about the cheapest thing in the world and there's a party down in the street now who still insists that it was also one of the best.

TAKING A TIP.

The Superior Court in Chicago has decided that the tips given to hotel employees who are drawing a fixed and definite salary belong to the landlord. If the guests knew that and knew that the landlord got them they wouldn't amount to so much. They rather hoped that when they handed the check boy a quarter they were beating the proprietor out of it. If they had thought the landlord was waiting at the end of the hall to shake down the employee for the tip they would never have opened their hearts and purses. A few decisions like this will do more than anything else to end the tipping evil in America. Nobody wants to give an extra tip to the landlord—if he can help it. Heaven knows he doesn't need it.

"A MILLION YEARS."

Sir Oliver Lodge, who claims privileged communication with the spiritual world, assures us that the world will exist for another million years. That should give the suffragists a good innings and time to undo most of the ruthless atrocities of a man-governed world.

It also offers Ireland a little leisure in which to think up more profitable tactics. And how jolly for Mexico—they can have a million more revolutions by that time.

Wonder how much sugar and gasoline will cost? And think of the joy of the reformers with a million years to go on reforming the world in. When one considers the absurd youth of the world to date it should be easy to excuse its many little failings. It can hardly be said to have reached years of discretion yet.

"INDUSTRIAL UNREST."

We have heard a good deal about industrial unrest, but the real problem seems to be the disposition to too much rest. As the Philadelphia Public Ledger remarks, "The trouble with labor these days is that it so often doesn't."

This doesn't only apply to the manual laborer. Shorter hours and more pay are the imaginative panaceas for the woes of all classes. Everyone seems to be looking for a job where the work is put out. Even the school-teachers, who enjoy the shortest hours of any profession and longer vacation time, feel themselves underpaid and overworked.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy—yes, but the reverse is also true. "How doth the little busy bee improve each shining hour?" Certainly not by resting.

It will be interesting to see how a nation composed largely of "lilies of the field" who "toil not, neither do they spin, yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these," will compete with a nation, like the Japanese, for instance, which regards a ten-hour day as a blissful attainment.

FREEING IRELAND.

Exactly how an American, Republican or Democrat, can free Ireland by means of a resolution in his party convention doth not appear. But, at any rate, there are three different sets of Irish agitators and they do not seem able to agree on the brand of freedom they want for the Isle of Erin. One group might be satisfied with 2.75, but none of them will be put off with the half of 1 per cent of Irish freedom which the Republican convention accorded them and so they have all taken their baggage to San Francisco to waylay the Democratic politicians.

The President of the Sinn Fein republic is there in person with his grip full of Irish bonds beautifully lithographed in green. Then there are delegations from Chicago and New York. One delegation wants a free and unlimited Ireland and another wants the establishment of a probationary republic with a mandate given to Tammany. Another enthusiastic Irishman named O'Selinski insists on an Ireland at least 57 per cent free. He said that the druggists found that they couldn't keep Peruna on less than 57 per cent and Ireland is worth a hundred thousand Perunas.

The Democrats are willing to put almost anything into their platform once, and as soon as the champions of Irish freedom are able to agree upon the percentage demanded they will be glad to accommodate them. But the gentlemen from Kentucky, Cork and Hoboken are too busy throwing rocks at one another to get together upon a specific proposition.

KEYNOTES AND SO FORTH.

Homer Cummings, Democratic chairman, in his opening speech, roundly berates the Republican platform because it squarely assails the administration of Woodrow Wilson. Any newspaper may, therefore, diagonally criticise Homer for thus roundly criticising the Republicans for squarely criticising Democratic rule.

Criticism has many shapes.

It is in the day's work.

Had the Democratic convention been held first and its platform been thus earlier promulgated it would have been not only the prerogative but the bounden duty of the Republican keynoter to have held up the Democratic declaration to contumely and scorn—mayhap to derision.

It is the way the people who do our politics have learned to play the game.

In reality Chairman Cummings scores but once. There is a vivid recital of Democratic accomplishment. Practically all the beneficences that have visited America, from the Texas oil boom to the capture of the tennis doubles, are attributed by Cummings to the prudence and foresight of the Wilson administration.

There is warrant for questioning hero worship when it runs wild.

It is significant that in the catalogue of legislative triumph there is scarcely a measure of outstanding merit for which the Republicans did not furnish the votes necessary to its achievement. More than that: In many of them they contributed the inspiration and initiative. The war was not an affair alone of the Democratic party, nor was it a game of solitaire by the Wilson administration. All America became concerned therein.

The Democrats cannot claim to have carried it on as a partisan triumph unless they are also prepared to accept full responsibility for all its mistakes, blunders and extravagances.

Wherein Chairman Cummings really scored was in the summary of the events leading to the Senate rejection of Mr. Wilson's pet form of League covenant. For that he does affix responsibility to the Lodge leadership, and because of the evasive form of the League plank in the new platform made at Chicago the Republicans are placed on the defensive in a controversy upon that issue alone. But this is nothing new and was accepted by the Republican leaders who arranged the compromise in the interest of party harmony.

Nevertheless the conclusions and position of Chairman Cummings cannot go unquestioned. The Republicans are established by him as stumbling blocks to world peace because they could not themselves agree upon the desired interpretations of the covenant. The President is represented as not only willing but eager to accept any or all reservations that were not actually destructive.

The Senators know better than this. Had Wilson indicated this spirit at the outset the treaty would have been ratified within its first month.

In fairness it must be said that neither party has a clean record in the matter of putting this troubled world on a peace basis. Had the President chosen some counsellor like Taft, Root, Hughes or Lodge as an associate in the deliberations at Versailles instead of carrying the conference as a function of the Democratic party there would have been a document so safeguarded that all men and all parties on American soil could have unhesitatingly approved. Even the stentorian voices of Reed and Borah would have remained dumb.

For this fatal blemish in the Wilson statesmanship Chairman Cummings offers neither explanation nor apology.

Beyond that we are informed that Mr. Cummings was in good voice and that a great majority of an audience of more than twelve thousand more or less excited Democrats heard the orator with ease and enthusiasm.

Chairman Cummings declared that he could scent victory in the air. He must have a keener nose than any bloodhound that ever stalked the Kentucky border.

THE "BROWS" AND GUM.

A facetious writer has declared that various phases of gum chewing mark the social and intellectual standing of the chewer. The highbrow regards chewing gum with haughty disdain. The low-highbrow concedes himself the solace of chewing gum in private. The high-lowbrow will chew gum only in the company of intimate friends. The lowbrow will chew gum in public at any time, anywhere.

They are nice distinctions. But an even greater distinction arises anent the parking of one's chewed gum. Is the lowbrow alone responsible for sticking his gum beneath cafeteria tables, beneath seats, under the ledges of office desks and on the floor for hapless shoes to annex in passing? Have the low-highbrow and the high-lowbrow chewers, with their degrees of nicer privacy, also evolved a more refined method of disposing of the residue? We doubt it. For our part we doubt the superiority of any "brow" who has not solved the embarrassing problem of burying chewed gum where its corpse can ne'er arise to haunt the fastidious. Like the colonel's Lady and Mrs. O'Grady, they are all alike under the skin.

FORTY MILLION LIVES.

The Society for the Study of the Social Consequences of the War, a Copenhagen organization, reports that forty million persons have been lost to the world through the war. Its figures are based upon actual losses in the several countries engaged, upon the decline in the birth rate and the rise in the death rate since 1914.

The carefully compiled statistics are most impressive and are doubtless based upon authoritative data. Russia stands highest with 13,000,000 loss of population, and Germany next with 6,300,000, which figures, the report states, would be added to their population to date had the war not taken place.

The war casualties amount to 9,829,000—the vast majority young men well under 40. The increase in the normal death rate outside of actual war deaths is 15,130,000, and the decrease in the birth rate 20,210,000. And these figures do not include the United States, the British Dominions, Turkey, Greece, Portugal and Montenegro.

When one considers this appalling total, and adds to it the cost in money, in destruction of property and in abiding sorrow and calamity, it seems incredible that any voice should be raised against a League of Nations to prevent future wars.

THE DEMOCRATIC PREDICAMENT.

The predicament of the Democratic party in relation to a number of leading questions of the day must awaken the pity even of the party's enemies. It brings to mind the words of a great American commander during the naval battle off Santiago during the Spanish-American War, "Don't cheer, boys. They're dying."

No piece of legislation enacted during the last four years has awakened so wide a controversy as the Eighteenth Amendment. The Democratic party is split wide open on that issue. To enforce or not to enforce; that is the question. And on that question Mr. Cummings was as silent as a sepulcher.

This evasion has roused the resentment of both the wets and the drys. It gives Bryan an opportunity to challenge the administration on an issue on which he is fairly certain to be supported by the majority of the delegates. It is dangerous to permit a man of the caliber of Bryan to score first blood in a convention fight. But if the Democratic party goes before the country on a bone-dry issue it will lose the support of the liberal-enforcement element of the country. If the support of organized labor goes to Debs, Harding will carry every doubtful State in the country.

Promises have been exacted from Democratic leaders to make an issue of Irish freedom. Encouraged by the round robin which the Democratic members of Congress sent a few months ago to the British Parliament, the radical Irish element of the country insist that these promises be included in the Democratic platform. But the Democratic leaders are confronted by a protest from the Irish moderates. There are probably a million men and women of Irish birth or descent in this country who have no sympathy whatever with the Sinn Fein movement. They know that De Valera and his supporters are doing great harm to the Irish cause and they are protesting against any plank in the Democratic platform that will give encouragement to revolution in Ireland. Whichever way the platform builders turn they are going to sacrifice many votes. The Democratic leaders have themselves to blame for making promises which they must have known were impossible of fulfillment.

As the convention develops it becomes apparent that the President himself rather than the League of Nations is the real issue before the delegates. The President has mapped out a program which, like the peace treaty, he insists shall be accepted without reservation or amendment. That program is objectionable in some part to all the delegates; it is objectionable as a whole to probably a majority of the delegates. Men and women who were elected by their districts to frame a platform and nominate a candidate naturally object to making the trip all the way to San Francisco for the purpose of attaching their signatures to documents that were written before they left home.

There seems to be a spirit of self-determination in the convention. The delegates feel that they have a right to participate in building the platform and naming the candidates. They object to being reduced to the position of rubber stamps. But the President is apparently possessed of the idea that the delegates are not to be trusted. He desires to shut out free discussion on every important question. He has vised the keynote speeches and prepared a draft of the important platform planks. Every delegate who refuses to take that program is branded as an enemy to the President.

It is extremely doubtful if the President can effectively muzzle the convention. No other man has been able to do so. Every attempt along that line in the past has resulted in humiliation and defeat for the self-appointed autocrat. It may be true that the judgment of the President is superior to the composite judgment of the convention, but the delegates themselves are not likely to think so.

By his intolerant attitude the President has given an opening to Bryan, Reed and his other enemies. They are very likely to take advantage of it before the week is over. The Democratic predicament is one from which the party is not likely to extricate itself without sacrificing the Presidency this year. The Republican convention in Chicago was turbulent at times; but it was a model of harmony compared with the conflict now raging in San Francisco.

If the people of the country could be brought to forget about the extravagance, inefficiency and waste of the present Democratic administration, if the campaign could be made to partake of the nature of a referendum on the League of Nations, the chances for Democratic victory would be greatly enhanced. It is true that Homer Cummings presented the issue unfairly in his speech, that he laid all the blame for failure to ratify on the Republican members of the Senate, carefully concealing the fact that the President himself proved finally to be the greatest bitter-ender of them all. But The Times is of the opinion that the people will be more in sympathy with the attitude of the Democratic keynoter on the League of Nations issue than with that of Senator Lodge.

But a single issue cannot make a platform any more than one swallow makes a summer. The country is groaning under the burden of the high cost of living; but Mr. Cummings did not even mention that such a condition existed. He passed it over as though irrelevant and immaterial. Not even the most intolerant Democrats will be satisfied with his total lack of sympathy with the people in their distress. That issue is going to play a powerful part in the campaign although it may be ignored in the platform.

SNAP SHOTS FROM TEXAS.

Another thing—is a soft collar an article of dress or merely a bandage?

What we are interested in is the kind of place the people go to who say it is as cheap to go away for the summer as to stay at home.

It has just about gotten so in this country that a man can't scare his nagging wife by saying she will have a nagging daughter.

Of course, it is none of our business, but personally we don't think a girl should wear a skirt so short it looks like the bottom of her waist.

Furthermore, if we ever pay $18 for a shirt we are not going to wear a coat and vest over it.

Tillie Clinger says she dreamed last night she was riding the Democratic donkey, but when she waked up she found it was a nightmare.—[Dallas News.

"WELCOME" OF NEW THINGS.

The first man who wore a silk hat was pelted with rocks, arrested for disturbing the peace and inciting to riot—and heavily fined! Hardly fitting recognition for the inventor of headgear that has crowned civilization's grandest fetes.

The first sewing machine Howe put on exhibition was smashed to pieces by a mob.

Almost every engineer in the country called Westinghouse a fool because he insisted his air brake could stop a train with wind.

Jefferson was hated and berated for maintaining something might be made of the country west of the Mississippi.

Parmentier was called a pig because he asserted potatoes were fit food for humans.

There is a famous cartoon of Napoleon in the nursery beside the cradle of his son and heir, the King of Rome. The emperor is squeezing the juice of a beet into the mouth of the infant King, saying: "Suck, dear, suck! Your father says 'tis sugar!" The people who first tried to tell us there was such a thing as beet sugar had a rather discouraging time of it.

We may protest vehemently, but most of us are still in the position of the man who would not look at the new moon out of respect for that "ancient institution," the old one.

The new goes against the grain.

Improvements almost always antagonize even those whom in the long run they most benefit.

If you're setting sail for new lands, be prepared for munity, conspiracy, cross-currents, ignorance and selfishness. You'll have to "sail on and on and on" before you see Indians!—[New York World.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

MEXICO.

Old Mexico's been aching a long and weary time; and every day, on breaking, rings in new curves in crime; her trumps of war are tooting, her heroes callyhooting, and someone's busy shooting as I produce this rhyme. She springs a brand new ruler, arrayed in brass and plush; next he's in the cooler or sprinting for the brush; avengers hike behind him, as "traitor" they've defined him, and balls and buckshot grind him and halt his frenzied rush. Old Mexico is plastered with wealth of every sort, and if the chumps were mastered who paw around and snort, she might be lop-sided with "profits undivided," her robes would be provided with diamonds by the quart. Her hills are full of rubies, her plains are rich with grass; her fiery, martial boobies might raise fine garden sass; they find a pleasure greater in chasing some cheap traitor, to seat some "liberator" attired in plush and brass. Old Mexico was scrapping before the World War's start; and still her men are yapping and shooting up the mart; the way they're raising thunder and treading chances under and boosting senseless plunder would break a sane man's heart.

WALT MASON.

OUR SUNNY FRIEND

For the Sake of the Old R. I.

The Rock Island Railroad has issued a bulletin to its employees to be more economical of their lead pencils and to get at least one more inch out of each of them.—[News Dispatch.

The railroad clerk he sat at his desk
Writing away with a will,
His right hand clenched a pencil stub
As short as old Sam Hill.
His fingers cramped from the holding
And the lines were dim to the eye,
But he said: "I'll use another inch
For the sake of old R. I."

The engineer was speeding along
At seventy miles an hour
As he leaned from the cab his pencil dropped
Into a leafy bower;
He cried to the fireman, "Grab the throttle,"
And he sprang from his window high,
His leg was broken, but the pencil saved
For the sake of the old R. I.

The surveyor stood on the mighty bridge
Checking his plans, you know,
When a three-inch pencil slipped from his hands
Into the depths below.
Off went his coat and he deftly sprang,
And they heard him loudly cry,
"Throw down a rope, I have saved the stub
For the sake of the old R. I."

Misadventures of Theophilus.

II.—He takes a dare.

Tag Huckleberry told Theophilus that he didn't dast and then, of course, he had to do it. He had made his brags that he wasn't afraid to empty the contents of one of Aunt Mag Maxwell's medicine bottles.

Aunt Mag was always experimenting with curealls from Spore's drug store, sometimes for the misery in her back, sometimes on account of the misery in her stomach.

The concoction that Theophilus sent gurgling down the kitchen sink was for the stomach.

Once empty the bottle was filled with rain water, flavored with salt, cinnamon and asafoetida and restored to its place on the mantel shelf between the clock and the vase of artificial lilies.

Theophilus noted the name carefully. He would buy a new bottle from the store with his Fourth of July money next morning.

He forgot to take the money with him, however, and when he got home at noon he found his father getting dinner.

This was a sign that one of the miseries had attacked Aunt Mag.

He went bravely in to confess his misdeed. Perhaps it was not too late to save the invalid from its consequences.

He found her at the mirror fully dressed and powdering her nose preparatory to coming out.

"Oh, Aunt Mag," he said, running up to her, "I just wanted to tell you about the medicine. It isn't any good."

"How do you know it ain't any good, young man?" said Aunt Mag, "that's the best thing for the stomach that I have found yet. One spoonful of it did more for me than a bottle of anything else I ever tried. Who said it wasn't any good?"

"Nobody," said Theophilus.

THREL FALL.

OLD-TIME SUPERSTITIONS.

A reader furnishes us with a list of old superstitions which were part of our folk lore in this part of the country before we had to have folk lore societies to preserve this sort of thing:

A rooster crowing at the front door meant visitor coming.

A twig catching a young lady's dress meant a beau.

An itching ear meant that someone was talking about you.

To turn back after starting meant bad luck.

Opening an umbrella in the house meant bad luck to the house.

A measuring worm on a woman's frock meant a new dress.

An itching left hand meant that you would marry soon.

Probably most of us are superstitious about the number 13, just as people were a long time ago. Our own superstitions will amuse a subsequent generation, as those recalled by our reader amuse us. Only a subsequent generation can safely laugh at superstitions. Socrates was put to death for laughing at some of the superstitions of the Greeks. Let us, then, laugh at these and take the superstitions of our own time as seriously as you please.—[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Heap big talk—
Up at San Francisco.
That's about all, so far.

This is the time of your ...
Democrats are always carrying ...

Whatever the planks in the ...

they will be pretty smooth on ... sides.

California Democratic ...

Why not substitute one of ...

Democrats are not as hard up for ... a candidate as all that.

A newspaper back East has discovered a striking likeness between Washington, our first President, and Harding, who will be our twenty-ninth. The stars in their courses are fighting for the Republican ticket this year.

To an outsider it appears that the Democrats will not be able to hide the awful record of the Wilson administration with the figleaf of silence. The American people refuse to be fooled twice. The issue will not be shifted.

Tobe Hert is booked for the Republican leader, succeeding Boies Penrose, who is in ill health, according to reports. Hert is a national committeeman from Kentucky. Another case of Tobe and Tobe, as our old friend Bill Nye once put it.

Hope the Wilson Cabinet will stick until the end, not so far as President Roosevelt had many changes in his Cabinet, but on account of personal differences with the President. President Wilson has had three such—Garrison, Houston and Lansing.

What's that, a Democratic National Convention failing to declare in favor of the "liberties of the people" in the shape of the use of alcoholic beverages? Ye gods and little fishes! If that proposition goes through there is no room left for the old-time Democrat.

If Bolshevism is to menace the territorio in this country the Koh-i-noor diamond cannot be overlooked. It is in the sporting page that we see unmistakable signs of the country's return to normalcy. We would like to know what chance a general strike would have in this country where thousands of otherwise respectable citizens are prepared to go the limit to see a ball game.

Mrs. Wood Says She Feels Like Different Woman.

After Effects of Flu Gone and Digestion Perfect.

"I Can't Praise Tanlac Enough," She Says.

"The change that has taken place in my health since I began taking Tanlac has astonished all my friends," said Mrs. Margaret E. Wood of 1723 Forty-Seventh St., Tacoma, Wash., in an interview recently.

"Well, it is enough to surprise anyone," she explained, "for I have actually gained 35 pounds on five bottles of Tanlac and I don't feel like the same person. About fifteen months ago I was taken down with influenza, which was followed by pneumonia, and as I was already in a badly run down condition, I thought I would never get well. After I did get up I was little better than a nervous wreck. I had no appetite and white little I did eat was always followed by distressed feelings, with sharp pains in every part of my body. I kept losing weight and strength and got to feeling so bad that I just had to let my housework go. My nervousness kept me from sleeping and it was a common thing for me to roll and toss throughout the night.

"I was in just about as bad a fix as anyone ever gets to be when I decided that as Tanlac had helped a sister of mine I would see what it could do for me. Well, I improved almost from the start. My appetite picked up and I soon got to where I could eat anything I wanted without having any trouble from it. I kept getting stronger and gaining weight until, as I have said, I have gained 35 pounds. My nervousness has left me and I sleep fine. It is now a pleasure for me to do my housework and I feel like a woman made new. I can't praise Tanlac enough for what it has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Stores.—[Adv.

PASADENA PLANS WINTER SPORTS

Bridle Paths for Horsemen Are to be Built.

Teachers Are Again Refused Rise in Salaries.

Hospitality of Hotel Taxed by Woman Guest.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, June 29.—Now that horseback riding has come back into popular favor, the winter colony in Pasadena next winter probably will enjoy a new municipal system of bridle paths in the upper Arroyo Seco Park. These paths will be linked up with the fine system of bridle paths built in Flintridge a few months ago by Senator Frank P. Flint.

City Park Superintendent Jacob Albrecht stated today he expected authorization from the City Commission to proceed with the construction of the city bridle paths. Commissioner John J. Hamilton of the departments of parks and playgrounds announced several days ago that he would make the recommendation.

With the new city paths from the Arroyo into the mountains, the lower Arroyo trails and the Flintridge system, Pasadena will, if the city carries out the program announced by the park superintendent, be the premier equestrian resort of the West.

The recent reconstruction of the upper Arroyo trail into a motor highway into the mountains left the horseback riders without an avenue of approach.

"There was more interest in horseback riding among tourists in Pasadena last winter than in any previous year," commented Robert J. Reid, manager of the Hotel Pasadena and the Green, today. "Pasadena should have twenty to thirty miles of bridle trails in the beautiful Arroyo region and elsewhere."

TEACHERS DENIED AGAIN.

The Board of Education again turned down the request of teachers for further increases in the salary schedule for next year, at the adjourned meeting this afternoon. Trustees Clara M. Odell and G. R. Bickley voted to grant the increase and Trustees Clayton R. Taylor, George W. Woolley and Beatrice Dean against it. A separate motion to grant an additional increase to kindergarten directors and their assistants also was voted down. Ten kindergarten teachers appeared before the board and asked for a higher schedule, stating that an increase was necessary to give them "a living wage and justice."

MANY NEW ARRIVALS.

Local freight receipts show an average of one to three carloads of household goods belonging to new residents arriving here from the East and Middle West every day. The character of the goods and the quantity indicates that the new arrivals range from very wealthy people to wage earners, come here to find jobs.

TAXING HOSPITALITY.

A woman tourist taxed the hospitality of Hotel Pasadena almost to the cracking point today. On exhibition in the hotel lobby is a bunch of ripe bananas, grown right in the hotel yard. While waiting for her train a woman entered the lobby today and ate six of the bananas, one after the other. Having lunched, she put her suit case down and, stretching out on a divan in the lobby, slept for two hours. Then without so much as a thank you she arose and went her way.

FOR SCOUTS' OUTING.

More than 300 Boy Scouts of Pasadena have signed up for the summer camp of the local scouts at Catalina Island this summer, according to the announcement of scout headquarters.

The boys will attend the camp in units of 100 scouts each. Each group will remain at the camp ten days, and they will be ten days replete with fun, frolic and scout craft, so that each boy will receive benefit to health and mind from the island sojourn.

The summer encampments will be held the latter part of the summer vacation period so as not to interfere with plans of the boys for the earlier part of the summer.

The Pasadena Scout troops are well organized, each with an enthusiastic membership. The scout council is composed of adults who take a deep interest in the boys.

TOO MANY DEMOCRATS.

Redlands Citizen Believes Harding Election is Assured.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 29.—Frank Nutter, well-known politician of the city, has returned from the Republican convention at Chicago. He stopped at San Francisco for a day or so, but says he never could abide Democrats and San Francisco had too many of them for him.

"There is nothing to it, Harding is to be the next President," he said. "The only possible chance for the Democrats, and it is a hundred-to-one shot, is McAdoo and Cox; they might pull it across if all signs failed."

Mr. Nutter says that the sentiment over the country is strong for a change and that most everybody is satisfied with the results of the convention at Chicago.

EASTERN SHRINERS CAPTURE SAN DIEGO.

VISITORS SHOWN ATTRACTIONS OF SOUTHLAND; RUNAWAY BOY IS CAUGHT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, June 29.—Shriners from Arat Temple of Kansas City, and Alepho Temple, Boston, have taken possession of San Diego, and Coronado tent city today. Reception committees from the Nobles of Albahr Temple of San Diego, were on hand early this morning at the station to greet the visitors when the Shriner train arrived.

Headed by the Arat band, which carried off many prizes in Portland, the delegation marched to the U.S. Grant Hotel.

The visiting Shriners were taken for an auto trip around the city, to Point Loma, the Theosophical Homestead, and the Navy and Army stations.

This afternoon and tonight the Shriners spent at Tent City. A Shrine sing was held this afternoon and athletic games and sports were held. The Arat Temple tonight will put on their big minstrel show, in the Tent City pavilion.

CATCH BOY AT BORDER.

Arnold Elliott, of Santa Ana, aged 15, in search of adventure and conquest, had his dream ruddy broken yesterday, when captured at the border by Deputy Sheriff Oliver Hexson. The boy said he was tired of staying at home so arranged a box on the rear of his trusty bicycle, filled it with canned goods, staple medicines, a bottle of hair restorer, some pills, a change of underwear, soap, a microscope, a loaded shot gun, shells, a few nails, and started for Mexico.

Today he awaited, under the surveillance of the Sheriff's office, the arrival of his father and mother from Santa Ana, who will take him home.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET.

San Bernardino Candidates Will Hold Ratification Dinner.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 29.—Republicans from all parts of the county will meet at San Bernardino Friday night to ratify the nomination of Senator Harding and Gov. Coolidge. The dinner is being given by the Redlands members of the party, and it is planned to have as many of the county candidates as possible present. Plans for the county campaign will be made at the dinner.

Samuel Shortridge of San Francisco and A. J. Wallace of Los Angeles have agreed to attend the dinner, and E. A. Meserve and William Kent may be present. All of these men are candidates for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

HARDING SENDS THANKS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, June 29.—Warren J. Saver, an attorney who lives in the harbor district has received a brief note from Senator Harding, Presidential nominee on the Republican ticket. In it, Mr. Harding states: "I was greatly pleased to have your message of congratulation. It is an added pleasure to know of your friendly interest in the campaign before us."

APPROVE LICENSES.

Redlands Merchants Believe New Tax is Advantageous.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, June 29.—A mass meeting of the merchants of the city held today to decide in regard to the business license resulted in a unanimous vote that the City Trustees retain the license, but that a careful checking over of the various businesses taxed be made so as to arrive at a just basis for the license.

It was pointed out by several of the speakers that the license serves the purpose of protecting the merchants in two ways, it protects him from the fly-by-night men, who would be in the city for a few days and then out, and it protects him through a large police force. There were a few merchants opposed to the license on the grounds that the merchant should not pay more than any property owner, but they voted for the resolution.

ON FROST PROTECTION.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, June 29.—Frost protection will be the theme discussed at a meeting of the Riverside Farm Bureau, to be held in Fairmount Park Thursday evening. Dana A. King, sales-manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, will discuss the effect of frost-damaged fruit upon the market, and upon the reputation of the district from which it is shipped, while Willis R. Jones, one of the organizers of the Pomona Valley Frost Protective Association, will explain the methods employed by the organization.

SIGN LONG CONTRACT.

Former Stanford Students Will Go to Malay Peninsula.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, June 29.—Montaville Flowers, Jr., Stanford athlete and son of Montaville Flowers, well-known lecturer and publicist, is shortly to leave in company with half a dozen other Stanford men, all mining engineers, for Singapore, where they have signed contracts for two years with the Yukon Gold Company, a Guggenheim syndicate, in connection with the latter's extensive tin mining interests in the Malay Peninsula.

TO AID FISHERMEN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, June 29.—In order to help the fishermen who operate from this harbor, the Fish and Game Commission patrol boat, Albacore, is planning to cruise about for some days trying to locate schools of blue fin, which so far, have been scare. There have been many yellow fin sighted between here and San Diego, but few albacore.

Baby Girl Wins 3 First Pri

Parents of Louisiana's "Champion Baby" raised her on Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

THERE is always a good deal of sickness in the summer months, due to the hot weather. The best is especially severe on babies and children, and often it interferes with their development and growth. They lose appetite, pass restless nights, suffer from indigestion, and finally constipation.

In the hot Southern States mothers give a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, at the first symptom of constipation. This formula is known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and they have sold it under that name for a quarter of a century. It is now the sole medicinal reliance in thousands of families.

Little Dorothy Boylan knows what real hot weather is ten months of the year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Boylan, and lives at 218 North Alexander St., in New Orleans. She won Chez Paree's coveted first prizes as the "Grand Champion Baby of Louisiana," and her parents say the only medicine they have ever given her is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It kept her healthy and happy, helped make it possible for Dorothy to be a prize-winner.

You can obtain a bottle of Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from druggists. You will find it pleasant to take, and does not gripe or weaken.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 510 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful remedy.

TENNIS TOURNEY FRIDAY.

Eruptions in the Democratic convention will have nothing on the red-hot competition expected to develop in the Pacific Coast doubles tennis championships this week. Entries close tonight, drawings will be made tomorrow and play will start on Friday morning on the courts of the Los Angeles Country Club.

The north is dispatching four teams, three of which look terribly good. The southern combinations that put the Griffin-Davis, Roberts-Gardner and Kinsey-Kinsey teams out of the running will have to go some. The fourth team from Frisco —that of Irving Weinstein and Mike Fottrell—is not nearly so dangerous. They are youngsters and should be comparatively easy for the veterans.

MAURY AND TOM.

Maury McLoughlin and Tom Bundy are coming out of their annual retirement, and may make life miserable for the northerners. They copped the sectional title at Long Beach last year in easy fashion after the wiseacres had buried them in the cemetery of has-beens. Of course, they're not the indomitable pair that thrice captured the doubles championship of the United States, but, brother, they can still play tennis.

The Tournament Committee expects at least thirty entries, about the same number that entered the competition at Long Beach last year. Snodgrass and Reinke have turned in their blanks, as have Nat Browne and Claude Wayne, former national clay court champs; Hinckley and Godshall, Pacific Coast junior champions; Allen and Ferrandini, and Barker and Barker.

EIGHTEEN RACERS ALREADY ENTERED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HANFORD, June 29.—With eighteen machines already in, and still others expected before entries close, the automobile race programs for the big all-day Independence Day celebration at Hanford, July 5, promises to be by far the best speed contest that has yet been pulled on the Kings county fair ground track. In the elimination trials on Sunday, the 4th, the entries will be worked down to the twelve fastest to start in the twenty-five-mile free-for-all, and the six fastest county cars in the twenty-five-mile county match race.

Entries now include E. J. Murray, San Francisco, Murray Special; William Forrest, San Francisco, Forrest Special; Donald Prettwell, San Francisco, Stevens-Duryea; C. P. Boules, Sacramento, Mercer; N. B. Peterson, Chico, Hudson; Earl Jackson, Fresno, Studebaker; Curtis Chamberlain, Madera, Dodge; Carl Armstrong, Taft; Studebaker; Edward Myers, Redlands, Ford Special; in addition to the seven county cars, Erwin's Stutz and Ford, Uzzell's Packard, Prough's Chevrolet, Tandy's Maxwell, DeSouza's Compson, and Villa's Ford Special.

FAMOUS PROMOTER DEAD AT BEDFORD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, June 29.—Charles Edward ("Parson") Davies, well known in the sporting world, died at Bedford, Va., yesterday, aged 69.

Davies was manager of Dan O'Leary, champion walker, and Peter Jackson, colored heavyweight champion. Under Davies's direction Jackson fought a draw with James Corbett lasting sixty rounds.

Davies put Jackson in the title role of an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, and later he organized a theatrical company with John L. Sullivan and Paddy Ryan playing the feature roles.

AMERICANS ELIMINATED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BEACONS FIELD (Quebec) June 29.—All four American golfers who qualified for the Canadian amateur tournament were eliminated today.

Whoops! Look Who's Here.

Causing Chills in the Youngsters' Ranks.

Maury McLoughlin (above) and Tom Bundy, who are entered in the Pacific Coast doubles tennis championships at the L.A.C.C. this week. Tom and Maury rose up out of the grave last year and swatted everything in sight, and many of the rising tennis generation are fearing that such things may come to pass again this season. It wasn't many years ago that this pair would wander back East and cop the championship of the United States every time the idea entered their heads.

YALE WINNER AT TENNIS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 29.—The doubles were begun this afternoon in play for the intercollegiate lawn tennis championship on the turf courts of the Merion Cricket Club, Havreford. The second round was completed and third begun in the singles. Those left in the singles are: D. F. Robinson, Harvard; Kirk Reid, Cornell; C. H. Hyams, Harvard; J. B. Fennon, Harvard; Kenneth Hawks, Yale; Edmond Levy, University of California.

The feature match of today was between Kenneth Hawks, number 10, leader of the Yale team, and Leon De Turenne, captain of Harvard. The Yale man won in three sets, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

Another match played earlier in the day was the contest between Kirk Reid, the Cornell star, and Levis Martin of the University of California. The Cornell man ultimately won out, 3-6, 6-2, 8-6. C. H. Hyams, Harvard, had a hard battle in defeating W. N. Barron, of Massachusetts Technical. This score was 4-6, 6-1, 7-5.

The doubles did not advance far, owing to the fact that the singles kept many of the teams from getting together. Martin and Rothschild won by default, and Wallace Patee and Edmond Levy easily defeated Elliott and McWayne. Massachusetts Technical, 6-2, 6-1. The summaries:

Singles, second round—Kirk Reid, Cornell, defeated Levis Martin, University of California, 3-6, 6-2, 8-6; C. H. Hyams, Harvard, defeated W. N. Barron, Mass. Tech., 4-6, 6-1, 7-5; J. H. Bates, Yale, won from Russell Holmes and W. J. McIntosh, by default; Edmond Levy and Wallace Bates, University of California, defeated W. R. Elliott and W. Carver, Mass. Tech., 6-3, 6-1.

First round—A. Wilder and A. Wiley, Yale, defeated W. N. Barron and W. McWayne, Mass. Tech., 6-1, 6-1; Rothschild and Martin, University of California, won from C. Warner and Rodney Buck, Lehigh, by default.

MAT AND MITT TRYOUTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PORTLAND (Or.) June 29.—A total of forty entries, most of which have been received, are expected for the western Olympic Games boxing and wrestling tryouts to be held in Portland next Friday. There will be at least twelve wrestling matches and seven boxing bouts on the card. Three wrestler entries from the Olympic Club of San Francisco are the first to arrive here. The three men are Paul Paulos, Russell Vis and James Lleltas.

The Multnomah Club will have men entered in each of the events while the others will come from nine Western States and will be the pick of the amateur boxing and wrestling talent west of the Rocky Mountains. Allan Ferguson, middleweight, and Calvin Patten, lightweight, have been entered from Los Angeles. Bill Glassman, a light heavyweight boxer from Ogden, Utah, is now on his way to Portland. There will also be a large number of unattached boxers and wrestlers.

YIPPER MAILS LACKS POSTAGE.

Blows Up in Seventh Inning After Cady's Muff.

Angel Ball Team Begins Home Stay With Victory.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

As was to be expected—Angeles, 3; Sacramento, 0, and all came about through Cady's muff of Crandall's pop in the last of the seventh inning. We do not mean to insinuate that the bobble was directly responsible for the two runs the Angels made in that session, but indirectly through its moral effect on one Walter Mails. It surely played a deep part in the scattering of his wits. Walter is a front runner par excellence in the art of chucking. He might be termed the Smithy Kane of the Pacific Coast League.

Now for the benefit of those that came late we shall state that Smithy Kane was a cyclonic quadruped that raced at Santa Anita Park during the halcyon days of the sport there. Smithy could outrun a Kansas cyclone and a typhoon all rolled into one, for about four furlongs, but the moment any old skate moved up and looked him in the eye he curled up into a lump of fly paper. Allee samee Walter Mails.

GOING GREAT.

Walter was going great guns yesterday afternoon for six innings. In fact, he had so much on the old pill that Angel rooters began to wax restive around the seventh canto and squirm uneasily in their chairs. A member in Wisdom Row ventured "The break ought to come soon, especially when an error is made." Hardly had the words died on his lips than Karl Crandall tilted a heavenly visitor right in front of the plate.

Mails squared himself to gobble it, but seeing that the mischievous wind was playing all kind of pranks with the downward flight of the pill, he modestly turned the whole shooting match over to Cady. Forrest reeled hither and thither to get a true plumb on that old horsehide, but as it neared his yearning hams it began spinning around like an insane top with the result that it contorted its way across his quivering fingers and fell in a lifeless heap at his feet.

UP IN THROAT.

Burned Walter's swarthy cheek like fire and shook his very frame with ire. Something came up in his throat and his nerve centers began to freeze over. Griggs, the next man up, tickled him for a big healthy single to right, shooting Karl to third. Sam Crawford then loomed a skyscraper to Compton and Crandall easily loped home after the catch. Mails, perfectly rattled and a-prey to visions of bingles that were shooting out of his system both below and above his shoulders, fed Pete Lapan several groovers. Now when anyone feeds Pete—zingaree—but did you see that onion skidoo?

It took a mad flight between Compton and Schang, shattered several boards in the old lemonade sign of the far right-field bleachers and then scurried sidewise to find an outlet somewhere. During its final scramble, Compton subdued it and bolted it homeward, thus keeping Lapan at third. The belt was a cinch homer for a fast runner, Griggs, of course, scored. Rube Ellis then flied to Compton and Niehoff struck out. Mails was so peeved that he made the flight from the pitcher's box to the Sacramento dugout in three strides.

BILL BRUISES PILL.

The Angeles scored their third and final run in the next inning. Bill Pertica the first man up trundled one down the third-base line for a nifty double. Killefer, seeing Grover flatfooted near third, tried to bunt toward that worthy, but the effort collapsed in a little pop-gun fly to Mails. McAuley then biffed the first one ever for a fast single to right, scoring Pertica, and went to second on the throw in. Crandall went out, McGaffigan to Sheehan and Griggs died Mails to Sheehan.

The visitors never threatened. Mollified and subdued by the dazzling splendor of the Angels' road play, the Tippers seemed to have much in unison with the funeral wail of Umpire Anderson's crooning on balls and strikes back of the plate. Rube Ellis and Karl Crandall featured for Red Killefer. Rube's harpoon of Mail's great drive to left center in the first of the seventh inning was one of the greatest catches ever seen on the grounds and had to be seen to be appreciated.

Crandall played big league stuff at second. His left-handed stab of McGaffigan's scorching grounder back of first base, in the second inning, was cheered to the echo. The hit had all the earmarks of a slashing single. Pertica, who heaved for the Seraphs was at his best and was never fully extended—in fact, he won as his rider pleased on the chin strap, with gobs of daylight between him and the second horse. The score:

ROBINSON LICKS YOUNG FRANCE.

But Referee Calls Vernon Main Event a Draw.

Young George Given Royal Boo for His Efforts.

Brenton and Goozeman Put Up a Regular Scrap.

Willie Robinson gave Young France a million-dollar beating in the Vernon main event last night, only to have the referee give a two-bit decision and call it a draw. In three of the four rounds Robinson licked France all the way and every way.

France, with his awkward, bunched-up style, puzzled Willie in the first round, and that was even in the second Robinson started off with three solid smacks to his opponents stomach, first right and then left, before France could get to close quarters and wrap his arms around the clean-swinging blond battler. The third and fourth frames were repetitions of the second with Robinson landing four resounding wallops to every one of France's head chops.

The semiwind-up was a draw, according to the referee's version. It should have been Jimmy Fortney's bout. He did all the leading. Young George didn't lead at all. The former idol of the Vernon fans was given the royal boo when he left the ring.

Harry Mansell, the clever English boy, gave away too much weight to Kid Mendo, and this strong lad earned the decision all the way. Spike Robinson, attired in white ducks and a white track shirt with a purple handkerchief jauntily tied around his neck, seconded Mansell, but to no avail. Spike's boy was all but out in the last round.

Some scrap was that between Jimmy Brenton and Ernie Goozeman. A right uppercut as they were coming out of a clinch in the first round set the birdies to chirping for Brenton, the bell saving him. Gooseman tried to put him away in the second round, but couldn't quite make the grade. Brenton came back and it was his fight the rest of the way. It was a good draw.

The other bouts resulted as follows: Leo Houck won a four-round decision from Joe Gomez; Fred Young knocked Frankie Wayne for a goal in the first half-minute of the initial round of their go, and Fred McManus won the decision from Joseph Griff in the curtain-raiser. A short bell saved Griff from needless punishment in the last round.

CAN STRANGLER BEAT MAYAKI?

Lewis to Take on Big Jap Saturday Night.

Famous Wrestler in Jiujitsu Combat at L.A.A.C.

International Mat Stars in Match to Finish.

Mat fans have a right to expect the greatest contest ever seen in this city at the Los Angeles Athletic Club Saturday night. The giant "Strangler" Ed Lewis, regarded by many as a peerless all 'round wrestler, will meet Garo Mayaki, undefeated Japanese, in a finish jiujitsu battle. Lewis is an adept at that game and never has been beaten. The best two out of three falls will determine the match. "Fall" in this case means to give up. The usual alternative is to be choked to death. Jiujitsu isn't for weaklings or persons with tender throats. The contestants will wear the usual jackets.

HE'S SOME BOY.

"Strangler" is so well known that his name tells its own story. He now is at the height of his career, in better form than ever before, and weighs 250 pounds. He is not far in the 30's. Since he entered the game there never has been an hour when he wasn't in shape and ready to tackle all comers. He lives in San Jose. Mayaki has been a thorn in his side a long time and he wants to flop and choke him out of the way. He is tackling something. Mayaki is a Londoner, if you please. He went there from Japan in 1904 and passed ten years in Europe, vanquishing all opponents in every country. Among others was Stanislaus Zbyszko, who didn't want a return engagement. Mayaki taught his art—perhaps science is the word—in Cambridge and Oxford and other universities, and in the British army and navy. In America he has cut a wide swath and if "Strangler" Lewis can stop him he will be the first. The Jap has challenged or defeated all the big guns. It took him an hour and six minutes to put the quietus on Ed Santel. Thrice he has defied Joe Stecher to have it out with him, but Stecher invariably had urgent business elsewhere. His list of conquests would fill a book. He desires particularly to meet Prof. Ito. He is 38 and weighs 172 pounds. "Strangler" is the heavier by seventy-eight pounds.

This is an actual photograph, taken from an airplane, of the new $20,000,000 Los Angeles factories of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of California, completed and put in operation in less than a year

Milepost in the Onward March of Industrial California

HERE, at the end of the trail, young industry has reared a new monument to the bold, enduring spirit with which the Argonauts erased the last frontier.

Though its workaday purpose is far from the one they knew, the ambition that visioned it shares their heritage of daring, and in the very manner of its building, something of their heroic mould and character is caught.

Captive in the bricks and mortar of its walls and towers you will find the imperial legacy they left their sons—courage, whole-souled good will, and eagerness to work.

To this undaunted spirit, more than to any outlay of gold and time involved, this project pays its tribute in the record of its completion.

IT is less than a year today since Goodyear decided to build in Los Angeles a factory which should be second only to the parent plant at Akron in that span of Goodyear factories, mills and plantations which now girdles the globe.

The first ground was broken just eleven months ago, adjoining the site of old Ascot Park, scene of triumph for many a speedway champion and challenger.

The intervening nights and days have seen, in planning, financing and building, an exhibition of Western enterprise paralleled only by those other feats of energy which the West has given all the world for marvel.

What was visible a twelvemonth ago only to the imagination, today is a reality of tire manufactory, cotton mill, and workers' community, actually producing Goodyear Tires for the motorists of the West.

THE twenty millions of dollars invested in this achievement cannot begin to measure the value we set on this plant as an expression of Western will, loyalty, friendship and promise.

As yourselves, we see it as a milepost in the onward march of industrial California—one of the strong, young pioneers of a Western industry destined to great extent, great wealth, and, that which holds the most of Goodyear interest, great service.

This factory is dedicated to the progress that men make in serving the needs of one another.

To quicken communication, and thus to enrich life and deepen understanding; to set an example of industry and usefulness; to advance sound principles of honest dealing—these are the purpose, the method and the product by which it shall protect our good name.

AUTHORESS IN FILMS.

FANNIE HURST TO PEN TALES FOR SCREEN.

By Grace Kingsley.

If old Bill Shakespeare were alive today he'd probably be writing for the movies. Everybody in authorland is doing it. The latest famous scribe to sign up is Fannie Hurst, who has just put her name to a contract to write a number of stories for Universal.

It seems it was while she was on her way to San Francisco to the Democratic convention that Miss Hurst arranged this. After the convention she will return to Los Angeles to begin writing for Priscilla Dean and other Universal stars.

Miss Hurst's husband is with her, by the way, and it is not known whether the shortage of housing facilities here has made her domestic arrangements any more permanent than they were when she last reported on them.

New Morosco Production.

Working like a Trojan—however hard that may be—Oliver Morosco yesterday started rehearsals of "Seven Miles to Arden," at the Mason, which is to be produced in about a fortnight.

Mr. Morosco never sits down in an easy chair while he directs. He is playing every part himself as the rehearsal progresses. And so it was yesterday.

Miss Selma Paley was present also, looking exquisitely pretty in a pink gown and picture hat, and busily taking notes for the stage settings and costumes. And as it is quite possible Mr. Morosco may leave for New York sooner than he had anticipated, Frank Egan was on hand to be ready at a moment's notice to assume charge.

The author of the play, Anna Nichols, and her husband, Henry Duffy, who will be masculine lead, will arrive tomorrow. Miss Nichols will begin at once to aid in production supervisions.

The new leading woman, as announced in this column Monday, is Betty Linley, otherwise known in private life as Baroness Richlevie. Miss Linley seems to be trouping brilliantly. Others in the cast besides Miss Linley and Mr. Duffy are Dora Mae Howe, Max Paley, Katherine Van Buren, William Austin, Martimer Snow, Harry Duffield, Burwell Hamrick, Charles Wyngate and H. N. Dudgeon.

The production promises to be a handsome one, with attractive new stage sets, after the usual Morosco manner, and beautiful costumes in the latest mode.

Mabel Normand Resumes.

After having been delayed in her current picture, "Head Over Heels," for two days due to an accident to her eyes, Mabel Normand, Goldwyn star, resumed work Monday.

The accident happened last Saturday at the studio. The glass interior of a Thermos bottle containing hot coffee broke and particles of glass flew into Miss Normand's eyes. This glass was removed by the studio physician, and after suffering greatly for two days, Miss Normand feels that her two lovely optics are now quite out of danger.

Truman Van Dyke Starred.

Truman Van Dyke, who recently completed the leading role opposite Bessie Love in her first independent picture, has just signed a contract with the Thew-Martyn Production. Mr. Van Dyke will be featured in a series of pictures.

Edith Roberts to Flit.

Following the completion of her present Universal picture, Edith Roberts is to go to New York for a several weeks' stay. An important announcement regarding Miss Roberts's future film activities is expected on her return.

Marshall Neilan Won't Go.

After all, Marshall Neilan isn't to go to England to make pictures. It seems he feels he will not be able to arrange production suitably over there, and so has decided to remain at home.

Maurice Tourneur Bulletin.

Maurice Tourneur is completing a palatial home on a sightly Hollywood hilltop, where he intends maintaining his permanent residence while engaged in producing photoplays.

"In selecting this site," explained the associated producer, "I wanted a well-located residence as regards the studio, city and sea. I enjoy driving to and from work, which must be quite near."

With the new star, Hope Hampton, Mr. Tourneur has just completed the last picture under his present contract.

Sonny Washburn's Latest.

The latest story concerning the bright sayings of Sonny Washburn, child of Bryant Washburn, is that he startled his mother when he came from Sunday-school the other morning by inquiring:

"Mama, does God live in Hollywood?"

"Why, son, I hope he does. But what makes you ask?"

"Oh, they prayed at Sunday-school today, 'Our Father, who art in heaven, Hollywood be Thy name.'"

Good Smiles for Fillums.

I don't know how Isabel Withers, who is playing the feminine lead of the extravagant wife in "Keep Her Smiling" at the Mason, is ever going to get out of town without affixing her John Henry to a picture contract, she is so very pretty—the prize peach indeed of the Mason season. She has already received an offer or two, so when the film colony calls the roll next fall it may hear Miss Withers's silvery tones answering "present."

Richard Dix Here.

Now, matinee girls, dull finish your little noses and take a trip down Broadway. Richard Dix, formerly a popular leading actor of the Morosco, is in town, and although he has had a successful season in New York, still I believe he will stretch a point and smile graciously back at you, if you smile at him.

It is rumored that Mr. Dix will have a leading role in one of the new Morosco productions.

Charlie Richman Happy.

If ever there was a martyr it has been Charles Richman, picture star, during the past season. But that will soon all be over. You see Mr. Richman is one of the most intensely domestic human beings that ever lived, even if he is an actor, and he is never separated from his family when he can help it.

However, during the past season it has seemed best to park his loved ones, wife and children, in the family home in Orange, N. J., while he works in pictures in the West. Now, however, they are on the way here, and will spend the whole summer with him at the Hollywood Hotel.

In the party will also be Jane Grey, the well-known actress, who is, I believe, scheduled for pictures this summer.

Eddie Lowe to Stay.

Edmund Lowe, who came from New York to play in the Metro all-star production of "Someone in the House," is planning to remain in Southern California indefinitely.

Ruth Roland Moves.

The Ruth Roland Serial Productions company has moved from the Glendale studio to Brunton. In close proximity to high brow art, the vivacious Miss Roland continues to do her wild serial stunts.

Harris Takes Pen in Hand.

Even though he is away off in Canada, where the wild silver foxes grow, Elmer Harris, playwright and scenarioist, isn't having much of a vacation from his typewriter. A letter received today informs me he is busy on a new five-reel comedy for Famous Players-Lasky, entitled "Matrimony a Failure?"

Prince Edward Isle must furnish an atmosphere favorable for reflection for Mr. Harris writes: "Of course we all know matrimony is a failure in most instances, but why blame the institution because some of the inmates are foolish? Matrimony is the only career in which we receive no schooling—and are allowed none! Yet the wonder is when it proves a failure, whereas the wonder should be when it proves a success!"

While the playwriting is going forward, the silver foxes have not been idle, nor have the workmen Mr. Harris employs on the big fox farm. Mr. Harris reports that on the day of his letter, they were shipping $100,000 worth of fox pelt to Boston by airplane.

Richard Walton Tully Leaves.

Richard Walton Tully, playwright, who has been spending a vacation here, will leave tonight for San Francisco, but expects to return Tuesday. Mr. Tully reported yesterday that he felt a new play coming on.

Louise Dresser Appeals.

That fine artist and big-hearted soul, Louise Dresser, writes me that she is in charge of the western campaign on behalf of the benefit, which is to be given Nellie Revell, July 11. Miss Revell, it seems, has been in very ill health the past two years, half of which time she has been in a plaster cast from head to heels, and has spent every penny she had in the world. Now a huge benefit is to be given her in New York, and as Miss Revell is known to almost every man, woman and child in the profession, even in the West, her friends are being appealed to for aid in raising funds to help her on the way to health.

"Her patience has made us all marvel," writes Miss Dresser, "but now every penny of her money has been expended. A cure appears to be in sight, but it is a long way off and she must be helped. She is still at St. Vincent's Hospital in New York. Sam H. Harris is treasurer of the movement, and Messrs. A. H. Woods, Cohan and Harris, Martin Beck, E. F. Albee, P. G. Williams, A. L. Erlanger and Jeanie Jacobs are all on the committee to raise the benefit funds.

"Until now Nellie has steadily refused a benefit, but we have persuaded her to accept a testimonial of love, and there are many players in and around Los Angeles who, I am sure, will want to help."

Miss Dresser states she will be playing the Orpheum, San Francisco, from July 4 to 25, and all who wish to aid may send their remittances there.

Johnston-Dazey Marriage.

The long-heralded marriage of Agnes Johnston, scenario writer, to Frank Dazey has at last taken place. It happened at Miss Johnston's Long Island home, June 26, and according to the telegram Miss Johnston sends me, the wedding list is a regular Who's Who of film and author land. Included were Bert Lytell, Jim Corbett, Jerry Storm, Violet Clark, Sarah Mason, Cleveland Moffett and Mrs. Milton Sills.

ORIGINAL PLAYLETS.

Interesting Play Productions by Resident Writers.

Plays of a more serious nature, dealing with problems of the day, were offered by local playwrights at the Gamut Club last Friday evening. The Players and Playcrafters gave their last program of the year. "The New Justice," a symbolic drama in interesting in theme and setting, but lacked in finish because of hesitancy in the delivery of the lines.

Sydney Sprague, president of the club, presented a problem study of current conditions, "King of the Hedjaz." Mr. Sprague, in offering another solution for the establishment of peace, gives through his characters some very striking thoughts. Nicholas Lensky, who played this role, displayed unusual dramatic ability, although some of his lines were lost on account of his foreign accent. The author represented the statesman. Other plays of the evening were "Honyokers," by Lillian Sutton Pelee and "The Cavalier," by Claude M. Girardeau.

A whistling duet and a vocal solo completed the program.

"The Prince Chap" and His Ward.

Thomas Meighan and "Peaches" Jackson, In human-interest photoplay showing this week at Grauman's Theater.

MUSICAL.

ELLIS CLUB CONCERT.

SINGERS RENDER HIGH QUALITY SELECTIONS AT TRINITY.

By Jeanne Redman.

The Ellis Club concluded its concert season last evening at Trinity Auditorium. The chorus, under the direction of J. P. Poulin, was successful in winning frequent and hearty applause from a large audience. The program was somewhat more pretentious than usual, including the "Flying Dutchman's Review," by Spross; Goldbeck's "Three Fishers" and Dudley Buck's "Chorus of Spirits and Hours." The singers also rendered several numbers of Augustus Barrat's, arranging among them the Schubert "Sylvia," which they did very delightfully, but which has not gained much in the arrangement.

The soloist was Isabella Curi-Piana, a Californian who has been absent in Italy for eighteen years, and who was generously greeted and applauded. Mme. Piana has a coloratura soprano, and sang the "Ah, Fors e Lui," from "Traviata," and a group of three songs, including "The Seasons," a charming work of Mrs. Hennion Robinson, the capable accompanist of the club; Vincent Jones's "The Fountain," and Cadman's "Thistle Down." Ralph Laughlin, tenor of the club, assisted as soloist in the choruses, and Ray Hastings was at the organ.

Pupils in Program.

A program was given at the Little Theater last evening by the pupils of Bertha Winslow Vaughan, soprano, assisted by Isabel Myer, reader pupil of Frank Egan. Mrs. Vaughan's students included Irene Parsons, Sarah Crosley, Melrose Johnson, Hazel Hopp, Ruth Shaffner, Marie Sweet and Frank House.

CINEMA OPERA PLAN.

EASTERN DIRECTOR HAS FIRM BELIEF IN OUR SINGERS.

By Edwin Schallert.

The glamorous dragon fly of opera is again humming around the cinema world. And he appears to be really glamorous on this occasion. Deep-laid plans for giving his wings a new gleam are being prepared for that propitious season, when the public's desires shall be clothed with the proper verdure, and there is assurance that they want the higher-browed lyric song.

The man who is now studying the feasibility of the plan is W. G. Stewart, who recently arrived from New York, with success to his credit in the presentation of dramatic musical works at the Capitol Theater, and who has been stationed at the California here as managing director. Mr. Stewart isn't going to spring anything suddenly on the unsuspecting, because he's very conservative about this opera business, and will wait until the sun or the spotlight seems to shine brightly for his undertaking.

But he is confident.

Stewart believes that the West is the source and the well-spring of vocal talent, and he can cite reasons for his faith.

"My experiences in the East have taught me to look westward for talent," he said. "The reason is that so many have come from California and neighboring States."

Then he mentioned the names of half a dozen singers whose musical endeavors commenced here, and who had made up his ensemble, even the ranks of his principals in the Capitol productions. "And these are not all," said Mr. Stewart, "because I have a bad memory for names. There are many more.

"If had it in mind to request the Goldwyn people to allow me to come West even before they decided to send me on their own initiative, because I felt that if we were so successful with western singers in New York, there was an even greater opportunity for selecting and developing musical talent right at the source, and paving the way, as it were, for this talent to come before the eastern public."

So the upshot of Mr. Stewart's intentions is that he proposese to organize, as soon as possible, a vocal ensemble of thirty-two at the California Theater. He will present a similar line of attractions as those which gained musical prominance for the Capitol Theater. He will not actually begin with operatic presentations, perhaps, but will introduce the Burleigh cycle of negro spirituals, which met with popular favor in the East; Liza Lehmann's "Persian Garden," and then some of the lighter operas, as well as such cantatas as Hiawatha's "Wedding Feast." These will all be given with elaborate scenic investiture, to carry out before the eyes of the audience the interpretation of the music.

"I will do nothing, however," continued Mr. Stewart, "until I am satisfied that it is suitable first for presentation in the picture theater, and second that it stands a good chance of meeting with public favor.

"My most successful performance in the East was 'Hansel and Gretel,' the fairy-tale opera, which we staged practically in its entirety. We also gave that early Puccini opera, 'La Vilii,' complete, as well as 'Cavalleria Rusticana' and 'Pagliacci.' The first act of 'Lohengrin' and the third act of the same opera were presented at separate performances. We gave also the first act of 'Carmen.'

"For the present I shall not attempt any of these works, because it would be a mistake to essay them until the ensemble is thoroughly trained, and until suitable principals can be developed or engaged."

Mr. Stewart has had a long experience in musical affairs. He was with the Castle Square Company, and the Augustin Daly organization when these were in their prime. His first grand opera engagement was with the Castle Square company. Later he sang in "Floradora" and "Foxy Quiller," the comic operas. Then for a period of years he had the Stewart Opera Company, and following this was manager of the Hippodrome. Mr. Stewart last appeared in this city with the Gilbert and Sullivan Opera Company, in which De Wolf Hopper was the star. Stewart sang the baritone roles in the productions.

Chicago Opera Tour.

There's quite a potent probability that the Chicago Opera Company is going to appear for a week here next spring. Clarke Shaw, booking manager, is seeking to arrange a visit. The tour of the organization, as planned, is to include the three Coast cities, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland, with two weeks in San Francisco and a week here.

Mr. Shaw was in the city for a few days last week, and has since gone north with the expectation of returning here shortly and closing arrangements for the series of performances.

Competition for Gallo?

And while we're on this ever rumorful subject of opera there's another item that is worth mentioning, namely that our friend Crestore, famed as a band leader, is budding out as an opera producer. And he is said to have a real angel back of his project.

He has just wired Charles D. Baker, of this city, formerly advance agent for the Gallo forces, to find out the situation here, as regards a season of popular opera. The company which he is forming apparently plans a transcontinental tour, during which they will produce Italian works similar to those in the Gallo repertoire.

Lois Wilson Returns.

Lois Wilson, leading woman with the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, returned to the studio yesterday from Birmingham, Ala., her former home, where she spent her vacation. Miss Wilson attended thirty-seven parties during her two weeks' stay in Birmingham, lost ten pounds, recovered the southern accent she had lost, and enjoyed a "perfectly scrumptious time."

Eastman Branch Here.

Announcement is made of the fact that the Eastman company has procured a site for the construction of a storehouse for films on Santa Monica Boulevard, near the Jasper studio, in which will be stored 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 feet of film. J. E. Brulatour, distribution manager, arranged the deal, and it represents an important benefit in service to the picture studios here in the delivery of film. The cost of the building will be a minor consideration, although all modern appliances for the safeguarding of the celluloid are to be provided, but the value of the film stored will be approximately $250,000.

Symphony at Trinity.

Definite arrangements have been made for the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra to play its symphony and popular concerts next season at Trinity Auditorium, it is announced. The lease is now being drawn up for the house.

Improvements will be made in the interior of the auditorium, it is understood, as soon as this is feasible. The organization will open its season of concerts October 25, and will, it is stated, give extra "pops" and symphonies. Pasadena is also to have a series of symphony concerts by the orchestra, many of the members of the association being residents of the Crown City.

Majestic Show to Stay.

Just as was to be expected, "At 9:45," one of the best attractions recently offered at the Majestic Theater, is to be continued over into a second week. A special Independence Day matinee will be given on Monday afternoon.

Convention Views Showing.

Scenes from the Democratic convention at San Francisco are being flashed on the silver sheet at Clune's Broadway. These are said to afford vivid glimpses of the men and women who are figuring prominently in the big Bourbon assembly.

Choses Marie Corelli's Name.

Bobbie Hunter, author of the clever picture "Bubbles" at the Symphony Theater, has decided to change her name, though not for any Cupidic reason. So many people have assumed that she is a man, that she wants to avoid the occasionally embarrassing situations that result, and therefore has decided to call herself Thelma Hunter.

Scotti Company Tour.

As a final shot in the interests of opera, it might be mentioned that the Scotti Grand Opera Company is to start its cross-country tour the middle of September and will probably arrive here about October 5. This organization is headed by Antonio Scotti, the famous baritone.

Jack Gilbert to Direct.

Jack Gilbert, who assisted Maurice Tourneur in directing Hope Hampton in "The Tiger Lady," is shortly to captain a company under Tourneur's supervision.

HOPE OF LIQUOR MEN DIES HARD.

Hundred and Nine Apply to Renew Licenses; Issue Being Held Up.

Cherishing a hope that John Barleycorn may be brought to life, 109 liquor dealers have applied to the Police Commission for a renewal of their licenses so that they can operate in case the wets stage a "come-back." The Police Commission is withholding the action in granting the licenses until an opinion is received from the city attorney, as to whether it is legal to issue liquor licenses when there is no liquor.

RELEASED, SAYS SHE WILL WAIT.

All my love for him died years ago. Then Bernhard came into my life and I love him. I hope to marry him and all I ask is that my husband allow me to keep the two little boys."

Krueger in a frank statement to the police declared that he ran away with Ash's wife, but declared that he violated no laws, as she paid her own expenses to Los Angeles with her own money. The two traveled on the same train, but she paid all her own bills, according to his story. Krueger told the officers that the whole trouble between himself and Ash started some time ago, when he learned, he alleges, that Ash had taken advantage of his friendship and almost ruined him.

SEEKS REVENGE.

"I have known the Ashs for about four years," stated Krueger. "I have come to love Mrs. Ash and I am going to marry her as soon as I get out of this and she gets a divorce. I ran away from New York with her when there seemed nothing else left to do. Ash was getting the little money I had and was also trying to get me into other trouble. He was a false friend. I have no fear of his charges, because the thing's money that I took from the company that we were both in was my own and no one else has any claim on it at all. I can clear myself in court and after I do I am going to make Ash hard to catch."

Although the police yesterday were unable to discover just what was involved in the eastern grand larceny charges against both Mrs. Ash and Krueger, it is believed that he is wanted in New York for drawing funds out of a bank, which were the property of a toilet water and cosmetic company in which both Ash and Krueger were involved. Krueger yesterday admitted drawing the money, but stated that is was his.

Late yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Home received a telegram from E. J. Timmons, Chief of Police of New Rochelle, stating that complaints charging Kreuger with assault in the first degree, forgery and grand larceny will be issued today.

Mrs. Ash's two children, Victor, age 6 years, and Manny, 12, are in the custody of their grandmother in New York City.

WILL GIVE MORE "GAS."

Committee Agrees to Report for Specifications' Change.

As the result of an appeal made several months ago by local gasoline refiners and marketers, the Public Safety Committee of the Council yesterday afternoon agreed today to lower until November 1 the specifications for gasoline sold in Los Angeles by changing the required boiling points on tests from 428 deg. to 455 deg. The refiners say that this will enable them to meet the increased demand for gasoline by adding from 6 to 15 per cent to the amount of gasoline now refined from crude oil. The marketers promised the Councilmen that if the specifications were lowered to meet present refining conditions they would agree that all dealers would obey the law. City Oil Inspector Blackmar told the members of the committee yesterday that he has been receiving many complaints from consumers of low-grade gasoline sold at local stations.

OMAHA LAUDS CITY.

Second Swiftest Climber Congratulates First on Advance.

Congratulating Los Angeles on its remarkable census showing, a telegram was received yesterday from the Omaha Chamber of Commerce drawing attention to the remarkable growth of both cities in the past ten years. The wire, which was received by the local chamber, points out the following facts:

Comparing the first fifty cities given in the 1910 and 1920 censuses, Los Angeles gains seven places, jumping from seventeenth place in 1910 to tenth place in 1920. The next big gain is made by Omaha, which advanced six places. No other large cities made such good showings.

DANCE BANNED AGAIN.

Police Commissioner Still Frowns on "Outlaw" Switchmen's Plan.

Police Commissioner Wilson who registered his opposition months ago to any dance permit being granted for the local "outlaw" railroad switchmen, yesterday again put his veto on a similar application by the strikers to hold a benefit at Blanchard Hall on the evening of July 24. Secretary McKeag of the commission was instructed to secure complete information as to the purpose for which the dance is to be held.

FIND MAN MONEY MAD.

Jurors Decide He has Queer Ideas About Possible Profits.

After deliberating ten minutes a jury in Judge Myers's court yesterday declared Percy S. Berry of Long Beach to be insane. Berry was declared insane by the Lunacy Commission, but he demanded a jury trial. Berry asserted that he was thought insane by persons who failed to realize the money to be made at Long Beach. Witnesses told of intrusting money to Berry in business ventures at Long Beach.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE
As An Investment

An interesting article on this subject, written by a prominent local banker, appears in our brochure, "MONEY AND SECURITIES OF OTHER NATIONS." When it is regarded that he looks upon this purchase of foreign exchange from the ultra-conservative standpoint of the banker, it will be realized that his view of foreign exchange as an investment is decidedly optimistic. Copies of the booklet will be sent free, upon request.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

High Interest Rate Holding Up Improvements; Dividends.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Municipalities which have always been able to raise all the funds needed for public improvements at from 4 to 5 per cent are fairly bewildered at the present conditions which make the marketing of gilt edged securities at the old rate, or anything like them, a practical impossibility. They go right ahead voting bonds at what is considered by the conservatives a liberal increase to allow for the trend of the times, and when there is no mad rush on the part of investment bankers to snap up the issues at heavy premiums the authorities fall into a semi daze and either stack the pretty certificates away in the civic safe until a more propitious season or endeavor to have the public ratify the going rate.

Now it is one thing to induce taxpayers to vote bonds for improvements, but it is quite another to talk them into taking two bites of that particular cherry, and several issues have been laid on the shelf. California is experiencing a taste of the trouble in her highway bonds which cannot be disposed of at the rate fixed. The sooner municipalities realize that the old order has changed and establish an interest rate which will move their securities the sooner they will get results. Failing in this recognition they might as well save the money, which special elections cost and the expenditure necessary to print and advertise the bonds.

A peculiar condition has arisen in Phoenix, Ariz., which is attracting the attention of bond men in Los Angeles. Maricopa county, of which Phoenix is the county seat, voted $4,000,000 road bonds, a rather sizeable undertaking when it is considered that outside of the Salt River Valley, Maricopa county consists mostly of wide spaces. These bonds were sold to a Chicago underwriter and although it soon became apparent that the $4,000,000 would only build about half the mileage the people though they would get for their money the contracts were awarded and preparations made to begin the work.

About that time a mysterious suit was commenced in Chicago attacking the validity of the issue. This action was instigated by a Phoenix resident, represented by a Phoenix attorney, but it was obvious that other interests were involved. The unsuccessful bidders denied complicity, and investigation seems to indicate an attack of cold feet on the part of taxpayers when interest rates are contemplated. On the top of this another proposition is launched to vote $4,500,000 in addition to the first $4,000,000 to complete the original plans. The whole proposition has been partially paralyzed, and it looks as though the much needed good roads would be seriously delayed, while further actions for damages and fulfillment are not improbable.

Phoenix also voted $1,500,000 for a water intake system, but there were not sufficient bidders for the issue and the city is proceeding while the work on force account. While agitation for a $1,000,000 combined municipal and county building has been dropped.

In spite of the difficulties of the situation, however, Arizona is very much alive and appears with great frequency in the bond lists. Among the issues soon to be available are $50,000 city of Yuma bonds to complete a City Hall, the cost of which was underestimated and $45,000 for street improvements in Tempe. Winslow is contemplating the purchase of a gas plant on the threat of the present owners to remove from the field, the Corporation Commission having fixed it so the company may earn a munificent profit of $4.19 per month.

Flagstaff is to have a steam heating plant with pressure mains through the principal streets. Miami is installing a complete Gamewell fire-alarm system, and Snowflake, away up in the corner of the State, will soon be in the electric-light belt, the necessary plant and equipment being installed by the Apache Railway Company.

Gasoline Situation.

The gasoline scare seems to have collapsed. Efforts yesterday to arouse any enthusiasm over what producers and dealers called, a few weeks ago, "an impending shortage," were of no avail, and although reports indicate increased consumption there is a feeling, at least among Los Angeles oil men, that there will be enough to go around, and some stations display the sign "plenty of gas." The price increase which was forecasted for July 1 gives no sign of materialization. Mexican imports are moving regularly and in good volume.

Doheny Expects Higher Prices.

E. L. Doheny, is quoted as saying that oil is not high compared with other commodities and he believes that we will see materially higher prices for this product before the problem is solved. Statistics justify better prices right now, he says, and we must conserve our supply.

The Doheny companies this year have purchased $2,000 acres of oil-bearing land in California for future development," Mr. Doheny says, "which is evidence of the campaign of oil producing companies to obtain more production. The government should make it worth while for Americans to pioneer for more oil production, both in this country and in foreign fields, especially Mexico and Central and South America. In this connection the present price of oil is not sufficient to encourage production in small fields. This production, in the aggregate, would be a considerable item. Some American genius must supply us with mechanism that will permit the use of cruder grades of oil in motor vehicles, thus reducing the demand for high grade gasoline. There are no refineries in England, Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Spain. There is a small refinery in France, one in Italy, a number of modern refineries in Germany, one in Galicia and several in Rumania and Russia."

Street Railway Revenues.

The American Electric Railway Association has recently compiled figures regarding operations of electric railways covering a period of years. These figures include reports from 111 electric railway companies for the years 1917 and 1919, inclusive, and show that gross operating revenues of the companies in 1918 increased 4.82 per cent over 1917, and in 1919 increased 20.04 per cent over 1918, and 25.83 per cent over 1917. In the same time, the operating expenses of the companies in 1918 increased 16.39 per cent over 1917, and in 1919 increased 21.81 per cent over 1918, and 41.78 per cent over 1917. Net operating revenues of the 111 companies in 1918 decreased 18.51 per cent over 1917, and in 1919 increased 14.95 per cent over 1918, with a decrease of 6.33 per cent over 1917. The ratio of net income to operating revenues in 1917, was 7.62 per cent; in 1918, was 5.3 per cent, and in 1919, was 3.3 per cent.

Security Announces Bonus.

In recognition of the $3,000,000 additional deposits since the merger of the Security Trust and Savings and the Security National banks became effective a few weeks ago President J. F. Sartori yesterday announced that a 6 per cent bonus would be paid July 3 on earnings of employees for the first half of the year. This means a distribution of about $25,000 to 350 workers.

Silver Anniversary Dividend.

The twenty-fifth annual dividend to be paid by the Mortgage Guarantee Company was announced yesterday by President Morgan Adams. The dividend is 6 per cent on $2,500,000 capitalization, one of the largest of the city's financial institutions. The latest statement shows surplus and undivided profits of about $600,000 and assets well on towards $4,000,000. The company has had a profitable and progressive year in spite of the tendency on the part of some investors towards high yields, and now that the pendulum

Raw Sugar Sharply Declines; Retail Prices Will be Affected Later.

The steady decline of the price of raw sugar will shortly be reflected in the price of the refined product to the wholesaler and the retailer, according to predictions made yesterday by local representatives of the sugar refineries. Raw sugar has dropped $1.25 to $1.50 per hundred pounds, a condition due to the heavy arrivals of foreign sugar, attracted to the United States by the high prices prevailing in the markets of this country.

At the present time sugar is retailing at 24 to 25 cents per pound in the majority of the markets of the city. Retailers state, however, that even though the refined sugar declines in the near future, retail prices will not be affected for a period of a week or ten days, owing to the fact that they have quantities of sugar on hand for which they have paid the higher price, and that in order to prevent a loss, this more expensive stock must be moved before prices can be reduced.

COTTON DECLINES 43 POINTS IN NEW YORK.

LACK OF SUPPORT, LIGHT PRESSURE WEAKENS NEW CROP POSITIONS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—The cotton market opened steady with July 23 points higher and other months unchanged to an advance of 5 points. Later the whole list turned easier, and by the end of the first twenty minutes new-crop options had lost their gain.

The covering was much less active than yesterday and after early buying orders had been satisfied the market turned easier. July sold off to 27.25 cents, or 32 points net lower, while new-crop positions were relatively weak, selling 68 to 75 points below last night's closing figure, with October touching 22.85 cents around midday.

Complaints of low temperatures led to rallies of 20 to 40 points after the break to 22.80 cents for October, with that delivery ruling around 23.11 cents during the middle of the afternoon, or about 43 points net lower.

CORN CLOSES EASY ON CHICAGO MARKET.

GENERAD SELLING WEAKENS UNDERTONE: OATS FINISH STEADY AT CLOSE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, June 29.—Rains in Iowa and Nebraska and further showers in Illinois alleviated fears of crop damage to corn and oats, and there was rather general selling by commission houses and local traders. The markets were under pressure from the start, and the close was 1½@1¾ cents lower on corn and 1¼@1½ cents on oats, the finish being on a fair rally, due to short covering. Rye was off 1@1¼ cent and barley unchanged.

The July-September spread narrowed to around 4½ cents at one time, close) at 4½ cents, spread.

Cash corn failed to follow the full decline in the A. P. the leading industry paying a flat price for No. 2 mixed throughout the day. At one time No. 2 mixed sold at 3½ cents over the July, against 2 cents over earlier in the day, and again at the close.

There was rather persistent commission-house selling of oats. At no time were prices as high as the previous day's close, but the finish was at an intermediate figure. The range:

Corn—	Open.	High.	Low	Close.
July	1.77¼	1.77¼	1.74¾	1.75½

Minor Considerations in Securities

Take any dozen good, high-grade investment securities, either stocks or bonds, and you will find that they all satisfy the big essential features of safety, yield and ready marketability—for that's what makes them high grade. If these were the only considerations, the selection of the security for your funds would be a very simple matter.

But there are many minor considerations that make this or that security just the one to meet your every investment requirement. They are: date of maturity, interest or dividend rate, privilege of conversion, sinking fund requirements, etc. The thing to do before selecting the security in which you will reinvest your July funds is to send for our "Investment Recommendations for July, 1920"—a handy folder comprising full information concerning a dozen or more high-grade investments. This folder will readily assist you in selecting just the security that meets your individual needs.

Don't hesitate to send for this folder today. Or better still—call in person at our office and let us go carefully into the matter of the reinvestment of your earnings and surplus funds.

Bond Market

BY C. F. SEIDEL,
Manager, Bond Department, Los Angeles Trust & Savings Bank.

Attention given to the smallest as well as the largest details of their business in the early days by Henry Miller and Charles W. Lux, both of whom are now dead, resulted in one of the largest and most prosperous live stock and agricultural organizations in the world today, namely Miller & Lux, Inc. This organization now possesses 1,000,000 acres of land in California, Oregon, Utah, Nevada and Idaho, and owns 137,000 cattle, 168,000 sheep, 20,000 hogs and 9500 horses.

* * * * * * *

Examples of Mr Miller's style of doing business are given in an article by French Strother in World's Work of 1908. One incident recited was the dispatching of an agent to Nevada to buy all the sheep for sale in the State. The number was 15,000 at a price of $5.00 per head. While this deal in modern times would not seem very large, involving a sum of $75,000, it was at that time regarded as a stroke of a master. It was in line with Mr. Miller's business methods. When he personally had charge of buying, he would look over the herds of cattle or sheep, without counting or bargaining, and name the price. It would either be accepted or the offer would be called off. His many ranches were models of neatness and thriftiness. Each one, during his constant traveling by train or fast team, would in turn receive his personal inspection to the smallest detail.

* * * * * * *

On a visit to one ranch, Miller noticed a hen with a fine brood of chicks. He called a companion's attention to them, and was as pleased with them as if they were golden eggs. A month later he visited the ranch again. He asked the stableman what had become of the chicks.

"Rats ate 'em," was the response.

"Rats ate 'em! Rats, eh? Rats, sign of decay! Where's that damned man of mine?"

The "tramp" was the foreman. He was called and got a tongue-lashing that was the premonition of his discharge a few months later for incompetency.

* * * * * * *

Another interesting Miller incident cited by Strother was as follows: Once he was robbed in Pacheco Pass by a Mexican, who took $200 from him. Miller knew the man and reminded him that he was a long way from home and asked the highwayman to lend him enough for expenses. The Mexican handed back a $20 gold piece and disappeared. Several years later Mr. Miller saw him on the street in Hanford and offered him $20.

"I borrowed this from you once," he said.

"I never saw you before," said the Mexican.

"Oh, yes you did. I borrowed $20 from you in Pacheco Pass, three years ago."

And he made him take it.

* * * * * * *

The business of Miller & Lux at the time Strother's article was written was highly organized and Mr. Miller was credited with placing implicit trust in his chief lieutenants. One instance was given where an agent bought 200,000 head of sheep in one year on his own responsibility. This same agent was told by Mr. Miller during an accidental meeting in Bakersfield to buy any good land that might be for sale during his traveling. Although accustomed to Mr. Miller, this lieutenant was somewhat dumfounded when told he could spend $300,000 for this purpose.

* * * * * * *

Miller & Lux, Inc., have issued $12,000,000 First Mortgage 7 per cent Sinking Fund Gold Bonds. A portion of these bonds are now available at the Bond Department of The Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank at 100 and interest. Their yield is 7 per cent. These bonds are secured by the present vast real and personal property of Miller & Lux, Inc. As an investment opportunity they are to be recommended. NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, June 29.—Business on the stock exchange today was without parallel in point of dullness and general unimportance in almost eighteen months. Total transactions of about 250,000 shares were the smallest of any full session since December, 1918.

In all other respects, the market was merely a repetition of recent days. Standard shares were alternately irregular to firm, a steady tone prevailing at the close on short covering in rails, steels and oils.

Many of the usual favorites in the several speculative groups were altogether ignored.

Easement was shown by the call money market, but this was wholly attributable to light demand. Loans were made at 9 per cent, until the final hour, when moderate sums were available at 1 to 1 1-2 per cent reduction.

Statements of earnings for May embraced some of the more important railroad systems. Southern Pacific showed a large gain in net, while Atchison and Missouri Pacific reported heavy losses.

Trading in bonds was relatively large. Total sales, par value, $13,250,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

FINANCIAL AND TRADE REVIEW.

is swinging back again the outlook is said by Mr. Adams, who predicts at least another year of good times, to be even better than at any time since the fall of 1918.

Owl Drug Company.

The Owl Drug Company is today mailing semiannual dividend checks to holders of its 8 per cent preferred stock. The company reports a prosperous business for the first six months of the year in all sections of the country where Owl Drug stores are operated. Early in the year, the company entered Berkeley, Cal., through the purchase of an established business near the university grounds. A new store has recently been opened in Los Angeles on the corner of Sixth and Main, and work is now under way on another one at Sixth and Broadway. The opening of a store on the corner of Clark and Madison streets, Chicago, will soon be announced. Preliminary moves have been made in other western cities where typical Owl stores are soon to be installed. Reports from the new manufacturing laboratory in San Francisco, show this branch of the business is making rapid strides.

Wide Disbursement.

The H. W. DuBiske Company, dealers in investment securities, announce through Resident Manager C. M. Knox the impending distribution between July 1 and 5 of 50,000 dividend checks by client companies. In average weekly sales the two California offices, Los Angeles and San Francisco are leading the balance of the country, even putting in the shade of the efforts of the big eastern and middle western cities. The DuBiske Company has recently adopted the novel expedient of placing all of their salesmen under bond, and a steadily growing patronage resulted in augmented staff and several office enlargements during the first half of the year.

Los Angeles Stocks.

The movement in Oatman mines, which has persisted for several days, was again in evidence and several thousand shares of Telluride, Tom Reed, Gold Ore and United Eastern passed over the block during the session. The tendency was still downward, but this at no time reached the proportions of a rout, and for the most part the declines were comparatively insignificant. Industrials continued conspicuous by their absence from the sales lists, the few that were traded in maintaining approximately the prices established on Monday. This is also true of oils and government bonds and the net results of the day's grind lack definitive value. The traders are now talking in future tense having abandoned expectation of much change in the apathetic condition until after the convention and the July disbursements. The public continues to wait, but is apparently ready to enter the arena upon slight provocation.

Municipal Bond Market.

On July 6 the Arcadia city school district will offer to the highest and best bidder $25,000 of 6 per cent bonds; the Hollister school district in San Benito county, $110,000 of 6 per cents; the Fairhaven school district, San Benito county, $10,000 of 6 per cents; Alameda city sewer bonds, $175,000 at 5½ per cent; Richmond, Contra Costa county school bonds to the value of $565,000 at 5½ per cent. On July 7 the Margarita Black Union High School in San Luis Obispo, will sell $200,000 of 6 per cents. On the 19th the Long Beach city schools will attempt to dispose of a $300,000 issue, the Los Angeles High School, $100,000 and the Glendale city schools, $35,000 of 6 per cent bonds.

CABBAGE IS HIGHER ON PRODUCE MARKET.

POTATOES AND CANTALOUPES DROP IN JOBBING MARKET; FIRM TO RETAILERS.

Under a brisk demand, and with arrivals is moderate supply the tone of the produce market was firm, and for most items practically unchanged yesterday. Country offerings were ample, with the exception of celery, corresponding with those of the preceding day, and shipments from outside points, although liberal, were not in strong hands. An outstanding feature of the day was the sharp advance made by cabbage, which moved up 50 cents per crate, fancy stock bringing as high as $2.50 per crate. Good stock is very scarce, and the demand was quite active at the higher level. Tomatoes advanced 25 cents per packed box for all grades, and green beans, wax and lima, were 25 to 50 cents per crate higher, according to quality and condition of the offering. Potatoes, cantaloupes remained practically unchanged, but asparagus prices ruled from 25 cents per crate lower. The same situation prevailed for onions, the same slump in prices to 60 cents per sack for a jobbing lot, while prices to retailers are anticipated will be lower before the week is ended. Lower prices ruled for all other items.

Under a light market, a wide range of prices was in evidence, which were 25 to 50 cents per box higher, with an advance of 50 cents per box on Wednesday. This condition was due to the high quality of the offerings, some of which were very fancy. Other items in the shipping market, cabbage was strong at $40 to $50 per ton. Watermelons declined 5 cents per hundred pounds, account of heavy shipments, the commodity was $2.50 to $3 per hundred. Other lines were mostly unchanged to the close of the day, holding firm at the level of the preceding day.

June 24, 1920.

The Board of Directors has this day declared a dividend of forty (40) cents per share (4%) on the capital stock of this Company, payable on or after August 15, 1920, to stockholders of record at the close of business July 17, 1920.

RICHFIELD GUSHER MAY BE IN LEASH.

Interest of oil men was keenly directed last night toward the Richfield Consolidated Oil Company's well No. 1, which was giving preliminary indications of heavy production.

A force of men is at work digging a sump hole and the new well will probably be released within the next forty-eight hours, when its production can be estimated. Yesterday at 5 p.m. the company withdrew all of its stock from the market.

The Richfield Consolidated Company's well No. 1 is located about a quarter of a mile east of the town of Richfield, near Fullerton, and about 2000 feet southeast of the big Midway and Yarnell gushers which were recently brought in with estimated productions of 3000 barrels per day.

Oil men consider the Richfield district one of the most dangerous and in the last few months three wells were brought in, have set fire to the derricks and thrown oil several hundred feet into the air. A representative from the office of the State oil and gas supervisor, according to a statement made by Chief Deputy Irving V. Augur, reported the well full of oil under heavy gas pressure. Upon opening the cap about a half inch the oil is said to have shot over the derrick.

The production in this field has already approximated 900,000 barrels per month, and the new Richfield Consolidated well is expected to prove a new sand.

The board of directors of the Richfield Consolidated Oil Company is headed by Robert M. Shearer, president; W. R. Dickinson, E. J. Marka, J. M. Harlan and F. W. Blanchard.

TREND FOR BARLEY AGAIN DOWNWARD.

Irregular fluctuations marked the trading on the local grain exchange yesterday, but the general trend of the market was downward, and at the close most deliveries of barley were weak and lower. Nearby shipments made a decline ranging from 25 to 75 cents per ton, with a sale of "straw date" shipment barley at $2.87½. No prices for June barley were recorded, only closing unchanged. Although the only sale of corn for the day was for a carload of 100 tons of July shipment at $2.87½, at 25 cents per ton over the preceding session, and September shipments were down 50 cents per ton, with no sales for either month. No sales were transacted in oats, but the nearby deliveries were quoted at $2.92½, at a decline of 25 cents per ton, while September shipments were down 50 cents per ton, with no sales for either month. No sales were transacted in oats, but the nearby deliveries were quoted at $2.92½, at a decline of 25 cents per ton, while September shipments were down 50 cents per ton, with no sales for either month.

Masonic Homes Given Slice of Large Estate.

Mrs. Laura S. Hughes, Los Angeles pioneer, who died in Oakland June 22, leaving an estate of $200,000, did not carry family differences beyond the grave, according to a will filed for probate yesterday. Mrs. Jennie B. Doane, a daughter, who was the loser in an incompetency action filed against her mother in 1915, is left $20,000.

Other bequests include: Evalyn McAllister, a sister, $5000 and the income from two-fifths of the residue; Bonnie Ashby, a niece, $5000 and the income from two-fifths of the residue, and Harry McAllister, a nephew, $2000 and the income from one-fifth of the residue.

The Masonic homes of California will receive $5000; Mrs. C. A. Spence of Pomona, the income from $5000; George A. Mason, a brother, $5000; Allie Thompson, a niece, $5000; George Ashby, a nephew, $5000; R. W. Thompson, a nephew by marriage, $5000, and the six children of the late John E. GIANT CELEBRATION PLANNED BY LEGION.

TEN THOUSAND SERVICE MEN EXPECTED IN CHOW LINE AT BARBECUE MONDAY.

An Independence Day celebration such as Southern California has never before witnessed is promised by the Joint Celebration Committee of Los Angeles, and Victory Posts, American Legion, which is arranging for a big joyfest next Monday at the Santa Anita rancho. A bull fight (Mexican frijole style,) a baseball game, and swimming and track events are only a few of the good things that the committee has in store.

Joe Romero, famous barbecue chef, says his 3000 pounds of barbecued beef with beans is going to be extra "tres bien." With about 10,000 ex-service men on the ground, it is not expected that Mr. Romero will have to blow chow call twice.

Although there has been some opposition from the authorities, it is expected that the bull fight will go off without a hitch. Daredevil diving stunts from an airplane, by I. G. de Villiers and Ralph Lux, are to be a sensation of the day. Mr. De Villiers was with the Canadian troops and Mr. Lux is a famous steeplejack. Both are members of Los Angeles Post of the American Legion.

The big tank at Santa Anita is ready for the crowd, and Max Sennett promises to have some of his bathing beauties present. Everybody is expected to bring his or her own bathing suit.

CINEMA MEN WIN.

One Step Nearer Legal Right to Put Studio in New Section.

The Cosmosart Pictures Corporation yesterday won the preliminary round of its long fight to secure the right to build a cinema studio on the tract bounded by First, Temple, Virgil and Juanita streets, the Council instructing the City Attorney to prepare the necessary ordinance permitting the building of the plant. The Council set next Friday morning as the time to hear protests against the passage of the ordinance. The company filed a map showing that more than 90 per cent of the owners of adjoining property were in favor of the building of the studio, and the corporation also agreed to deed to the city a right of way across the lot to permit the opening of First street.

KINNEY'S LOSER IN VENICE SUIT.

His "Blanket" License Hit by Superior Court.

Judge Rules Individuals to Pay Amusement Tax.

Injunction to Restrain City Collector is Denied.

Individual concessionaires on the Venice amusement pier will have to pay a license tax to the beach city, according to a ruling yesterday by Judge Shenk, who denied an application for an injunction restraining the city from collecting the tax. The suit was brought by the Abbot Kinney Company, Frank Prior, Fred Church and about 100 concessionaires against James T. Peasgood, Jr., City Tax Collector, and other Venice officials.

The court denied an application for a temporary injunction and held that Ordinance No. 715 of Venice is in full force and effect, and that the amended ordinance, which was upheld by referendum, provides that each concessionaire shall pay the city individually for the privilege of doing business. Under the old ordinance the license tax was paid by the Abbot Kinney Company, which owns the pier, under what was called a "blanket" license.

R. C. Gortner represented the petitioners and Charles W. Lyon and Byron Hanna the city of Venice.

WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY MYRA NYE.

Daughters of American Revolution.

Four hundred Daughters of the American Revolution from the chapters of Southern California gathered in the rose ballroom at the Alexandria yesterday afternoon to honor Mrs. Cassius C. Cottle, newly-elected Vice-President General of the national organization, and Mrs. Lyman Stookey, State Vice-Regent, who is chief executive of the Southern organization.

The enthusiasm of the national conference recently held in Washington was shared by the California women when they heard Mrs. Cottle's comprehensive report of this the largest convention in the history of the organization, which is rapidly coming to the fore as a leader among women, not only in patriotic lines, but along all the lines of service expressed by federations of women.

Mrs. Cottle was elected by the largest majority ever given a candidate, receiving over 1000 votes from an official delegation numbering 1200. She herself modestly credited her success to the brilliancy of her nominating speech, made by Mrs. Amos Fries, now of Washington, but well known in Los Angeles in club and D.A.R. circles. Her husband, now a brigadier-general, was U. S. district engineer here in harbor building days.

"The press of Washington," said Mrs. Cottle, "was unanimous in saying that the best resolutions passed by the Continental Congress were the ones from California—an indorsement of compulsory military training and the bill of Congressman Osborne to build in Washington a fireproof building to house the priceless treasures of historical and colonial fame.

In her address Mrs. Stookey pleaded for the harmonious co-operation of all chapters throughout the State to keep the high level attained during the regency of Mrs. Cottle.

Mrs. Maynard Force Thayer, former State Regent, presided and introduced the speakers. Preceding them, "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by Miss Mary Gowan, accompanied by Gertrude Ross at the piano. Miss Gowan's other numbers on the program were composed by Mrs. Ross—"The Open Road," a California song, and "Deep River," the latter peculiarly suited to Miss Gowan's majestic style of singing.

Ices and cakes were served by members of the hostess chapters of Los Angeles from the buffet during the informal hour of conversation. Serving as Mrs. M. Mayburry's assistants were Mrs. George McCoy, Mrs. J. V. Peacock, Mrs. H. J. Martin, Mrs. E. J. Wilson, Miss Grace Pease, Mrs. Hector Alliot, Mrs. J. C. Barlow, Mrs. E. J. Eastman, Mrs. Ella Van Court, Mrs. J. H. Braley, Mrs. S. H. Enysart, Mrs. E. C. Wagner, Mrs. W. H. Council and Miss Isabelle Smith.

The members in the receiving line with Mrs. Cottle, Mrs. Stookey and Mrs. Thayer, were Mrs. Edwin Barry, Mrs. E. G. Allen, Mrs. Charles McKevett, Mrs. W. Wright, Mrs. George Patterson, Mrs. Charles Booth and Miss Marie Stowell.

At the close of the program Mrs. Maybury was given a huge basket of centaureas and lavender canterbury bells in recognition of her efficiency as State reciprocity chairman. Her successor, Mrs. George McCoy, was presented to the assemblage. The presentation was made by Mrs. Earl J. Fellows, Regent of the Cabrillo Chapter of Los Angeles.

MOOSE PLAN TO BUILD.

Several Downtown Locations Being Considered by Lodge.

Plans for the erection of a spacious Moose Temple in the downtown district of Los Angeles are being drawn, Dictator S. J. Swarm of Golden State Lodge, No. 29, announced last night. L. L. Jacobs, chairman of the building committee, declared that he has several locations under consideration which will be voted upon by the members of the lodge.

As a preliminary skirmish in a campaign for members, a class of ninety candidates will be initiated into the Royal Order of Moose tonight at the Golden State Lodge. The initiation will be followed by serving cider and doughnuts.

DEBT'S A CONUNDRUM.

Does Note Call for Thirteen or Thirteen Hundred Dollars?

Whether G. Cavaglieri will have to pay $13 or $1300 on a promisory note he gave to J. C. Linneman July 14, 1916, will be decided by Judge Hewitt within fifteen days, it was announced yesterday by the court, after he had heard argument in a suit brought by Mr. Linneman to recover on the note.

When Mr. Linneman attempted to collect on the note, he discovered the figures read "$1300," but the written part said "$13." E. Burton Ceruti, defense counsel, maintains that the written part rules, and therefore his client should only pay $13. Ellis J. Gardner and Norman A. Ballie, representing the plaintiff, assert that the defendant "knows he owes the money, and should pay it."

The court took the case under advisement and briefs will be filed by opposing counsel.

Interest payable without deduction for Federal Income Taxes now or hereafter deductable at the source, not in excess of 2 per cent.

BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE

Information regarding this issue and the business of the company as set forth in a letter from Mr. C. W. Nibley, general manager of the company, is summarized as follows:

The Utah-Idaho Sugar Company is one of the largest producers of beet sugar in the United States, its present production representing about 10 per cent of the total beet sugar production of the country. The business has been in successful operation since 1891.

SECURITY

These bonds will be secured by closed first mortgage on all of the land, buildings, machinery and equipment of the company (except farm lands exempted to facilitate transfer or lease to farmers, if desired,) subject only to a purchase money obligation of $600,000 on the factory at Delta, Utah. The mortgage will cover fifteen sugar factories located in Utah, Idaho and Washington, all engaged in manufacturing and refining granulated beet sugar. These properties have been appraised as of June, 1920, at $20,642,000, by the Dyer Co., Engineers. As additional security the company covenants that during the life of these bonds it will maintain current assets as defined in the mortgage equal to at least 100 per cent of all liabilities, including the principal amount of this issue at the time outstanding.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The purpose of this issue is to refund indebtedness of approximately $5,000,000 created by the purchase of plants at Brigham City and Delta, Utah, and Whitehall, Montana (the latter now being moved to Honeyville, Utah,) and to provide the additional working capital required by the growth of the company's business.

ASSETS

The company's financial statement of February 28, 1920, as certified by Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants, but adjusted to include this issue with proceeds applied to reduction of indebtedness then current, shows net working capital of $8,781,028, and total net assets of $32,776,424 applicable to this issue of $8,000,000 first mortgage bonds. Net profits as audited by the same Certified Public Accountants, after liberal charges for maintenance and depreciation and after all Federal taxes for the four years ended February 28, 1920, averaged $3,123,943 per annum. The maximum interest requirement of this issue is $560,000 per annum.

ROOME DIVORCE CASE REVIVED.

Wife of Former P. E. Official Makes Third Trial.

"Oo Tweet Ting" Letters in New Exhibit List.

Judge Will be Called to Tell of Misconduct Case.

After having twice failed to secure a divorce, once on an exhibit of "honey bunch" letters and again on charges of cruelty and abuse, Mrs. Lillian L. Roome is again in court asking for her freedom.

This time she asks for a divorce from Adolph E. Roome on the charge that he was arrested for supposed misconduct and tried before Police Judge Richardson, who will be called as a witness. Letters beginning "Oo tweet ting," said to have been written by a co-respondent, are also features of the case, which was up for hearing yesterday in Judge Jackson's court and was continued until Friday for additional evidence.

The Roomes were married at Morgan City, La., Sept. 12, 1888. They have three grown children. Mr. Roome was formerly superintendent of signals for the Pacific Electric Company here.

The first divorce suit of Mrs. Roome, which was bitterly contested by her husband, who filed a cross-complaint, was heard here in the summer of 1916. At that time Mr. Roome frankly admitted a past infatuation for a Mrs. Irene Frost of San Jose, but he pleaded the statute of limitations, saying that his relationship with the San Jose woman came to an end in the summer of 1911. Mrs. Roome lost her suit, and her husband's cross-complaint was also denied.

Features of the first suit were letters from Mr. Roome to Mrs. Frost and letters which he admitted had been sent to him by the San Jose woman. One of the letters he had signed concluded, "Oceans on oceans of big love, and tons and tons of kisses, affectionate, devoted and idolizing old hubby, Adolfe." A postcript dared the lovely Mrs. Frost to repeat every morning what she did "this a.m. at 7:30."

In court Mr. Roome admitted having written the letters, and added, "But I see nothing immoral about that; Chopin did equally foolish things in his love affair with George Sand."

This suit in 1916 was followed by a break in the friendship between Mr. Roome and Abraham Bojarsky. Mr. Roome swore out a criminal complaint against Mr. Bojarsky for breach of peace. Mr. Bojarsky countered by suing Mr. Roome for $10,000 actual and $25,000 punitive damages.

In Mrs. Roome's second divorce suit heard in September, 1919, the Frost letters were again offered in evidence and charges of cruelty were made, but the divorce was not granted. At that time Mr. Roome and his daughter, Lolt, were not on speaking terms when they met in the courtroom. Mrs. Roome's application for alimony included a plea for an allowance for the support of this daughter, 24 years of age, and set forth that she was a society girl and must have an income. The daughter got no allowance, but Mrs. Roome was given $150 a month temporary alimony, and both father and daughter were ordered to leave the Roome home at 1816 Sixth avenue.

STEAL LOADED TRUCK.

Auto Thieves Get Away With Load of Clothes and Carrier.

Automobile thieves yesterday escaped with a light delivery truck loaded with more than $1000 worth of men's clothing, according to a report filed with the police by J. H. Bawden, a tailor of Whittier. According to Bawden, he left the truck standing in front of 741 East Ninth street to make some collections. When he returned he discovered it had been stolen. He offered a reward of $100.

SLIPPING WIG IS LIFE SAVER.

Man Escapes by More Than a Hair When Street Car Threatens.

A wig which allowed Charles W. Bates of 231 South Bunker Hill avenue to skid away from a street-car wheel at Third and Hill streets yesterday probably saved his life, according to police officers and witnesses of the accident. Although he escaped with his life, Bates suffered painful lacerations about the head.

According to the witnesses, Bates stumbled and fell beneath the wheels of a street car. The front wheels struck him on the top of the head, but the slipping wig allowed him to jerk his head to safety. The flange of the wheel just scraped his scalp.

QUEER TRIANGLE JANGLED AGAIN.

Mahana-Green Divorce Snarl Given New Legal Twist.

Former Wife and Husband in Double Property Fight.

Twin Suits Are Echo of Two Separations, Sad Death.

With the hearing yesterday in Judge Wellborn's court of the suit of Thomas H. Green against Helen I. Mahana, his former wife, and of her suit against him, another chapter was added to the legal contests that have featured the divorce triangle and love tragedies that some time ago entered the homes of Mr. Green and of George T. Mahana, an insurance man. Mrs. Mahana is endeavoring to obtain from her former husband the possession of books, photographs, clothes and furniture valued at $1447. On the other hand, Mr. Green is asking for possession of certain furniture.

One of the points of the trial upon which stress was laid is the possession of a couch sought by Mrs. Mahana. She testified that it was given to her by Mr. Mahana while she was the wife of Mr. Green. On the other hand, Mr. Green asserts that his former wife told him she bought the couch with money given her by him for household expenses. The case was taken under submission by the court.

Mr. Mahana broke up Mr. Green's home, the latter testified, and induced Mrs. Green, the present Mrs. Mahana, to go to Nevada. There Mrs. Green and Mr. Mahana obtained divorces and were married. Mr. Green sued Mr. Mahana for $50,000 damages for alienation of Mrs. Green's affections. Mrs. Mahana, the first wife of the insurance man, died soon afterward, and her relatives laid her demise to grief over the affair.

MEMORIAL GROVE SITE IN QUESTION.

DIFFICULT OF ACCESS AND PARK BOARD WILL CONSIDER ITS ABANDONMENT.

The question of abandoning the memorial grove site in Elysian Park will be discussed at the next meeting of the Park Commission, scheduled for next Wednesday. The Elysian Park site on a hilltop was selected by Mrs. Leafie Sloan-Orcutt president of the commission for a memorial grove a year ago, but little or nothing has been done to improve it and there has been no appropriation by the City Council for its improvement.

Objection is made to the site that it has only one entrance and that through a lot on North Broadway, purchased not long ago by the city. Even at that point, entrance is steep and difficult, requiring eighty steps to be built. To clear the lot and build the steps would be expensive and impracticable, say officials of the Park Commission.

Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt, when asked yesterday whether or not the site was to be abandoned, and, if so, whether an effort will be made to secure a new site, declined to discuss the matter.

ATE ALONE AND DIDN'T SPEAK.

Divorce Testimony Reveals House of Silence and Armed Neutrality.

The home life of Mrs. Mabel A. Kidd and Samuel C. Kidd was that of armed neutrality, according to testimony yesterday in Judge Crail's court during the preliminary hearing of Mrs. Kidd's suit for divorce. The wife, according to the testimony, arose first, prepared her husband's breakfast. Then she went back to bed and her husband, who slept in another room, arose, ate his breakfast and left. They communicated by means of notes, said the wife.

The court instructed the husband to pay $80 a month temporary alimony, but allowed him to continue to live in the same house and take his meals there.

HOLD SERVICES TODAY.

Prominent Club Woman, Daughter of Pioneer, will be Buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet M. Mitchell, daughter of the late A. H. Hart, prominent pioneer of Southern California, will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parlors of the J. D. Faris Company.

Mrs. Mitchell died Saturday of heart disease. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Mary E. Sylvester and Mrs. Florence N. Barnett of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Ethel P. Johnston of Boston. She was a prominent member of the Ebell and Badger clubs and of the Drama League.

PRICES TO ADVANCE

Present prices to hold good only a few days more

We have just received a telegram from our buying representative in the Northwest that lumber has made a decided advance in price and that a series of increases will occur between now and Fall. Our Estimators are now checking over present price schedules, preparatory to placing into effect new and higher prices. Anyone contemplating the purchase of a Pacific Ready-Cut House or lumber of any kind should protect themselves by ordering immediately.

Cut Building Costs 10% to 25% and More

Use Ready-Cut material—it saves you many days carpenter labor and permits better, staunchet, more accurate construction. It eliminates trial fitting, guess work and risk. The Ready-Cut price we quote you on any style or size home includes everything—ready-cut material, roofing, sash, glass, finest interior finish, doors, hardware, nails, paint, etc. You secure everything from one source, at a big saving.

Largest House Manufacturers in the West

Our mill capacity is 15 houses per day. This permits our ordering lumber in cargo lots at lower than wholesale, so that our price to you is wholesale. More than 9000 Pacific home owners recommend our ready-cut houses.
